One. Letter to Shareholders

Ladies and Gentlemen, Dear Shareholders:

The year 2016 saw the continuation of the changes and uncertainties in economic and political situations from the previous year both in Taiwan and overseas. The real estate market in Taiwan witnessed a significant shrinkage in trading volumes, as a result of taxation policy changes, public concern over high housing prices, the government's control measures and the general wait-and-see attitude regarding property purchases. The real estate agency industry is still confronted with many challenges. However, we managed to improve our operating performances and market share in 2016, compared with 2015, with our dedication to catchment areas and efforts to nurture talents.

【The industrial environments and business performance】

Taiwan—

Over the recent years, the trading volumes in the domestic property market continued to reach new lows. The year 2016 saw a total of 245,000 properties only transferred throughout Taiwan, down 16% year-over-year, and hitting the record low over the past 26 years. The percentage of households purchasing properties, at 2.87%, was also the lowest point in history. The number of property ownership transfers, excluding those registered for the first time, was only 123,000, down 26% from the previous year.

There were many reasons contributing to this market sluggishness: the implementation of the consolidation of housing and land taxes, the Tainan earthquake in the beginning of 2016 and subsequent discussions over the problems associated with soil liquefaction and the uncertainty with the handover of the administrations post the presidential election. Despite the new administration's efforts to gradually ease off the control on the housing market, the long list of interrelated adverse factors and the gap between quotes and offers were a hindrance to transactions and continued to slow down the market momentum.

In the face of a harsh business environment, all of our colleagues worked together and for the better. We continued to deliver quality services and focus on business districts. We strived to offer considerable services, optimized the search function on our official website and mobile apps, and integrated our agency network and comprehensive real estate services overseas. As a result, our revenue in 2016 was comparable to 2015, and our market share edged up by 2%.

China—

In 2016, the trading volumes and prices in Shanghai, Suzhou and other major cities increased from 2015, as a result of loose monetary policies from the People's Bank of China and the demand from a panicking public worrying about rising property prices, and despite of the Shanghai nine policies, Shanghai six policies and 1128 New Policy in Shanghai and similar measures by other local governments to curb the overheating of the real estate market. With the expansion of our subsidiary in China, our revenue grew 18% year-over-year. Meanwhile, the disposal of the office building in Beijing (as part of our efforts to focus on real estate brokerage business) contributed to a profit of NT$ 300 million.

Overseas Markets—

Japan remains the most popular choice for the Taiwanese people if they want to purchase properties overseas. However, 60% of the potential buyers from Taiwan are investors and they have been keen given the fluctuation of the Japanese yen in the wake of Brexit. Meanwhile, the large developers we have been working with started to market their own properties by cutting back the off-plan and new build projects offered to us. As a result, our subsidiary in Japan suffered a decline of 11% in revenue. That said, with the long-term dedication and quality service in Tokyo and the gradual increase in rental management services, our subsidiary in Japan extended its footprint into Osaka in order to meet with the varied needs of our customers. In addition, we entered the South East Asian market in 2016, initially in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia.

Real Estate Development –

The first project we have developed, “Sinyi Jiating”, located in Jiading District of Shanghai, has been selling well. The first phase has been sold out on an off-plan basis and the completion is expected to be in April 2017. The sale for the second phase began in October 2016 and the completion is scheduled for the second half of 2017. The full integration of the elements unique to Taiwanese communities has made this project a benchmark for local developers and real estate companies.

The operating performance in Year 2016 is as below:

【Analyses on the financial revenues and expenditures and profitability】

【Impact of the external competition, regulatory backdrop and business environment, operating goals and future prospects】

Taiwan —

It is expected that the government in Taiwan will gently relax the control over the property market and the economy will improve in 2017. Meanwhile, the capital overseas is likely to continue its return to Taiwan (through repatriation and remittance as a response to the changes in international political and economic environments and cross-border taxation policies). Whilst we still expect a buyer's market in the near term, the gap between expected prices between buyers and sellers should narrow further. Therefore, we believe the property market in Taiwan in 2017 will gradually climb back up from the record-low trading volume in 2016.

Although the dynamics in the housing market remains poor and there is a concern over lowering birth rates, we continue to develop internal talents and improve our service quality with our business philosophy of "putting people first".

In terms of training and education, we continue our corporate reengineering program by developing talents and recruitment scheme of a 30-day trial period and the 180-day race for new hires turning into permanent staff. We hope to see more job seekers understand and broadcast our business philosophy, and hence become the best real estate brokers equipped with all the relevant skills.

Regarding our efforts to better service quality and offer a diversity of services, we continue to expand our service menu and integrate the enhanced features on the Online Mall for Sinyi Home Service Center into our branches. The improvement of services to existing clients and the creation of online-to-offline experience for customers, we believe, will increase the features and values of our physical channels and effectively boost the satisfaction felt by customers.

China —

In China, we seek to be "the big fish in a small pond" by offering comprehensive and extensive services, stepping up our efforts in key business districts and developing our value-added services. Meanwhile, we establish strategic alliances with other players in the real estate market and widen the customer segments we service, in a response to the Chinese government's tightening control over the property market.

Overseas Markets —

In addition to further integration of our overseas channels for properties of all types, our subsidiary in Japan will broaden the service catchment area in order to meet a growing diversity of needs from our Taiwanese and local customers. Our subsidiary in Malaysia will enhance the menu of services so that our Taiwanese and local customers can enjoy one-stop shopping.

Real Estate Development —

In China, the government has been tightening its grip over the housing market and land transactions with numerous new policies and announcements. This has somewhat hampered the development and trading volumes of the housing and land markets. However, the market demand is expected to stay strong and whether the government's cooling measures can continue to work is a question mark. In contrast, the Taiwanese government is unlikely to suppress the housing market and the overall economy is expected to improve in 2017. Therefore, we think the macro factors are favourable to our property development business.

Both “Sinyi Jiating” in Shanghai and “Sinyi Qian-Shi” in Taipei are starting to deliver completed units in 2017. In addition to the continued marketing for the second phase of “Sinyi Jiating” this year, our development team in China will carry on with the promotion of our brand name Sinyi as the architect of communities. We strive to create a living environment for the happiness and prosperity of local people, and we believe we have the knowhow and competence to deliver this promise. Our development team in Taiwan will start to work on the site we recently acquired in Banqiao District, New Taipei City. We hope to design a premier residential project by integrating it into the neighbouring art and cultural scene. In sum, our development teams in Taiwan and China will continue to source suitable sites, strengthen our pipelines to ensure growth momentum.

The majority of the fixed monthly salaries paid to directors, general manager and vice general managers in 2016 maintained at the same level as in 2015. The year-end bonuses paid to directors, general managers and vice general managers went up in 2016 compared to the previous year because of higher profits and better performance in 2016.

The decrease in the compensations paid to directors, general manager and vice general managers as a percentage of net incomes in 2016 was due to an increase in the net incomes in 2016 for the gain from disposal of the subsidiary's investment property which is not highly related to the performance of the managers.

Below is a summary of our compensation policies, criteria, arrangements and decision-making process over compensations in relation to operating performances and risk factors:

1. Compensations to directors:

- (1) The compensations to directors are comprised of salaries, director remunerations and allowances.
 - i. Salaries: According to our Articles of Incorporation, the monthly salaries paid to independent directors are based on the individual director's involvement in company operations, contribution to our performance and the industry standards among listed companies. The amount is determined by the Board of Directors. The board in 2016 decided that salaries paid to independent directors were in line with the industry standards and shall not be linked to the Company's profits. Non-independent directors do not receive director salaries.
 - ii. Director remunerations: According to our Articles of Incorporation, a percentage of our profits are allocated as director remunerations at the end of the year. The remunerations paid to directors for 2016 were proposed by Remuneration Committee and approved by the board on February 24, 2017. Director remunerations for 2016 were determined to be 0.55% of the Company's profits, or NT$6,027 thousand. This will be presented at the Annual Shareholders' Meeting in 2017. Director remunerations are linked with company profits and operating performances.

- iii. Allowances include the transportation allowance for independent directors to attend board meetings, rental or depreciation, petroleum costs and maintenance expenses for the cars allocated to the non-independent directors. The transportation allowance for independent directors is reimbursed according to board meeting attendances and in line with industry practice. Non-independent directors do not receive transportation allowance. Three non-independent directors have company cars (including for reason of the concurrent manager). The Company afforded the car rental (or depreciation), and the expenses associated with petroleum and maintenance for the non-independent directors except for their director monthly salaries.

(2) Compensations to directors on a consolidated basis:

Compensations to directors consist of salaries, director remunerations and allowances. In addition to those from the Company, the compensation to directors was director allowances mainly from the Company's subsidiaries, AN-SIN Real Estate Management Ltd. and ANSHIN Real Estate Management Ltd. The allowances depended on the numbers of attendance. Shanghai Sinyi Real Estate Inc. provided the company care and house for Mr. Chueh Chien-Ping for his concurrently serving as the CEO of Group Platform Business.

2. Compensations to general manager and vice general managers:

(1) The compensations to general manager and vice general managers consist of salaries, pensions and bonuses (including special reimbursements).

- i. Salaries: Monthly salaries are paid to general manager and vice general managers depending on their positions and performances. There is no direct linkage between monthly salaries and annual earnings.
- ii. Pensions: None of our general manager or vice general managers retired in 2016.
- iii. Bonuses: Bonuses for general manager and vice general managers are calculated pursuant to our internal policies on compensations, proposed by the Remuneration Committee and approved by the board. Performance bonuses are linked with the Company's earnings and key performance metrics.

Performance bonuses and year-end bonuses linked with earnings were increased in 2016 from the previous year, due to an increase in net incomes and better performance.

- iv. Other related remuneration included the company car rental provided for CEO of Group Platform Business and general manager, accompanying with the fuel expense and maintenance expense of these cars.
- v. Some vice general managers quit at the end of August, 2016. Hence, the total salaries paid to these ex-vice general managers in 2016 were higher than the 2015 level.
- vi. Our company has established criteria for the bonuses to general manager and vice general managers on the basis of their long-term contributions. The board approves the amount based on the proposal by Remuneration Committee according to their implementation effectiveness of our long-term strategies and contribution to our long-term performances.

(2) Compensations to general manager and vice general managers on a consolidated basis:

Other companies in our consolidated financials do not incur compensations to general manager and vice general managers, except the partial salary paid to CEO of Group Platform Business by Shanghai Sinyi Real Estate Inc. as well as company car rental and the related fuel expense and maintenance expense for his responsible for the cross-strait platform business.

Four. Performance in Fulfillment of Corporate Responsibilities toward the Society

We received five awards by the 《Taiwan Corporate Sustainability Awards, TCSA》 in December 2016 : “Top 50 Corporate Sustainability Report in Real Estate and Construction”, “Contributions to Social Inclusion” and “Talent Development”, “Co-Harmony Society Award”, and “The Most Prestigious Sustainability Awards-Top Ten Domestic Corporate”. At the same time, the Chairman of the Company, Chou Chun-Chi, was awarded as the outstanding people of the corporate sustainability. It is the testimony to our efforts in corporate governance, environmental protection and social harmony. The Company and subsidiaries will continue to adhere to our people-centric philosophy and honor our corporate responsibilities in order to become a world-class company in real estate services.

The Company officially came into being in Year 1987. Since then, we have faithfully stuck to the Sinyi motto focusing notably on “human-oriented”, “just do it as we should” by launching a variety of real estate agent service guidelines. Now, we have, bit by bit, upgraded the level of services toward customers. As Sinyi Realty Inc. has been growing into an increasingly huge scale, never have we ignored our dedication toward the society as a model corporate citizen and broadened our positive influence. Our dedicated hands-on practices in the responsibility toward the society have won widespread acclaims as well. In Year 2012, we further spearheaded the native counterparts by setting up the Corporate Ethics Office as well as the position title of Ethics Director. Meanwhile, we continually sponsored corporate ethics related lectures and programs, assimilating into “faithfulness” and “ethics” onto the first-line teammates. Through our efforts to cultivate entire staff through corporate ethics, we assure each and every employee to become dedicated Sinyi specialist; each and every enterprise to become Sinyi Realty. Eventually, thanks to such dedicated efforts, the precious island Formosa propitious for the paradise and talented human resources will become cultural giant admirable to all. In the days and years ahead, we shall continually go forward with wholehearted efforts toward the goal as the “new paragon in services industry”. Armed with the spirit for sustainable prosperity, we shall combine the benefits of our customers, staff members, shareholders, society, entire country and natural environments into a whole toward our ultimate goal of “achieving world-class service giant”.

I. Participation in the communities:

(I) Sponsorship toward the Entire Community in One Family:

On a long-run basis, we have spared no effort devote ourselves to community operation. We notice that communities function as the very fundamental unit to push Taiwan ahead. In Year 2004 just after the presidential election campaign, we perceived the emerging political turmoil and the confrontation amidst ethnic groups. In the ensuing year in Year 2005, we set up “One Community One Family Promotion Association” to boost the function of a community so as to promote the goal of “One Community One Family”. Furthermore, we launched “One Community One Family Sponsorship Program” with five-year in a term, with contribution of NT$100 million sponsorship fund to substantially help communities fulfill the dream held by all communities toward families. Through such efforts, by means of community reform, we will convert the minor love within our hearts to the major love for the entire communities in neighborhood. Then our community people could restore the medium powers of being “harmonious with fellow community people and neighbors”, to remove all potential estrangement in interrelationship, guiding people to pick up their inherent love and warm concern toward families, communities, society and even entire country, to indeed fulfill the dream of “one community one family”, making Taiwan, the paradise land where we dwell, become the prettiest hometown throughout the world. Thanks to our more than five years efforts in promotion 2004 ~ 2008, we satisfactorily accomplished the Phase I targets. During that period, we received a total of 2,901 proposals and successfully helped a total of 397 communities accomplish their long-fostered dreams.

In Year 2009, we further resolved to invest another NT$100 million sum to carry out Phase II “Action Plan of One Community One Family”, focusing on “Learning through the Communities” as the core philosophy. We interpreted the value of blessed lifestyle anew. Through the community development platforms, we brought into the business operation into Phase I senior community experiences, instructions through expertise instructors along with investment with Sinyi volunteers and such human resources and other resources. Thanks to such efforts from the Sinyi management, the communities could receive financial support not solely from enterprises, and could cultivate and upgrade their own capability amidst the process of interaction and learning, enable themselves to boost growth of communities, make the communities where they dwell more blessed and demonstrate the innovative values through entrepreneurial sponsorship. Thanks to the wholehearted Sinyi efforts in implementing the One Community One Family Program, in Phase II alone as of the end of Year 2014, we successfully helped a total of 874 communities to fulfill the community reform programs notably including “ecology environmental protection”, “community space reform”, “cultural industry”, “cultural inherit”, “human resources cultivation” and “warm concern toward communities” among other efforts.

Upon the tenth anniversary of our initiative “One Community, One Big Family”, we embarked on “Nationwide Community Building” in March 2015, our second 10-year program, with commitment to invest in NT$200 million. This is an extension of “One Community, One Big Family”, as well as the largest corporate-sponsored scheme in community building in Taiwan. It is hoped that our efforts can assist in social reconstruction by starting at homes and connecting communities. We organize innovative activities in order to invite public participation. Since the launch of “One Community, One Big Family” in 2004, there has been an increasing involvement from youngsters. In the beginning, the majority of participants were aged between 45 and 50. After 2009, the largest group of participants is 20~30 years old. To encourage the youth participation, we offer the sponsorship up to NT$150,000 to college students and graduates as part of our nationwide community regeneration campaign in 2015. We also provide sponsorships up to NT$200,000 for an individual and NT$500,000 for a community.

In Year 2016, there were a total of 724 proposals posed under the “One Community One Family Action Plan” among which, there were a total of 214 award winners. In thirteen years in accumulation, there were 8,051 proposals posed in total, with 1,739 communities awarded the support. Overall, the Company has sponsored over NT$220 million. The plan has solidly constructed the most beautiful scenery in Taiwan and has gathered together the most heart loving Taiwan. In the thirteen years while “One Community, One Family” were under implementation, we focused on the local characteristics in the first five years as the very perch in continuing and promoting the local industry and culture. In the past eight years, we launched huge amounts of proposals to serve youths who return to and dedicate themselves to their own home communities, bringing added momentum of the community industries. Besides, amidst the multiple ethnic races notably the aboriginal people, Hakka and local natives who constituted the majority, quite a few new immigrants have joined the application for our One Community, One Family services in recent years to contribute themselves to the community services amidst the ethnic harmony.

In 2004, we gathered a total of 18 true stories and published “Wonderful Villages 1: 18 Stories of Hope and Sunshine”. We also authorized the School of Social Sciences, Tsinghua University, to publish the simplified Chinese version. As many people visited Taiwan by following these stories, this book has become a showcase of community building efforts. We hope more people can join us by creating their own community stories with the air and water from their hometowns. In 2016, we published “Wonderful Villages 2: 35 Stories of Kindness at the Village. It is more than just the sharing of 35 true stories. It is about the love and devotion people have toward their land. As a testimony of the community transformation in Taiwan, this book takes the readers on a journey from love for homes and for the environment, innovation in technology, heritage of arts to the diversity of cultures. We hope to cover different elements of community building, from rural education to senior citizen healthcare.

Our Nationwide Community Building initiative launched in 2015 goes beyond communities extends into campuses and operates on an O2O platform. We invite everybody to get involved and make community development easier and more pleasant and we welcome those without experience in community reconstruction. We have constructed a technology platform “Gogonow (i.e. pinky promises)” to solicit and match the commitment and resources from different communities and social groups. The goal is to lower the threshold of participation in community development by integrating funding, materials, manpower and knowledge base. (<https://www.gogonow.cc/>)

We have extensive experience as a real estate agent for property sellers and developers. We know what the customers need and we understand how valuable good neighbours are to home buyers. Sinyi Real Estate (Shanghai) Limited, one of our subsidiaries, is a real estate developer dedicated to the creation of communities for home owners. Striving to make each community a one big family, Sinyi Real Estate (Shanghai) Limited goes beyond the nitty-gritty of the constructions and pursues the spiritual elements of what a home is about. We believe homes are the shelter for the peace of body and mind. Communities should be more than just independent blocks with shared infrastructure. We strive to create a sense of belonging for all the residents and seek to nurture an affluent environment where culture and mutual support enhance the solidarity of each community with frequent events and publications.

(II) Sinyi Volunteers:

During the process when we implement “One Community One Family Sponsorship Program”, very often we did notice that numerous community residents foster optimal concepts but could not get their concept embodied due primarily to lack of right human resources. In Year 2007, therefore, the teammates inside Sinyi Realty Inc. took the initiative to launch Sinyi Volunteers, with concrete actions known as “Sinyi Volunteers Service Actions”. We launched extensive invitation to all Sinyi teammates to join the significant program “Sinyi Volunteers” which has since then won warm and continued responses.

“When your palm faces downward, you are a happy donor”. This was the very initiative of the Sinyi Volunteers. In the real estate agent services, services always represent the very core of our services. The selfless concept of Sinyi Volunteers to serve others is just the very fundamental element in the real estate agent services. The Sinyi Volunteers Services, therefore, just function as the very core lesson in our human resources cultivation. The hands-on experiences we have accumulated previously indicate that the brokers in the more astonishing performance would show higher ratio in participating in Sinyi Volunteers. During the Sinyi Volunteers process, they learned more and more details, and learned the warm heart to appreciate and, in turn, convert all such precious harvest onto customer services.

The Sinyi Volunteers cover all-embracing contents. Other than conventional services with labor, the Sinyi Volunteers rendered extensive services without any bit of hesitation in accompanying senior citizens, accompanying children in the study process, ecological environmental protection, blood donation, charity sales sponsorship, support to farmers in crop harvesting, soliciting books through donation. Almost each and every need in a community ranging from blog setup, after-school study aids, story telling and traffic guards. In all such events and scenes, one could easily find Sinyi Volunteers in presence who demonstrated the doubling effects, manifesting the Sinyi Volunteers spirit to the entire society. Thanks to the Sinyi Volunteers efforts, Sinyi Realty Inc. assumes another responsibility to the public interests in the society.

In an attempt to encourage Sinyi teammates to join the Sinyi Volunteers, each and every staff member is granted one-day official leave so that they may join Sinyi Volunteers. We offer incentives to dedicated Sinyi Volunteers. Moreover, the ranking executives lead the program by personal example by joining Sinyi Volunteers themselves. As of December 31, 2016, we had accompanied up to 120,746 hours and 16,099 volunteers in such meaningful program. As we have grown amidst the support in the society, we offer warm feedback to the entire society. For more details about Sinyi Volunteers, please surf: http://csr.sinyi.com.tw/detail.php?info_id=171

(III) Supreme Sinyi Fellowship:

Catastrophic Earthquake September 21, 1999 virtually devastated a majority of Taiwan Island, in particular the remote Xinyi Township in Nantou County. In an attempt to help the frightened children continue their schooling, here at Sinyi Conglomerate, we set up “Supreme Sinyi Fellowship” in 2000 to help and guide those children in the hard-up financial standing, in single families studying in more than twenty senior high schools, elementary schools and in the devastated families with tuition aids, scholarships to enable them to study with an interruption. As of December 31, 2016, with “Supreme Sinyi Fellowship”, Sinyi Conglomerate virtually helped up to 4,587 children at Xinyi Township with the aggregate total contribution amounting to over NT$12.04 million.

(IV) Root-laying programs in corporate ethic education:

In an attempt to cultivate future leaders in wholesome ethnics, we have, via the Sinyi Culture Foundation, launched in 2004 “Root-laying programs in corporate ethic education”. We extensively invited scholars and experts to join the Program. In each and every year, we budgeted millions of New Taiwan Dollars into the Program to encourage higher education field in Taiwan into focusing the education of future entrepreneurs into respectable character. In the Program, we teamed up with Chinese Management Association with selections of corporate ethics instructors and teachers through strict selection and screening process. We sponsor remarkable teachers to produce teaching videos and work out teaching guides on corporate ethics. Amidst the masterpieces worked out and presented by the sponsored teachers, we further screened and selected prominent ones and remarkable representatives so that the bumper crops so yielded in the Program could be co-shared by all academic and entrepreneurial fields through close interchanges. Thanks to such remarkable efforts, the momentum of the schools and the teachers have been significantly augmented and accumulated into corporate ethics powers. In the principle of “One Teacher for Every School”, we supported twenty selected teachers in twenty schools to proceed with “Corporate Ethics” case writing and teaching method research & development. Just as a result of such Sinyi efforts, the “Ethics Teaching Platform” has virtually come into being in all university campuses.

Through implementation, cultivation and accumulation of the “Root-laying programs in corporate ethic education”, Sinyi Conglomerate founded the “Chinese Corporate Ethics Education Promotion Society” to launch hands-on promotion of corporate ethics education in 2009. With dedicated participation from enthusiasts in education, academic and entrepreneurial fields, such powers have been multiplied into formidable momentum. On an annual basis, we further sponsor “Corporate Ethics Education Seminar” to promote the hands-on experiences accumulated by the dedicated teachers and their efforts. So far, we have set up an integrated ethic platforms. Thanks to such sound efforts, people in the academic field will get easy channels to obtain the information, contents of teaching program and the ethnic concept they need and have the bumper crop so yielded so-shared by all. In turn, the sound concept of ethnics may be profoundly implanted into the mind of school students.

Besides in Year 2012, the Chairperson of the Board of the Company donated in his personal name NT$600 million. The Company, meanwhile, donated a total of 120 million in ten years, making the aggregate total at NT$720 million. With the huge amount of the donation, Sinyi Conglomerate set up in concert of National Chengchi University the “corporate ethics” oriented “Sinyi Institute”. Through the efforts to cultivate managers, we would imbue corporate ethics to remind enterprises to further focus on the corporate ethics. In turn, they would heighten the competitive edge of enterprises and industries and intensify the brand name image of the country. Accordingly, the Sinyi Institute is characterized by educational spirit of “managerial moral, social responsibility, sustainable development” to forge international level managerial education center. Inside the Sinyi Institute, other than the events to sponsor College of Commerce, National Chengchi University, we invited numerous guest professors at home and abroad to lecture the selected trainees in Taiwan. We offered Sinyi Scholarship and integrated the existing Sinyi Enterprise Real Estate Research & Development Center and further set up corporate ethics lectures. For the significant event, we invited former Vice President of the Republic of China Vincent Siew as the first time lecture sponsor. Meanwhile, we further set up “Corporate Ethics Research & Development Center” aiming at research of corporate ethics, managerial moral, sustainable enterprise development and sustainable environmental development as the final goals. Through establishment of systematic corporate ethics in sustainable operation, we pass the relevant knowledge and technology & know-how to students in the College of Commerce. For more details regarding Sinyi Institute, please surf: <http://www.syschool.nccu.edu.tw/rcrc>

(V) Establishment of “Sinyi School”:

Sinyi Conglomerate further established Sinyi School in an attempt to provide the general public with another venue to study. Through lectures in diversified, comprehensive and multifaceted issues, symposiums and hands-on participation by Sinyi Volunteers, we guided the general public into added concern about corporate ethics, cultural lifestyle and concept in environmental protection, warm concern about communities, residential spaces and blessed families. Since the Sinyi School was first founded in April 2011, we have worked on the grounds of corporate ethics spirit” as advocated by Sinyi Realty Inc., we put forth human-based perch, and took 【Sinyi School】as the very brand logo to march into the markets for public learning with diversified, comprehensive and multifaceted domains to launch uninterrupted interchanges with the target groups on a weekly basis through story telling, concept co-share, transmission of once ignored ethic values. Through the spirit of “love is just there in every corner”, we encourage senior citizens to walk out of their home into the society, into the wholesome lifestyle. In Taipei City Government, we set up over 150 service points to enthusiastically render such services to senior citizens. Other than restrooms and rest lounges offered under the efforts, whenever a senior citizen feels a discomfort, our Sinyi teammates from the local Sinyi Branch(es) to rush to contact his or her family members or dial 119. (X) Forge “Moon Guarded Well-being Cities” with Moon Bus Furnishing Arts:

In an attempt to echo the call by Taipei City Government “World Design Capital Taipei 2016” coordinate with the “Urban Life Vision Reform”, Sinyi Realty Inc. took the initiative to launch with the Jimmy Cartoon 《The Moon Forgets》 in a large-scale furnishing art program installed at the intersection of Xinyi Road, Sec. 5 and Songzhi Road, Taipei City. That Furnishing Project would bring unique original experience and further depict the “Human Based” Concept to build another new landmark spot where foreign visitors would stay and gaze around. On the other hand, we have tried to further demonstrate the “Human Concern Based Services” to further step into the general public through their common consensus. Just through the present furnishing art programs, we try to encourage the general public to reawaken the old memories profoundly buried in their minds to view anew the things and objects which they might have gazed without seeing or which they took for granted to retrieve their competence to identify truth from false. In a mood to cure their old wound, they would brighten their life into attractive brightness. We promoted “Dr.Red Nose” project with “Theatre De La Sardine” in 2016 and raised the party of Moon Bus in order to let sick children and their families through the game to express psychological pressure and also regain a moment of joy and wheezing.

(XI) Depression Prevention for Aging Population:

The World Health Organization indicates that depression will be the largest burden in healthcare by 2030, and approximately 7% of the older adults suffer depression. As Taiwan is marching into an aging society, our company worked with Sinyi Charity Foundation and John Tung Foundation in 2016 to prevent depression in the aging population. We jointly published the first video clip in Taiwan on the detection and prevention of depression among the older people. We also promote the concept of a carefree elder life by hosting seminars and invite medical doctors to write about grey-hair issues. As depression in later life can be prevented and treated, we wish to urge the depressed senior citizens to seek help in a timely manner.

II. Environmental protection

In the face of the climate change and worsening of the environments on earth, we here at Sinyi Conglomerate have reminded us into the solid role as a dedicated corporate citizen. In the regard to environmental protection to cherish resources on earth, we have virtually spared no effort at all. “Instead of sitting and speaking, we stand up and act”. The green environmental protection should start from our own efforts. Other than the efforts to strictly comply with the environmental protection related rules and regulations enacted by the government, we have established cross-department “Green Management Task Force” to launch promotional propaganda on energy saving policy, evaluation of the environmental protection energy saving performance. Here at the entire Sinyi Conglomerate, we definitely control environmental protection procurement for water, electricity facilities, building materials, office facilities, through hands-on participation with substantial acts into a formidable power to safeguard environmental protection for earth. On the other hand, though we focus on real estate agent services without substantial products in production, we have spared no effort to boost “Green Services” to minimize carbon discharge.

(I) Green management strategies

1. Enactment of rules for environmental protection acts

In the “Behavioral Rules of Sinyi Conglomerate” enacted and promulgated by Sinyi Conglomerate in 2009, we expressly enacted relevant behavioral rules toward general public in the society and on environmental protection: “We shall focus on environmental protection, conservation of energy and resources and shall minimize the negative impact upon environment in all sorts of business operations”. Through such sound guidelines, both Sinyi Conglomerate and our entire staff members could put into implementation thoroughly green environmental protection lifestyle with hands-on practices to successfully duplicate the hands-on experiences onto everybody. Sinyi Conglomerate is widely believed the very role model in the energy saving and environmental protection. No other real estate company in Taiwan has published any reports on FC-PCR (carbon footprint product category rules) until we released our first report in 2016. We were also certified by the Environmental Protection Administration on December 3, 2016 for our carbon reduction label and became the first real estate brokerage firm in the world that calculates carbon footprints.

2. Compliance with environmental rules

Here at Sinyi Conglomerate, we have especially put energy saving & carbon reduction and environmental protection issues into the business operation plans. In the future, we shall strictly stick to the environmental protection standards prevalent in the international community, set up sound energy management audit and management systems. On the major energy saving contents, we shall conduct analysis on the performance benefit, set future environmental protection goals and measures. Internally, we shall strengthen our environmental protection capability by means of autonomous environmental protection and development of green services.

3. Put into implementation thoroughly environmental protection and minimize waste of energy internally Energy saving is the very fundamental responsibility of all corporate citizens. Here at Sinyi Conglomerate, we have spared no efforts in environmental protection. In our real estate agent services where we do not manufacture substantial products, we have put into implementation thoroughly our responsibility toward the society with efforts in environmental protection on a prolonged basis. Through minimization of waste of resources internally, e.g., in the Headquarters Mansions, we introduced to Ubiteg Energy Management system from Japan, set up multiple point video conference system to help Sinyi teammates reduce the traffic rush on the way, adopt water-saving faucets, T5 light tubes and LED lamps for all branches, carry out shut-off campaign in time, set air conditioners at the optimal temperature, print on both sides of paper. All Sinyi teammates must use identity sensors to identify their status before the documents could be out output. Meanwhile, minimize the usages of paper cups and disposable tableware; appropriately classify garbage and recycle kitchen residues, encourage Sinyi teammates to put into implementation thoroughly energy saving & carbon reduction, arrange colleagues to work on rotation to clean up all peripheral areas of Sinyi Office Buildings (including sidewalks, green areas) and carry out office environment with green planting on the rooftops to create optimal environment for living.

4. Implementation of green supply chains

Among the “Behavioral Rules of Sinyi Conglomerate”, we have expressly provided in the aspect of procurement: We shall treat all suppliers and contractors on an equal and impartial basis. All decisions on procurement shall be duly resolved exactly in accordance with the costs, quality, technology & know-how, delivery, efficiency, the suppliers' financial standing and environmental protection factors. Externally, we have launched extensive promotional propaganda toward suppliers for implementation of green supply chain management. Meanwhile, we have put equivalent efforts to set up green service networks on the customer service terminal. Whenever the Company's Agency Sales Department proposes to a construction firm, they should propose on the environmental protection basis, adopt green working approach or implement green architecture. As always, we should aim at the environmental protection oriented impairment as the preferential choice. Not only do we help customers buy, sell houses and help them obtain optimal houses, we do take into account customer needs in decoration, furnishing, cleaning, relocation and the like. Our Home Service Center, therefore, selects and recommends only environmental protection oriented green suppliers to our customers.

5. Implementation of green procurement:

We have wholeheartedly implemented green procurement. We have joined Environmental Protection Administration, Executive Yuan and Department of Environmental Protection, Taipei City Government in their "Desire of Non-government Environments and Groups in Green Procurement" and officially signed the "Desire of Non-government Environments and Groups in Green Procurement". Further with hands-on acts, we have put forth maximum possible efforts to promote green consumption of all branches and the Headquarters Building and to purchase green badge products. In the promotional propaganda of green badge products, we have intensified the procurement with environmental protection emblems and publicize the adoption of green environmental protection and energy saving products. During 2012 ~ 2016, we procured energy saving and environmental protection products amounting to approximately NT$139 million. For eight years in a row, we have been awarded by the Taipei City Government "Best Green Procurement Performance Company", and for five times, we have been awarded by the Environmental Protection Administration, Executive Yuan "Outstanding Green Procurement Company".

6. Implementation of overall E-procedures and green service research & development:

As early as 2000, we started implementation paperless office policy. Since 2009, all Sinyi staff members have used electronic means instead of previous paperwork whenever they apply for leave of absence, procurement and bill for payments. Externally, all fax messages have been served by means of e-mail after scanning in an attempt to minimize the waste with use of paper.

Meanwhile, we have spared no effort to engage in green service research & development and continually launch a variety of online innovative services, notably “viewing a house online through a cell phone” which has enabled us to effectively conserve paper consumption, satisfy the need in customized information and tremendously boosted efficiency in services. So far our green service extensively covers the range of information search, evaluation of information as well as post-deal after-sales services, featuring efficacy, convenience and environmental protection.

7. Promotion of Community Green Sites

Chairman of Sinyi Charity Foundation in 2016 provided his land in Guye Village, Xinying District, Tainan City, free of charge, for the plantation of indigenous trees. We worked together with National Chiayi University in the planning of this forest park for local residents. We hope this green oasis can serve as a magnet for community friendship and play its part to mitigate global warming.

(II) Targets of environmental protection:

1. Green procurement, environment friendly policy:

Here at Sinyi Conglomerate, we have put forth maximum possible efforts to promote green procurement. For instance, in all procurement needs, we choose pollution-free appliances labeled with environmental protection emblems or office facilities labeled with power conservation emblem as far as possible. Since 2012, we have further set up energy managerial system to make energy related information transparent to effectively intensify control over the use of energy, minimize electricity bills and carbon discharge.

2. Implementation of waste minimization and recycled green:

We have put forth equivalent efforts to minimize garbage output and recycle resources. For instance, we have set a policy whereunder Sinyi employees should get ready their own cups and tableware, classify garbage outputs to accomplish the goal of garbage minimization, cherish resources on earth. In 2014, Sinyi Realty Inc. had the honor of being awarded by the Taipei City Government “Sustainable Recycling Prize” in the resource recycling innovation competitions.

3. Energy saving & carbon reduction and energy conservation

In Sinyi Conglomerate amidst the real estate agent services without substantial act of manufacture, the costs of water, electricity bills and photocopying fees account for nearly 50% of the monthly outlay. Aiming at the aforementioned costs and fees, we have launched promotional propaganda and implementation for energy saving & carbon reduction to minimize the operating costs and boost efficiency of our services.

4. Green marketing and innovative services

In our promotion of green services, we attempt to minimize the consumption of paper used for DM purposes and to create and provide innovative environmental protection services to customers. Our efforts include notably pricing information provided through cell phone, real estate information provided by means of text messages or e-mail, execution of a contract by means of meeting via video system or such e-means amidst our multiple efforts as a dedicated citizen to earth. Just in recent years, we have further developed the technology & know-how available to brokers to guide customers to view their desired real estate through intellectual cell phones or tablets accompanied with their on-the-spot interpretation and services with integrated process. With such tremendous devices, our first-line teammates are well capable of rendering more powerful information system along with matchmaking services, with tremendous reduction of waste of paper and conservation of time which our customers used to waste amidst the traffic hassle and other costs. Meanwhile, we launched electronic version “Real Estate Guide Book” in combination with the aforementioned mobile devices which have helped tremendous reduction of photocopying costs.

We launched a digital publication tool in 2015 so that our colleagues can design their own direct mails to prospective customers and target clients. It can be applied to the development of objects and sales and the management of customer relations. Digital emails allow customers to access information on properties and pricing from computers or mobile phones. It has significantly reduced the consumption of paper and opened up possibilities of relationship developments.

III. Commitment to customers:

(I) We think before our customers do:

The success to an enterprise is, to put it in more understandable terms, the very result of customer satisfaction. An optimal brand image could boost the very values of an enterprise and help that enterprise create added profits. That is to mean a successful enterprise should think for its customers in all aspects in the orientation of customer satisfaction, with continued acts in innovation and improvement toward the eventual goal of developing brilliant new vision. Here at Sinyi Conglomerate, our innovative marketing policies include notably “making no gain through price gaps”, “An Instruction of Real Estate” and “Digital Four Goods (like VR-3D investigation of the house, Sinyi App, Sinyi electronic newspaper and the community instruction), all aimed at safeguarding customers’ interests in the top concern, which have been believed as the very role model to the entire real estate agent services. Where each and every innovative service item launched by Sinyi originates in our full awareness of what our customers feel exactly in need as we take profound command of variations of external environments to minimize all potential risks to customers in their real estate purchase process, the Company has won widespread acclaim from people in all walks of life in the brand name image, quality of services or innovative services.

(II) Innovative services to upgrade the real estate agent services:

High level of services is conducive to upgrade the values for Sinyi Conglomerate in its existence. Since the very beginning when Sinyi Conglomerate came into being, we have continually and unceasingly tried to build and uphold human-oriented Sinyi motto in upgrading quality of services. In the initial founding phase, we took the lead to adopt the “Ownership survey before transaction”, and subsequently, launched a series of “ownership verification system”, “payment assurance system”, “Scrivener (Title Agent) Review System” and “Leakproof warranty system”, “Production of Real Estate Guide Book” and such overall assurance system. Further subsequently thereafter, aiming at potential problems in a building built with cheap, unreliable concrete which contains a high quantity of sea sand, radiation-contaminated building, leakage house and transaction security, we presented “Four Major Assurance Services” to help customers further minimize potential risks in house purchase. In 2011, we further took the lead to launch “assurance against potential suicide or murder involved house” to further minimize the house purchase risks. To further facilitate customers and upgrade level of services, we got associated with up-to-date high technology with continued efforts to find new ways instead of old practices. All such tremendous momentum came not only from the remarkable Sinyi spirit demonstrated from entire Sinyi staff members, but further from our philosophy to serve huge number of customers. Moreover, we have set up Real Estate Planning & Research Office through which we have published and issued a variety of journals internally on a regular basis. On an annual basis, we have further published Expertise Journal which has been unilaterally acclaimed as the most authoritative reference in real estate appraisal. In concert with College of Commerce, National Chengchi University CNCCU – SINYI Research Center for Real Estate, we have jointly presented the “Monthly Indices of Metropolitan Taipei Area” as another spearhead in the real estate agent services, believed as the most important ground to indicate real estate prices and economic status. We have, case-by-case one after another, launched the Sinyi Real Estate Price Indices for Kaohsiung, Taichung, Taoyuan, Hsinchu and entire Taiwan.

As we have tried by all available means to help customers buy, sell houses and build their new homes, we have noticed the very key issues amidst the complicated expertise in home furnishing and decoration. Very often the mixed up level of furnishing service providers might lead to impairment to customers. We, therefore, set up the Home Service Center in 2012. In our consistent strict selection attitude, we strictly screened and selected trustworthy service providers to serve customers with their needs in refurbishment, relocation and warehousing, American home furnishing services, resource recycling and anti-pest services, to assure customers to enjoy carefree home living in blessed warm housing. The Sinyi Home Service Center was officially accredited for ISO9001 verification in 2013.

In Year 2014 we presented 3D substantial vista and virtual (fictitious) home furnishing known as “I’d Like to Show Best Houses + Digital housing presentation Best Home Verification” Through our pantoscopic view expansion and position identification sensor know-how, our customers may just feel on-the-spot the virtual (fictitious) home spaces to immediately feel how the homes they purchase would look like after completion of furnishing to activate an outdated house into renewed life. Thanks to such astonishing know-how, the buyers and sellers would successfully accomplish their desired deals at an accelerated pace.

We introduced 3D Interactive Viewing Services in 2015 by adding three features (i.e. 3D bird's-eye view, roaming views and high-definition resolutions) to our previous offering “Clicks and Views”. The system provides precision 3D images and viewings can be done from multiple points. Prospective home buyers can enjoy the realistic experience as if they were onsite. Meanwhile, we created an innovative business model, the Sinyi O2O (Online to Offline) Platform with three integrated services, i.e. Anything and Everything, Home Services and Home Shopping Mall, covering all the services for home selling and buying.

In 2016, we upgraded the user interface of 3D interactive viewings. Any customers with a VG headset can view properties as if they were onsite. If they move around, they can change the viewing angles. This allows our clients to view the properties in difference locations. We have also optimized the user interface on mobile phones. Interested buyers can easily view properties online simply by moving their screen around or swiping their smartphones.

IV. Cultivation of human resources

(I) Human resources represent the cherished partners to Sinyi

A service business is a business serving people amidst people. This suggests how important “humans” would mean to a service business, especially to Sinyi. To Sinyi, human resources are the very grounds and are extremely cherished. More accurately speaking, Sinyi teammates would mean a partner instead of asset. We have tried by all means to have Sinyi teammates feel secured in their jobs, absolutely respected, concerned and cared. Here at Sinyi Conglomerate family, all employees feel to stand on a stable and equal position with the Company. As an encouraging result, all Sinyi employees have demonstrated their maximum possible potential and momentum to accomplish themselves amidst performance of duties to grow with Sinyi hand-in-hand, arm-in-arm. Among three backbones that have propped Sinyi to the success today, i.e., human resources, quality and performance, human resources constantly rank first. Only because Sinyi has owned proud human resources could Sinyi possibly offer quality and create proud performance. In the entire Sinyi Conglomerate, therefore, never have we ignored the importance of human resources cultivation. On the grounds of the respective responsibilities and powers, we have elaborately design the educational & training programs aiming at “managers” and “professional expertise”. In an attempt to solicit high performance human resources as the assets to continually strengthen the constitute, Sinyi raised the guaranteed minimum salary for reserved managers up to NT$60,000 per month in the first six months and worked out integral two-year cultivation training programs to help them grow at an accelerated pace. To further combine theories and hands-on practices into a whole, we have set up full-time instructor system and assigned prominent sales department heads or project managers to serve as the full-time instructors ready to assure sound transmission of intellectual assets. Meanwhile, we have organized project teams where the Management Information System (MIS) department, the regional heads teamed up with outsourced consultants to tailor-make special curricular aimed at strengthening management functions. From inside toward outside, we have, bit by bit, provided all Sinyi with optimal environment for lifetime learning.

The number of employees in the job markets has gradually come down amidst the new trend of job hunters in the new era. To meet the substantial need in human resources of Sinyi Conglomerate to unfold more and more real estate agent service shops in the long-run, we focused on the highlighted groups based on the human resources status in Sinyi branches in 2014 (e.g., where the newcomers were transformed into the regular organization chart, with efforts to cultivate reserve shop heads and guide personnel in substandard performance) to put into implementation thoroughly the plans to cultivate such human resources. In the cultivation process, we taught and guided them according to their respective aptitude and led them into self-accomplishment. With efforts to urge shop heads in their routine management performance and to activate hands-on performance of the branches, we have well retained more high-caliber talents and, in turn, boost the quality and quantity in real estate agent services.

We call for added number of talented human resources to accelerate Sinyi growth. Under the hanging shock of low fertility, the Company launches in 2015 “new employees orientation programs in the workplaces”. Through the brand new policy in soliciting employees, Sinyi Conglomerate will get a tremendous volume of human resources available for screening & selection which is believed to virtually change the conventional relationship between the employees and management. Under such new policy, a newcomer who quits after having received probation for one month is offered with alternatives between NT$50,000 base salary and NT$50,000 job changeover fund where under that quit-minded employee will mull profoundly whether or not he or she will reconsider his or her capability and desire to become a Sinyi teammate. We firmly believe that under such policy believed as a subversion of classical tradition, those who choose to continually stay with the Company must be capable ones deserving further Sinyi cultivation into real talents in the mentality co-sharing Sinyi motto with pleasure to devote themselves to the Company. In the future, they should be the rosy talents to fulfill blessed Sinyi branches. Besides, such a policy would further help us fulfill the human-oriented Sinyi spirit. We believe more horizontal trades would follow suit to virtually change the entire society in the thought to hire human resources. Eventually, such a policy will create a more optimal and friendly employment climate toward the goals to fulfill Sinyi society.

(II) Integrated network for learning:

Here at Sinyi Conglomerate, there is not a shortcut to cultivate real estate talents. In this Sinyi family, we have devised and worked out integrated professional educational & training programs for heads in all levels and employees. The training curricula would include Sinyi business philosophy, quality of services and personnel rules and regulations wherewith, we instruct the guide them into sound values and attitude to serve consumers. Moreover, to build common consensus for the entire Sinyi Conglomerate teammates, put into implementation thoroughly entrepreneurial ethics, convert the managerial style into concentrated leadership, we have specifically established the high performance leadership curricula for high ranking executives since 2012. Through such learning programs, the entire Sinyi Conglomerate will operate in a smoother and pleasant way and the entire Sinyi organization will become sturdier.

To back up Sinyi teammates to further grow and to enable Sinyi personnel in all levels to enjoy sound and comprehensive resources in educational & training programs, we have launched a variety of centralized training programs. Aiming at the chain system development, we have specifically focused on the on-the-job training programs where each and every Sinyi teammate is both a learner as well as a teacher. In the hands-on practices, the entire staff members as well as the management have jointly built a sound climate for learning in the master & apprentice learning system. Here at Sinyi Conglomerate, our educational & training programs have been mapped out in the following manner:

- On a regular basis, we sponsor “on-the-job training programs for employees” and “lifetime learning activities” every year.
- Every year, we sponsor hands-on learning curricula on newcomers to business and advanced training programs, advanced seminars for department heads and brokers in the medium and large scale divisions, and team with the industries with unique sandwich newcomer training programs in concert with the master & apprentice system to enhance Sinyi teammates in their expertise in an accelerated pace.
- With wholehearted efforts, we encourage Sinyi teammates to take nation-sponsored examinations for professional licenses and on-the-job training programs. For such purposes, we have provided diversified, comprehensive and multifaceted incentives to enhance Sinyi teammates in their professional competence.
- We have completed the “digitalization” of educational & training programs and intellectual know-how, set up digital learning platforms, strengthen “e-Learning” digital learning module, sponsor online curricula. Through such efforts, all employees are granted more flexible hours to learn through online system. Such policy helps us minimize the costs required for conventional educational & training programs and boost the performance in educational & training programs.
- We offer subsidiary for educational & training programs beyond Sinyi premises. With multiple incentives, we encourage employees to use their off-duty hours to advance their expertise and know-how, including such programs for master degrees, linguistic learning or other expertise. Toward all employees joining such educational & training programs outside Sinyi, we support with half of the tuition fees.

(III) Sinyi University

Since 2009, we have in installments in succession invested NT$150 million to set up “Sinyi University” for which we retained renowned Professor Hsu Shih-Chun to serve as the convener for the Advisory Committee of the University to integrate the abundant academic resources to provide the University with precious proposals and support. Thanks to such efforts, the University has successfully combined the theories and hands-on practices into a whole to build up optimal innovative platform for learning, bring up the competitive edge for enterprises and enhance the profoundness and extensiveness for human resources cultivation, believed as the cradle birthplace for real estate agents. The Sinyi University covers five major colleges, i.e., “Up-and-coming Talent College”, “Real Estate College”, “Quality College”, “Management College” and “Sociology College” which have been backed up with virtual (fictitious) learning environment known as “Sinyi e-School”, and hands-on learning environment known as “Sinyi School”. Among the guiding strategies, we aim at three major approaches “Cultivate global human resources”, “Boost innovative capability”, “Perform the role as a model corporate citizen”. Based on the respective different attributes, we have devised the curricula combining professional expertise and hands-on experiences into a whole. We have offered the hands-on experiences accumulated previously by Sinyi Conglomerate to be co-shared by general public in the society who have been interested in real estate, the freshmen in the society dedicated to real estate science. Meanwhile, we have implemented such curricula in entrepreneurial ethics and concern about humans and culture, “One Community, One Family” Programs and Sinyi Volunteer Practices. As a result of such sound educational programs, Sinyi people have been fostered into not only professional expertise and into the mentality to render thoughtful concern to others. In the future, the University will, bit by bit, enable the outside world to co-share the Sinyi learning programs. It is our earnest hope that through such sound policy and practice, the conducive Sinyi philosophy and practice in human resources cultivation will be passed onto each and every people, organization and group in the society to create the common rosy future.

(IV) Only vertically integrated business education in property management

In 2016, we entered a cooperation plan with Department of Finance, National Yunlin University of Science and Technology and Song Shan High School of Commerce and Home Economics. This initiative aims to develop the basic competences of young students in real estate, provide them with internships and formal employment based on reviews. The purpose is to integrate education with employment opportunities immediately after graduation. This scheme is the only collaboration in Taiwan between the industry and education institutions in the management and operation of real estate, and it starts from vocational education, university majors to employment prospects. We particularly reserve half of the vacancies in this program for the students in an economic disadvantages because they need to work and study at the same time. After they have passed the assessment, they will be admitted to the real estate management stream in Department of Finance, National Yunlin University of Science and Technology, in preparation for their future employment. To enhance their practical experience, we also offer summer internships to provide them with the opportunity to learn about our operations, real estate appraisals, basic legal concepts, and selling and marketing.

Six. Operational Highlights

I. Highlights of business operation:

(I) Scope of business operation:

1. Key contents and major products covered within the business operation:

Sinyi Realty Inc. and some of its subsidiaries primarily engage in real estate broking agency and selling agency, as the as the brokerage agency for leasehold and sales of real estate. The contents of Sinyi services include leasehold and sales breakage for presale houses in whole package, surplus unused houses, individual brand new finished buildings, second-hand residences, offices, workshops, land, parking facilities. To unfold such business operations, we have set up multiple branches or business premises, services strongholds throughout Taiwan and have further expanded our business horizons to Shanghai, Suzhou, Hangzhou of China, Tokyo in Japan, Kuala Lumpur in Malaysia among elsewhere of the world in an attempt to serve target groups in Chinese communities. In 2015, as shown through consolidated financial statements, our aggregate total operating revenue hit NT$7.589 billion, primarily as revenues from brokerage agency and selling agency services.

Two of our subsidiaries, Sinyi Development Inc. and Sinyi Real Estate (Shanghai) are real estate developers. “Sinyi Chien Shih” in Tianmu, Taipei City is expected to obtain the building occupancy permit in April 2017. Sinyi Jiating in Jiading District, Shanghai City, the first stage is already all sell and the second stage began the selling from October 2016. Both projects are scheduled for completion and delivery in 2017, to contribute to our top line and bottom line.

2. Development of new services anticipated to be launched:

Since inception, we have been constantly innovating on our service menu and reengineering our procedures by focusing on customer needs. To ensure the delivery of considerate and satisfactory services, we apply the state-of-the-art technologies in our service workflows. Our innovative services include Home Staging, Property Viewings on iPhone, 720 Degrees Virtual Viewings Online, Housing Market Thermostat, Trajectory Economics, Housing Price Monitor and Virtual Home Staging. To enhance the value added of our Interactive Viewings, footage on public facilities in the building and/or in the neighbourhood are incorporated. In 2015, we introduced 3D Interactive Viewing Services by adding three features (i.e. 3D bird's-eye view, roaming views and high-definition resolutions) to our previous offering “Clicks and Views”. The system provides precision 3D images and viewings can be done from multiple points. Prospective home buyers are promised a virtual realistic viewing experience as if they were onsite. During the same year, we also launched V2 Housing Price Monitor by analysing the registrations of actual prices and the information contained in our own database on 20,000 community buildings. We provide basic information on over 5,000 communities, such as local features, amenities and housing price trends. All the information is available to the public at one click away.

We also offer an assurance service to home buyers by screening out unlucky houses and establishing a system to compensate buyers if unfortunate deaths occur in the property before the exchange of the contract.

The Tainan Earthquake in the beginning of 2016 triggers a warning on the safety of more than 800,000 buildings over 30 years old in Taiwan. To make it easier for the public to gauge the safety of their buildings, we launched a free-of-charge service in March 2016 to conduct inspections on old buildings of six stories or taller completed before September 21, 1999 in Taipei City, New Taipei City, Taoyuan, Hsinchu, Taichung and Changhua. During our campaign period, we offer onsite inspections by architects or civil technicians in order to actively lessen house lords' concern.

In 2016, we will enhance the friendliness of our webpages for mobile devices by offering a simpler and more intuitive user interface and improving the contents of the website. New features include "Add to favourites", "Browsing history", "Information subscription and sharing". Functionality such as VR (virtual reality) is incorporated for customers who opt for virtual viewing with headsets and Kinect.

In 2017, we will focus on the cultivation of business catchment areas, by applying the concept of "SOLOMO" (social, local and mobile) in the development of systems allowing our sales teams to capture the dynamics of the catchment area and the needs of customers more precisely and efficiently. This will enhance the service efficacy of online marketing and offline sales, so as to faster respond to the requests from customers. Sinyi Realty Inc. will continue to introduce innovative applications for our core business in real estate brokerage for property sellers and developers. Meanwhile, we also select a list of quality vendors for services and products in relation to home purchases so that our customers can enjoy the best services.

(II) Profile of the industry:

1. Progress courses of development:

The Ministry of Economic Affairs officially lifted the ban on incorporation of real estate broking agency firms in 1981. Since then, the lawful real estate brokers running in the shape of normal shops have come into being. In the 2000s, the broking agency market systems and transaction orders have been established into a sound manner bit by bit, including "Fair Trade Act", "Consumer Protection Law", "Condominium Regulation Act" and such real estate trading related laws and ordinances have been put into enforcement. In 1999 "Real Estate Broking Management Act" was put into enforcement and the real estate broking agency business officially entered into legalized systems. With the subsequent development in some two decades, the real estate broking agency business has been transformed from the previous somewhat negative impression to consumers into the new role as professional broking expertise in real estate.

2. Development trend of the industry:

Since 2009 amidst the economic upturn and the significant economic and trading development between both sides of Taiwan Strait, real estate markets have become brisk and the real estate damage indemnity has been expanded into cutthroat competition as more and more products have been released. In an attempt to stabilize the real estate markets, the government authorities in 2010 tried to curb real estate markets by means of house loan squeezing and taxation measures. The deluxe tax imposed in 2011 further effectively inhibited speculation in the real estate markets and led real estate prices to significant plummet. In late 2011, the Legislative Yuan (The Congress) passed "Three Laws on Land Administration". Besides, the policy of registry of the actual prices in the deals was put into enforcement in August 2012. That policy would be conducive to cause the real estate transaction more transparent and the actual prices have become the key reference to public in house purchase.

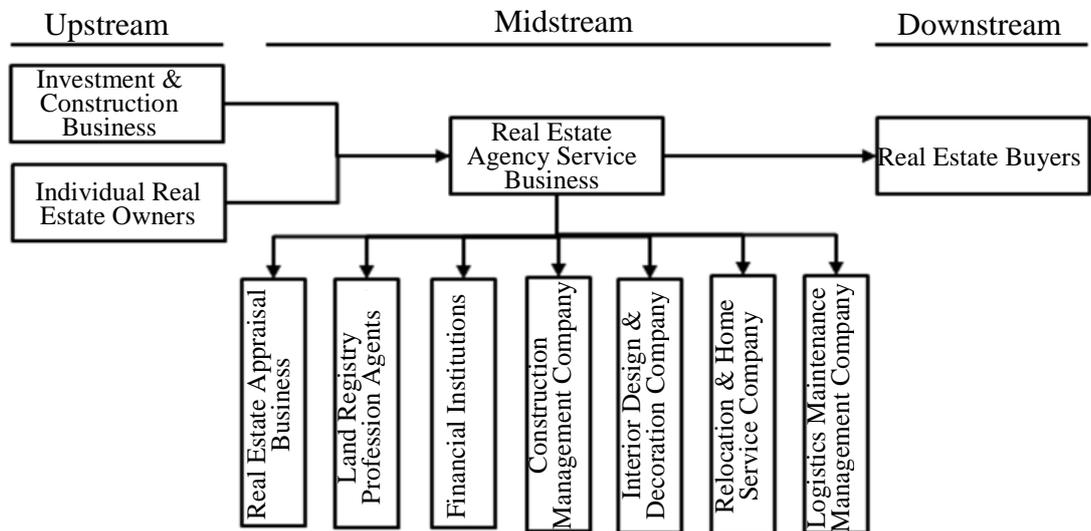

Moreover since the real estate agent services entered the Internet phase in late 2000s, the Internet was not in popular use in the initial phase during the decade long so far though Internet websites have been extensively established by real estate agent services, due primarily to the customs of consumer in the network use. Today, nevertheless, as networks have virtually played an indispensable role in each and every household, more and more house buyers would surf Internet for their desired information. The real estate agent service networks have lured tremendous number of surfers. This trend creates business opportunities of housing viewing with the internet function of the handheld device and the popularity of mobile networks.

We successfully developed iPhone house review App in 2010. Subsequently some other real estate agent services have followed suit. Such App has been further expanded toward iPad products. In an attempt to serve more consumers, we have developed Android App immediately thereafter.

The rapid development of the Internet has seen a mushrooming of competing online platforms for real estate listings. However, the heterogeneity of properties and the complexity of transaction processes mean the e-commerce mechanism cannot easily replace bricks and mortars. Even in Japan and the U.S. where the real estate brokerage industry is mature and information is widely available, online tools have not significantly taken over the role of agents. In sum, the innovation of e-commerce mechanisms has not rewritten the game rule of the housing market. Rather, it has boosted the efficiency of market activities. It is expected that innovations and online technologies will continue to be applied to real estate transactions.

3. Interrelationship among the upstream, midstream and downstream:

Here at Sinyi Conglomerate, we have primarily engaged in real estate agent services. The industrial interrelationship in the line is enumerated below:

4. Trend of industrial development and facts of competition:

The trading volumes in the property market in 2016 hit the record low since 1991. Leading real estate brokerage firms have been scaling back operations, a reversal of their aggressive expansion in the past. The number of shops established by major brands was reduced by 419 in 2016 to 2,780. The franchise segment, in particular, saw the largest decline in the number of shops. (see note below)

List of changes in the number of shops set up by real estate agent service providers in Taiwan:

Real estate agent service firms	Type of business operation	2016 Number of shops	2015 Number of shops	2014 Number of shops	2013 Number of shops	2012 Number of shops
Sinyi Realty Inc.	Direct selling	433	435	427	417	390
Other brand names	Direct selling + Franchise	2,347	2,764	3,089	2,981	2,703
Total		2,780	3,199	3,516	3,398	3,093

Note: On the grounds of statistics of websites of all real estate agent services as of December 31 of the respective years (Other brand names include i Can, Chinatrust Real Estate, Pacific Realtor, Century 21, Yung-Ching Realty, U-Trust House, Taiwan Real Estate and Eastern Realty).

We established a subsidiary Sinyi Realty Inc. Japan in 2010 and this triggered a wave of property purchases in Tokyo, Japan and other countries by the Taiwanese people. At that time, there was an abundance of liquidity but a lack of investment instruments in Taiwan. It was hardly surprising that some investors ventured out to the overseas property markets. The Taiwanese people understand the Japanese market best but are also interested in South East Asia, Australia, the U.S. and Europe. Some real estate agents work with local developers by introducing prospective buyers from Taiwan.

The number of real estate brokers for overseas property sellers and developers increased by approximately 80%, from 188 in early 2014 to 350 in the middle of 2015 and 432 at the end of 2016. However, the growth momentum is slowing down.

In China, the government authorities still try to deepen reform and to insist on Macro Economic Control but still amidst the policies to focus on continuity and stability toward the goals of setting up a wholesome mechanism with prolonged effect. The destocking policy in China is creating a rally in the housing market in early 2016. Though there are some control measures as limitation and conditions to the purchase, in the long run, from the population structure and the accelerating process of urbanization point of view, the overall rigid need in the market and autonomous demand are still forceful. In entire China, the real estate markets are believed to continually grow amidst stability and the urban market segmentation appears increasingly significant. The real estate markets are rising at a stable pace in the first-tier cities, in mixed status with rise and fall in the second-tier and some third-tier cities; while some third-tier cities and fourth-tier cities are continually clearing the stock in real estates. In both residences and commercial real estate in China, they have stepped into the real estate inventorying era. In the light of urban development and unavailability in land, second-hand real estate markets become increasingly huge in scale.

(III) Profiles in technology & know-how and research & development:

Here at Sinyi Realty Inc., we have set up a unique position title as strategic head to take overall charge of implementation of reform programs, new business line research & development and innovation of business mode. The strategic head would eventually submit all such proposals to the department head conference for final decision before enforcement.

1. In the aspect of customer values, we in Sinyi Realty Inc. spearheaded the sound policies of “making no gain through price gaps”, “pricing in segmentation”, “production adjustment before trading”, “Readily Available House Escrow”, “brokerage service reforms”, “concerted sales system with horizontal trades” and “four major assurances” and such brand new service systems.

2. We took the lead for many times in launching Virtual Home Staging, Housing Price Monitor, Trajectory Economics, Housing Market Thermostat, Home Staging, Property Viewings on iPhone and Android system, 720 Degrees Virtual Viewings Online, guiding the real estate buys and sales into a brand new mobile technology era.
 3. In the reform and improvement of service procedures, we have assimilated all online business lines and the hands-on experiences accumulated previously by salespeople and staff heads which have yielded significant effects in the continued development of “department management”, “standard operational procedures SOP”, “E Project”, “S Programs” as well as “6S” measures. In an attempt to render services to customers in real-time, we also took the lead to offer 24-hour online customer service systems, with designated personnel assigned to serve customers on an all-weather 24-hour basis.
 4. Moreover, we have set up Real Estate Planning Research & Development Office which publishes and issues a variety of real estate journals on a regular basis and further presented Real Estate Almanac which has been believed the most authoritative journal available in the entire real estate agent services. In concert with CNCCU – SINYI Research Center for Real Estate, College of Commerce, National Chengchi University, we originated the “Sinyi Real Estate Price Index” as the authoritative grounds in reference for real estate prices and market status. In an attempt to keep the indices well updated from better to best, we have devised the real estate indices covering the areas of Taoyuan, Hsinchu, Taichung and Kaohsiung other than Taipei, virtually covering all major urban areas of entire Taiwan. Besides, we further launched the overall real estate indices for entire Taiwan to accurately reflect the real estate price fluctuation in real time.
 5. In 2015, we offered expanded 3D substantial view in line with 3D virtual (fictitious) furnishing interactive technology & know-how by means of pantoscopic view expansion know-how along with the positioning and identification sensor know-how. Through such Sinyi offers, customers could feel of the future virtual (fictitious) home spaces just on-the-spot at the site.
- (IV) Long- and short-term business development programs:
1. Short-term business development programs:
 - (1) Real Estate Agency Department: Being an agent in real estate, the focus will be on the extensive cultivation of business catchment areas and the improvement of day-to-day operational capabilities. There will be periodical reviews and follow-ups to better the management of supervisors and boost the service competences of colleagues. The application of systematic tools is expected to reflect the results in the increase of pipelines and transactions and hence the market shares in business catchment areas. We will also regular analyze the changes of customers’ needs, and listen to the voice and expectation from our customers, so as to rapidly adjust the service workflows and contents accordingly. A survey on the satisfaction of customers will be conducted in order to keep track of the effectiveness of the system and highlight the improvements required for our sales teams. This will allow our salespeople to develop their skillsets to meet with the needs of customers and become the best agents they would like to have.
 - (2) Selling Agency Department: The current market is dominated with inelastic demand from home buyers. The performance of Selling Agency Department depends on the locations, designs/planning and price ranges of the properties. We will be cautious in the selection of the products we place by focusing on completed properties and deprioritizing off-plans. We will create our brand differentiation and advantages by leveraging the complete suite of properties we help to sell.

- (3) In China, the trading volume in the property market has been adversely affected by the government's control since the fourth quarter of 2016. We will slow down our expansion in 2017 as we prioritize the efforts centered on our business philosophy and core values. We will integrate our activities in the cultivation of business catchment areas and optimize the management of internal competences. This can be achieved by increasing the conversion rate of new hires into permanent employees and reducing staff turnovers. The purpose is to accelerate the personal development of our colleagues and boost the number of transactions per employee. Meanwhile, our brokerage department in Taiwan and China has started with the planning of an O2O platform, and will begin to deploy the hardware and software required in 2017.
- (4) In Japan, we will include property sellers into our telephone survey, in order to incorporate their feedback and identify any gap in our services. With an understanding of the opinions from all the customers, we will be able to review and improve our operations and ensure customers' satisfaction. By integrating our offerings in brokerage and leasing, we can promote our philosophy of collaborative services. Meanwhile, we have set up a branch in Osaka in October 2016, to provide more options for customers.
- (5) Our development team has submitted applications for the utilization permit for "Sinyi Qian-Shi" in Taiwan and for the occupancy permit for the first phase of "Sinyi Jiating" in Jiading District, Shanghai. The focus now is to deliver high-quality housing units for our customers. In China, site acquisitions are the key. Land prices have been soaring as a result of the rising prices and increasing transactions in the real estate market in Tier 1 cities during the first three quarters. Starting in the fourth quarter, both the central and the local governments began to tighten the control to curb the overheating of the housing market. These policy measures include numerous restrictions and requirements for the capital sources with which developers use to participate in the tender process for land. The release of new sites has been almost completely put on hold. As a result, our developer team in China has not been able to obtain appropriate sites as of the first quarter of 2017. It is expected that land is likely to be released in the second half of the year. Our development team will watch closely the market conditions and maintain good interactions with government agencies, in order to stay on top of the newest information. In Taiwan, the property market witnessed significant shrinkage in trading volumes during the past two years as a consequence of the policy control and taxation reforms. The market has been shifted to serve home buyers. At this juncture, most developers are taking a conservative approach by focusing on the sale of inventory. The land market also cooled down. After the exit of some competitors, our development team in Taiwan should be able to obtain appropriate sites with favourable terms. By the end of the first quarter in 2017, our subsidiary Sinyi Development Co., Ltd. has acquired some lots in Yong Cui Section of the Yong Cui Regeneration Zone in Banqiao District, New Taipei City. We will design appropriate products by leveraging the advantages of its proximity to the Banqiao 435 Art Zone.
- (6) Our subsidiary Yowoo Technology Inc. is a dedicated developer of mobile apps and software products, striving to create digital services for local communities. In 2016, the company launched "Yowoo Community App" and introduced delivery services on Yowoo's Home-Direct Platform by working and sharing resources with couriers. We aim not only to service community residents, but also create new businesses for local shops. Our first stop was Tianmu, Taipei City and will expand our footprint to the seven core administrative zones in Taipei City by providing the friendly services of food and beverage delivery.

2. Long-term business development program:

- (1) Broaden the current business horizons from the urban areas toward the peripheral cities to boost market share.
- (2) On the grounds of corporate ethics, from the upper to the lower, the Sinyi management lead by personal example to put into implementation thoroughly promotion and hands-on practice of the corporate ethics, intensify the corporate ethics and business philosophy to solidify the Sinyi motto of the entire staff members so that the Sinyi competitive edge will be definitely known to the entire staff members. Put into implementation thoroughly the standardized operating procedures and continually innovate the contents of real estate agent services, enhance the quality of real estate agent services, boost cohesion of consumers toward the Sinyi brand name so that the fine Sinyi services will be known to more and more consumers.
- (3) Develop real estate business, real estate trading system, contents of services and exchanges in trading information in concert with real estate businesses at home and abroad to lay solid foundation to unfold overseas real estate markets. By taking firm command of the trends and demand in the overseas markets in real time, we shall provide customers at home and abroad with more integrated and refined services. We will continue to cooperate with strategic partners with similar business philosophy in the development of properties.
- (4) Property development is capital intensive. Sinyi Realty Inc. and our subsidiaries will take a cautious approach in the selection of sites on the basis of existing pipelines. We will focus on the development and improvement of competences in design, engineering quality supervision, cost and progress control, capital planning, marketing and branding. The goal is to optimize the managerial capabilities and reduce the operational risks of our development business so that property development can serve as a stable growth engine going forward.
- (5) Our subsidiary Yowoo Technology Inc. has recently launched its Home-Direct Platform. Still in an early stage, the company will recruit more quality shops at a faster pace and further optimize the app functions. Meanwhile, we have achieved an initial success in Tianmu and will duplicate this model to other areas by rendering friendly delivery services to more customers.

II. Markets and Sales Overview:

(I) Analyses on markets:

1. The target markets of major commodities:

As the leading real estate agent service provider, we provide real estate brokerage services to the general public in the society instead of specific target groups. That means we might have a hard time classifying our products based on the target groups and have a hard time as well conducting statistics of the names and titles of our target groups. In terms of key target regions of our real estate agent services, we primarily focus on Metropolitan Taipei Area, and then the regions of Taoyuan, Hsinchu, Taichung, Tainan and Kaohsiung as the secondary target markets. We expand our presale business to Southeast Asia in 2015, and Kuala Lumpur is the main developed area in current stage. Our subsidiaries in China are more actively primarily in key cities in Shanghai, Suzhou, Zhejiang. Our subsidiaries in Japan primarily render real estate agent services to Chinese investors who purchase real estate in Japan. We provide our agency service in both Tokyo and Osaka cities.

To provide integrated services to customers, our Home Service Centre in 2015 created an O2O platform “Sinyi Home Services” by focusing on three themes: Everything for Home, Services to Home and Shopping for Home.

Despite the dwindling trading volume in the domestic housing market, the demand for real estates of different types remains. We have introduced a full range of services by integrating our resources in distribution and from other members of the group, as we aim to provide one-stop shopping services for different kinds of properties. The information on off-plans, newly completed housing units, pre-owned properties and overseas real estates is available in all of our branches.

The first development project we have, “Sinyi Jiating”, located in Jiading District of Shanghai, has been selling well. The first phase has been sold out on an off-plan basis and the completion is expected to be in March 2017. The sale for the second phase began in October 2016 and the completion is scheduled for the second half of 2017. Considering the completion of project “Sinyi Jiating” in Shanghai and project “Sinyi Qian-Shi” in Taipei both are planned to be done in 2017, we will continue selling its second phase of “Sinyi Jiating” and our development team in Taiwan will begin to work on the site we recently acquired in Banqiao District, New Taipei City. We hope to design a premier residential project by integrating it into the neighbouring art and cultural scene. In sum, our development teams in Taiwan and China will continue to source suitable sites.

2. Sinyi market shares of the primary target markets:

It is true that Sinyi primarily engages in real estate trading and brokerage services, trading of second-hand real estate still plays the pivotal role among our real estate agent services. The data of our horizontal trades are not easily available to us for a comparison. We, therefore, calculate market shares by taking the figures of the number of buildings covered within the ownership transfer as a result of Sinyi services deducted with the number of buildings in the initial ownership registry as the denominator. Accordingly, we presume our market share in the second-hand real estate trading in the real estate agent service markets in the recent five years was around 7.1% to 9.6%, including the rise of market share to 9.6% in 2016. Where the aforementioned denominator already includes cases directly completed by the construction houses and sold to buyers without a hand of real estate agent services. When such part of concluded deals is excluded, our market shares in the second-hand real estate trading should be higher than the aforementioned figures. The reason to the significant increasing is that interference of the consolidation of the housing and land taxes, resulting in obviously shrank number of transferring houses. But at the same time, the benefit in our direct chain reveals. In overseas markets, Suzhou Sinyi has shown more significant market shares in the major administrative regions. Other overseas Sinyi branches have not achieved significant proportion of the trading volume.

3. Status of future supply, demand and growth in the real estate markets:

The year 2016 saw weakening prices and shrinkage trading volumes. Home owners are the main buyers in the market and their most preferred option is pre-owned properties. However, the demand for newer/bigger homes has been increasing given the aging of the property inventory in the marketplace.

(1) Market dominated by demand from home buyers; rising demand for second-time buyers

After a bull run of over a decade post the SARS outbreak, the housing market in Taiwan experienced a correction as a result of the government’s control. Investors withdrew from the market. The Housing Demand Survey conducted by the Ministry of the Interior indicates that only 15% or so demand in the first half of 2016 came from investors.

This means almost 85% of the demand was from home buyers. The split was approximately half/half between first-time buyers (c. 42% of the total) and second-time buyers (also 42% of the total). The demand from second-time buyers is the highest in Taipei City, New Taipei City, Taoyuan City and Taichung City. The demand from first-time buyers is the highest for Tainan City.

- (2) Strong demand for newly finished residential buildings due to aging population and property inventory

According to the Housing Demand Survey conducted by the Ministry of the Interior, 57.8% of the home buyers prefer buildings with elevators. This ratio exceeds 70% in the Greater Taipei area. This is because the average old age of apartments in Taipei. Buildings with elevators tend to have better management and offer a greater quality. Senior citizens also avoid the hassle of walking the stairs.

Meanwhile, 70% of the house buyers prefer pre-owned properties, 23.5% opt for newly completed units and only 3.6% opt for off-plans. This is because the market is dominated by home buyers who would understandably want the properties readily available.

In Japan, Abenomics is giving a second lease of life to the property market. Bank of Japan is seeing the effects of its quantitative easing at an annual pace of 80 trillion Japanese yens by purchasing government bonds and stocks. The Japanese interest rate became negative at the lowest point in history and the Japanese yen weakened. As a result, share prices and asset prices went up. In sum, the quantitative easing has expanded the market capitalization of the capital market. However, investors do not think very positively of the growth strategy among Abe's three arrows. Abenomics has not been effectively in boosting the real economy in Japan.

The increasing number of inbound tourists is becoming an economic driver in Japan, where the population is shrinking. We believe that the real estate market in Japan, in terms of liquidity and market size, presents a good investment opportunity regardless of the success (or failure) of Abenomics.

In China, the Shanghai city government released the arguably most stringent control measures (as never before) on the housing market on November 28, 2016, including accelerating the initial payment from 30% to 35%. Meanwhile, the first-time buyer was previously defined with property ownership. If a prior mortgage has been paid off, it would not count. However, the new system is based on both property ownership and mortgage history (paid up or not). On the top of these measures, the government is tightening the requirement for mortgages to increase the burden on home buyers in order to curb the market demand. As a result, the trading volume for pre-owned properties in Shanghai dived from the peak of 56,000 units to approximately 11,000 units. This implies that a strong market rebound is likely. The subsequent development depends on the grip the government intends to impose on the housing market.

4. Advantage and disadvantages in the competition niche and the countermeasures:

- (1) Competition niches:

- A. Optimal brand image, high acclaim from consumers:

Since the very beginning when Sinyi came into being, we have constantly insisted on everything that we feel supposed to. Besides, whatsoever we say, we mean it. Thanks to such remarkable efforts, we have successfully set up optimal brand image. Throughout the real estate agent services in Taiwan, Sinyi Realty Inc. is the sole listed company. Our remarkable dedication has been virtually verified with numerous awards conferred upon us every year. As universally acknowledged, Sinyi Realty Inc. is constantly the No. 1 choice in terms of corporate image and brand identification. The services and systems launched by Sinyi have taken the lead and numerous competitors have tried to follow suit and have been even acclaimed as the standard norms. In all aspects, Sinyi is the No. 1 choice in the minds of potential customers.

B. Advantage in costs yielded by scale economy:

Throughout Taiwan, Sinyi Realty Inc. is the real estate agent services brand name proud of the most directly operated shops. All branches are under direct management from the Headquarters and thus capable of effectively dominating the quality of services and consistent caliber of human resources. In China, Sinyi branches are in a volume up to quite a scale, a scale large enough to launch unified procurement. A variety of advantages in costs yielded by scale economy would be reflected through the room for price bargaining in procurement of services and equipment & facilities. In such aspects of marketing advertisements, hardware equipment & facilities for branches and expenditures for activities sponsored by branches, we are in a position to benefit from competitive pricing.

C. Effective integration of entrepreneurial resources:

In the aspects of information, marketing, educational & training programs for human resources as well as management, we have set up professional teams. We have adequate resources available to our utilization. In marketing activities and sales promotion, we may take advantage of standardization to demonstrate integrated benefits.

D. Concerted performance (synergy) through inter-support with affiliated enterprises:

Both Sinyi Conglomerate and its subsidiaries have been under solid growth in the principal real estate agent services and have further developed into more comprehensive business systems toward customers, industries, information and technology & know-how. With inter-support among all elements within Sinyi Conglomerate, we may demonstrate tremendous concerted performance (synergy).

E. Competence in service innovation:

Since Sinyi first came into being, we have constantly encouraged ourselves toward provision of secured services available to customers. We always think the needs of customers as our own and launch a variety of brand new real estate agent services which have received widespread acclaim in the markets and have been extensively followed suit by horizontal trades. In our policies of making no gain with price gaps, segmental charges, production before trading, logistic concert with horizontal trades, Readily Available House Escrow, leakproof warranty, assurance against potential defect in high chlorine irons and assurance against potential radiation, we have won praise as the four major assurance services to customers. In recent years, taking advantage of online Internet technology & know-how, we have further rendered assurance against potential suicide or murder involved houses. Simply through such incessant competence, Sinyi would suggest more and more thoughtful services to consumers.

F. Efforts to cultivate human resources:

Where real estate agent services are known as the humans-based business, this word “humans” would play an absolutely indispensable role to Sinyi Conglomerate. The timber of Sinyi staff would suggest a supreme key factor toward the quality of Sinyi services. From the very beginning of Sinyi undertakings, we have taken cultivation of talented human resources as the top job. While soliciting human resources, we aim at such candidates having been graduated from a university or in higher educational level without hands-on experiences accumulated in real estate agent services in principle. Through such policy, we assure that the business philosophy and corporate cultures insisted by Sinyi would be put into implementation thoroughly. All our entire staff members feel proud of being Sinyi teammates.

In an attempt to solicit and win high-caliber talents, we took the lead to raise the guaranteed minimum salary from NT$40,000 to NT$50,000 per month in 2011. Besides, we have organized the project for new employees in order to let them find their position in the group from 2015, which is a brand new project to attract more talent people to join us.

(2) Advantages toward the vision of development:

A. No more strict policy control and gradual recovery of confidence from buyers

The property market in Taiwan has started the corrective cycle after the rigorous policy control to ensure housing justice and a bull run of more than a decade. There is no more need for the government to proactively intervene. Currently, the government focuses on the adjustment to the supply side, including the proposal to offer 200,000 social housing units within eight years, the reforms in the rental market, property management and urban regeneration. It is expected that the transactions resume normality once the government intervention tapers off.

B. Interest rates lingering low, working capitals remaining high.

Although the Fed in the U.S. has raised interest rates, the Central Bank of the R.O.C. (Taiwan) is unlikely to follow suit any time soon due to a weaker economic recovery (vs. the U.S.). The interest rates are expected to remain low and the money supply is likely to continue increasing. The market is swamped with liquidity. Meanwhile, capital seems to be flowing in due to tax investigations offshore.

(3) Disadvantageous factors against development forward and the countermeasures:

A. The cycle and the atmosphere is still adjusting and the volumn of transaction shrinks:

The Central Bank has in the past years adopted optional credit control, imposed deluxe tax, deluxe housing tax, house hoarding tax, a policy to raise the standard unit house prices in a row aiming at the goal to curb real estate prices. The consolidation of the housing and land taxes has pushed the property market into a downward cycle from the second half of 2014. The demand from investors has significantly dropped. The real estate market will go back to the normal shape where the owner-use houses will be dominating the entire real estate markets. Where the scale of trading appears in a significant scale-down trend, we as the leader in the real estate agent services must try to differentiate services before we can win added opportunities for services. In response to the aforementioned disadvantageous policies, we try to take the countermeasures as enumerated below:

- a. We shall strictly screen/select newcomers and put into implementation thoroughly sound quality control for Sinyi branches: At the moment in the markets, Sinyi adopts direct management for the large-scale real estate agent services in all cases and take the lead in adopting a policy to screen/select newcomers from the potential candidates without a need in other brokerage service backgrounds but must hold the degrees as a bachelor as the minimum requirements. In recent years we have tried hard to screen/select newcomers among master-degree holders graduating from renowned national universities and graduate schools at home and abroad just in an attempt to upgrade the quality level of our human resources to render even more upgraded services to customers. Toward all Sinyi teammates, we strictly demand quality of services they render before their performance in sales revenues. In comparison with other counterparts in the real estate agent services who hire employees without a restriction on academic degrees and purely on the grounds of their performance in sales revenues, Sinyi suggests a brand name capable of rendering unified and trustworthy high quality services to customers.
- b. We intensify cooperation among the regional branches. Take advantage of our direct management policy with vertical and horizontal integration, our customers are entitled to co-use the ample resources of Sinyi Conglomerate and all branches and, in turn, enjoy our secured, prompt and rational services in the trading process.

B. The policies in real estate markets and banking policies will directly affect the trading volume:

The government policies play the role of the top uncertainty toward real estate markets. Where the government authorities adopt more strict control measures, the trading volume will definitely decrease. In recent years the governments in both sides of Taiwan Strait have primarily aimed against investment-oriented house purchases. The needs in the initial house purchases and house changeover remain unaffected. In the long-run, the costs required for trading and for real estate possession will, bit by bit, increase and dampen the public in their confidence in house purchase.

C. High employee turnover rate:

Amidst the characteristics of real estate agent services, real estate brokers are universally subject to long working hours, hard duties and heavy pressure in sales performances. As a natural result, they would show high employee turnover rate. Here at Sinyi Conglomerate, therefore, we must invest huge amounts of human resources and resources in soliciting newcomers. In response to such disadvantageous factor, we have set up sound mechanism to monitor, pre-alarm, reassess and improve an abnormal quitting rate. Since 2012, we have put into implementation thoroughly the mandatory vacation system for Sinyi teammates as a key policy. Meanwhile our branches are closed during the Chinese traditional New Year period and enjoy one-day holiday in the Dragon Boat Festival and Mid-Autumn Festival. With such a sound policy, we try to assure adequate leisure hours and balanced lifestyle between performance of duties and sound life. Meanwhile, we provided them with wholesome incentive and promotion systems. On a regular basis, we conduct approval-level questionnaires and improve their working environments. Moreover, we have introduced to the outsourced consultant policy known as “Employee Aid Program” (EAP). Toward the problems the Sinyi teammates might frequently face in routine life, duties and families, the outsourced experts will render handy guidance, consultation services and advice. From time to time on a nonscheduled basis, we monitor and reevaluate the performance of the systems. Thanks to such innovative efforts, the Sinyi teammates could take sound care of both performance of duties and balanced lifestyle toward the goal of “work amidst pleasure”. Under our sound efforts to screen/select newcomers and retain old-timers, we will have dedicated and high-caliber employees staying with us and cultivate more talented human resources.

In China, the market anticipation for tight policy measures boosted the housing prices and transaction volumes during the first three quarters of 2016. However, local governments came up with even stricter control measures starting in the fourth quarter and this severely damped the trading volumes. In Shanghai, the number of pre-owned properties changed hand went from the peak of 56,000 units in August 2016 to 11,000 units or so in January and February 2017. Given the decline in trading volumes and the challenging business, our sales personnel experienced adverse effects on the monthly number of transactions and the level of commission. In 2017, our subsidiary in China will recruit a sufficient number of salespeople, improve the development and supportive procedures for the branches, and prioritize on the increase of revenue per employee. We will also put in place a robust compensation system and pleasant work environment to boost the retention of new hires and reduce the turnover of staff in general.

D. Solicitation of multi-linguistic talents and the difficulty in such efforts

Over the past years, the Sinyi subsidiaries in Japan have grown at a stable pace but have got customer bases primarily confined to overseas Chinese there. In Japan, we have been subject to the restriction upon our efforts to expand service strongholds. We must hire employees amidst those who speak both Chinese and Japanese. Such human resources are hardly available in Japan. As a result, we have failed to boost service volumes in a significant scale. To cope with such problem of shortage in human resources, we shall try to solicit talented human resources in both Taiwan and Japan and, meanwhile, try to recommend talented teammates from Sinyi Conglomerate internally.

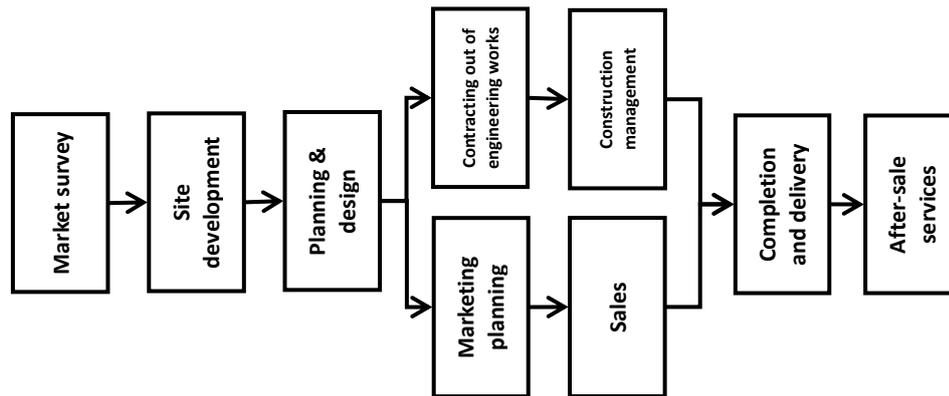

E. High land cost in China not conducive to property developments going forward

Our project development team in China focuses on the Shanghai market. However, the land auction prices have hit record highs time and again over recent years, due to a limited land inventory and the strong demand in Shanghai (a Tier 1 city). This means the land acquisition costs and the risks will be significantly higher for us in the future. Given the difficulty in the purchase of large lots for community-type products, we will take a cautious attitude in the evaluation of each development project.

(II) Major purposes and manufacturing process of key products:

Our company provide brokerage services for rentals and properties for sale. We do not involve in the manufacturing process of products. Our subsidiaries Sinyi Development Co., Ltd. (“Sinyi Development”) and Sinyi Real Estate (Shanghai) Limited (“Sinyi Real Estate (Shanghai)”) are engaged in the developer, letting and sale of real estates. Our properties are developed in the following process:

- i. Product utilization: residences, offices, homes and shops, etc. ◦
- ii. Workflow:

(III) Availability of major raw materials & materiel:

We are the broker between buyers and sellers of properties and we do not deal with the supply of raw materials. Our subsidiaries Sinyi Development and Sinyi Real Estate (Shanghai) are engaged in the developer, letting and sale of real estates. The supply of the inputs is as follows:

Key inputs	Details
Land supply	Taiwan: Our dedicated team has built a comprehensive network for site developments. We focus on Taipei City and New Taipei City, conduct market surveys and approach middlemen in different areas to explore the possibility of working together on suitable sites. We tend to own land and develop our own projects. However, we do not rule out the possibility of collaborating with land owners or participate in urban regeneration in order to expand pipelines. China: We participate in the tenders, auctions, allocations or negotiations for local governments to publicly release land sites. Regular market surveys are conducted by working with survey agencies, in order to investigate and understand the possible release of land by the city government. This ensures the completion of internal assessments and financial assumptions to determine the bidding prices, as soon as possible once the announcements are made. However, the Chinese government has recently tightened up the control over the property market, and released a very limited amount of land. Considering the soaring land prices over the past years, we are currently evaluating the possibility of property development in major cities of the Yangtze River Delta.
Engineering works and materials	Taiwan: Sinyi Development Inc. outsources the construction of engineering works and the procurement of materials to Japanese branded contractors with a long track record and good reputation, according to project scales and cost budgeting. Meanwhile, we send personnel to project sites to supervisor the quality of engineering works. China: Sinyi Real Estate (Shanghai) Limited hosts open tenders to invite qualified contractors for the undertaking of engineering works. Decorative assignments and material procurements are contracted out to professional vendors. We outsource a portion of material procurement but our subsidiaries Kunshan Dingxian Trading Co., Ltd. and Hua Yun Renovation (Shanghai) Co., Ltd. also handle part of the procurements.

V. Labor & Management Relationship

(I) Major existent worker-employer agreement and the facts of performance of worker-employer agreement:

1. Fringe benefits for employees:

(1) Fringe benefits in insurance:

Other than the mandatory labor insurance and labor pension provision, Sinyi has further acquired group insurance (in the insurance policies for life insurance, accident risk insurance and inpatient medical treatment insurance).

(2) Fringe benefits in health and security:

A. In Sinyi Conglomerate, all full-time regular employees are granted one Sinyi-sponsored health examination in every two years in full, and those full-time regular employees in the ages above 40 are granted one Sinyi-sponsored health examination in every year. At Sinyi management, we are extremely concerned about the results and findings in the health examination. Subject to contents from the employees, we take the initiative to help and urge an employee whose examination results indicate a sign of abnormality or extraordinary finding to receive follow-up treatment or observation to assure that all Sinyi employees are in sound health conditions. Within the website inside Sinyi, we have designed a “Health Management` System” zone to provide health management interfaces exclusively to employees to follow up their subsequent health fact findings, measuring records as perfect safeguarding of Sinyi employee health. Since 2011, we have provided psychological health checkup and retained outsourced consultant firms to provide individual reports through which all Sinyi employees may make sure of their mental health conditions. For employees who are found under mental pressures beyond the specified limits, our retained professional consults will take the initiative to invite them to accept individual consultation and help them soothe mental pressure.

- B. We have provided full-time health managerial advisors to assume the exclusive responsibility to help Sinyi employees improve their health related knowledge and know-how. Toward employees whose examination results indicate a sign of abnormality or extraordinary finding, our health managerial advisors will offer thoughtful services in arrangement and reminding of consultation for improvement and for follow-up rechecks. Toward all employees as well as their family members, we offer relevant consultations and arrangement for hospitals and medical treatment service institutions.
- C. We hire licensed blind massagists to render massage services to employees to help soothe pressure and to improve their physical and mental fitness. Through such a policy, we offer opportunities to the blind people.
- D. We implement health enhancement programs, notably the classes to help employees give up smoking, outpatient abstinence of cigarettes, nutrition management, weight control, physical fitness, pressure management, chronic disease seminars and a variety of health related seminars and such fitness improvement programs.
- E. In Taiwan, heart attacks rank among the top ten fatal diseases. Death incurred by a heart attack is very often caused by a sudden cardiac arrest. An electric shock is an effective means to help restore heartbeat. As indicated by literature, in a case of cardiac arrest, a first aid by means of an electric shock within one minute could successfully cure the patient up to 90%. The rate of success would come down by 7-10% in a delay for every minute. That means time is the top factor to a patient to beat the Death. Under such awareness, we have, therefore, installed Automated External Defibrillator (AED) at the public areas with people where the public could make use at the very moment of need. This could help bring down the death rates for patients before they reach a hospital. At the Sinyi Headquarters, we have just installed such Automated External Defibrillator (AED) and guided employees how to use in case of need.

- F. In both Sinyi home companies and subsidiaries, our staff members engaging in real estate agent services normally depend upon motorcycles as their key transportation. Toward newcomers, we arrange traffic safety video films to help them gain added know-how about traffic safety. For them, we have acquired inpatient and accident risks policies. Meanwhile, to help them ease up a potential responsibility when an employee causes a third party into injury when use of transportation, we further purchase third party liability insurance for Sinyi employees who ride motorcycles as added assurance for their carefree dedication to Sinyi.
- G. To help employees enhance their awareness against a disaster of fire or other accident and to prevent them from a potential accident resulting from nervousness, we have organized the self-guard fire teams and carried out anti-fire exercises on a regular basis.

(3) Fringe benefits in tourism:

In Sinyi, the Welfare Committee (Fringe Benefit Committee) budgets NT$3,000~ NT$5,000 for each and every employee every year as the subsidy to the respective departments to sponsor tourist programs. For salespeople and staff members with extraordinary performances, we offer incentives for overseas vacations every year.

(4) Fringe benefits in recreational activities:

On an annual basis, we sponsor softball competitions. All departments would organize their own softball teams to soothe pressure into fitness through the softball games. Such activities would further help cultivate centripetal consensus and team spirit of the entire teams. The Welfare Committee (Fringe Benefit Committee) further budgets NT$5,000 founding subsidy and NT$5,000 for every quarter. Through such programs, we encourage employees to engage in wholesome leisure activities and soothe pressure in their jobs and families.

(5) Fringe benefits in vacation leaves:

Following the requirements set forth under the Labor Standards Law, we grant employees regular monthly leave and special leave. On a regular basis, we provide statistical statements to the department heads to help them make sure of how employees use their vacation leaves. Through such a policy, we help employees well balance their jobs and life.

(6) Fringe benefits to support employees:

We have screened/selected qualified professional consultation houses outside to render individual consultation services for employees aiming at their career, family affairs, relationship with children, affection life, mental and physical pressure, legal and wealth management issues, to assure that all Sinyi employees will be perfect mental fitness.

(7) Fringe benefits on individual and family occasions:

All departments of Sinyi Conglomerate sponsor birthday parties from time to time on a nonscheduled basis every month. Toward employees whose birthdays fall within that month, we offer gift coupons. Toward employees who are in the events of wedding, funeral or hospitalization, a significant calamity, we offer mutual aid benefits in various amounts as the actual situations may justify.

(8) Fringe benefits on childbirth:

Amidst the shock of low fertility in Taiwan, we offer mutual aid fund in an amount of NT$3,000 to an employee in the first childbirth. Starting from 2013, where an employee gives birth to beyond a second child (inclusive) after he or she has served with Sinyi for one year in full, we offer NT$120,000 incentive money. The statistics indicate that as of December 31, 2016, a total of 290 Sinyi employees had received such incentive money. For such incentives, the paid amount is accumulated to be 34.8 million.

2. Higher educational & training programs for employees:

(1) Educational & training programs for employees:

We believe that people are the foundation of our industry, and the quality of people is the key to the prospect of the business. To ensure our colleagues of different levels can systematically develop and enhance competences, we plan for relevant curriculum for our personnel to develop the competences and knowledge required in different stages of their careers. These programs, including orientation for new hires, professional advancements and branch manager training, aim to assist our employees to continue learning and growing. Meanwhile, we regularly organize workshops throughout different regions for middle managers and senior executives so as to ensure our business ethics and transform into collective leadership. It is hoped that the periodical discussions, brainstorming sessions, practical drills and experience sharing can smooth our operations and strengthen our organization. Meanwhile, we believe that multiple ways of learning helps to develop talents. (2) Advanced studies for employees:

In addition to internal curriculum, our colleagues are also encouraged to take part in external training and education programs (e.g. postgraduate degrees and credits, language learning and other professional classes). The goal is to enhance our personnel's capability to acquire new knowledge to meet with our business requirements for diversification and future development. To support learning initiatives, we subsidize the external training for our employees. To ensure the learning effectiveness of the employees signing up external classes, we require the applicants to thoroughly evaluate the objectives and expected outcome of their education. They should also submit the completion certificate and learning reports within two weeks after the training. In the meantime, learning can be anytime and in any format. Those who access online learning resources can also apply for subsidies.

(3) Studies toward the social programs:

On a regular basis, we offer financial aids to employees in their studies on social programs in an attempt to encourage employees to learn and to co-share hands-on experiences accumulated in their fields.

3. Sound retirement system for employees:

Exactly in accordance with the requirements by laws and ordinances concerned, appropriate 6% of their monthly pays into the individual account opened with the Bureau of Labor Insurance for newly employees newly hired starting from July 1, 2005 and employees who have chosen new system Labor Pension Act. For the existent employees who continually choose the old pension system regulations and for the service seniority retained under the old system of employees who choose new pension regulations, we appropriate the pension reserve funds at the right amounts into the specially designated (earmarked) account in Bank of Taiwan based on the original criteria to calculate pension. Our pension system as of the end of 2016 is in compliance with the regulatory requirements and sufficient to cover the colleagues applicable to the previous system by the end of 2017. For Sinyi teammates assigned by the organizations to affiliated enterprises, we continue calculation of their service seniority to assure the purposes of sound interflow of human resources. For overseas subsidiaries, we ascertain the appropriation system. As an encouraging result, never have we run into a significant labor dispute. Besides, thanks to our sound and comprehensive fringe benefit system and channels for grievance, we anticipate an extremely low chance to see a labor dispute within a couple of years in the future. We are not supposed to run into such loss.

(III) Employee behavioral and ethic regulations:

For all business operation, all rights & obligations concerned for employees, Sinyi Conglomerate and its subsidiaries have expressly enacted sound regulations as the guiding rules (all such rules and regulations are classified into 27 categories, over three hundred articles in aggregate total) which have been made readily available toward the entire staff members. IV. The audited consolidated financial statements of the latest fiscal year and independent auditors' report

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

The Board of Directors and Shareholders
Sinyi Realty Inc.

We have audited the accompanying consolidated financial statements of Sinyi Realty Inc. and its subsidiaries (the "Group"), which comprise the consolidated balance sheets as of December 31, 2016 and 2015, and the consolidated statements of comprehensive income, changes in equity and cash flows for the years then ended, and the notes to the consolidated financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

In our opinion, the accompanying consolidated financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the consolidated financial position of the Group as of December 31, 2016 and 2015, and its consolidated financial performance and its consolidated cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers, and International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS), International Accounting Standards (IAS), IFRIC Interpretations (IFRIC), and SIC Interpretations (SIC) endorsed and issued into effect by the Financial Supervisory Commission of Taiwan, the Republic of China ("ROC").

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audits in accordance with the Regulations Governing Auditing and Attestation of Financial Statements by Certified Public Accountants and auditing standards generally accepted in ROC. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Group in accordance with The Norm of Professional Ethics for Certified Public Accountant of ROC, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2016. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the consolidated financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Key audit matters for the Group's consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2016 are stated as follows:

Service income earned from real-estate brokering

The Group's revenue mainly comes from service income. Refer to Note 4 to the accompanying consolidated financial statements for the details of the accounting policies of revenue recognition. Revenue from the rendering of services is recognized when all the conditions stipulated in the accounting policies are satisfied. When all the conditions are satisfied, the Group's accounting system will calculate service income automatically. Since the service income was computed by the system and the amount is significant to the consolidated financial statement, service income is identified as a key audit matter.

The Group's personnel will fill in the transaction form when real estate contracts or lease contracts have been signed by both counterparties. After being reviewed by the competent supervisor, the transaction form will be delivered to the Group's personnel to create an item file in the system. The system will calculate the service income by item files on a daily basis and generate an entry by batch.

We understood and tested the internal control for recognition of service income. We selected service income samples, which were computed by the system, and cross-checked whether the samples and contracts are the same. In order to verify accuracy of service income in the system, we recomputed service income and verified whether there was any significant differences in the amount. We also confirmed the dates on the contracts to make sure whether the timing of service income recognition is reasonable.

Accrual of performance bonus payables

The Group is mainly engaged in the operation of a real-estate brokerage business. The Group designed a bonus scheme in order to stimulate employee retention. As of December 31, 2016, the carrying amounts of performance bonus payables (including non-current liabilities) were NT$1,074,634 thousand, accounting for nearly 7% of the total liability. Because the amounts of performance bonus payables and non-current liabilities were considered significant to the consolidated financial statements, it has been identified as a key audit matter.

We focused on the adequacy of performance bonus payables at the balance sheet date. As stated in the preceding paragraph, we understood and tested the internal control for the performance bonus recognition. As for the evaluation of the accrual of performance bonus payables by management, we sampled from the major bonus records and understood the calculation criteria for the relevant bonuses awarded. We confirmed the basis of the calculation for each sample to verify whether they followed the Group's bonus scheme. We performed recalculations to test the accuracy of the performance bonus payables, and we assessed the reasonableness by reviewing the payments in the subsequent period.

Refer to Notes 5 and 23 to the consolidated financial statements for the details of the accrual of performance bonus payables.

Valuation of inventory

As of December 31, 2016, the carrying amount of inventory was NT$7,753,415 thousand. In order to evaluate the net realizable value of inventory, the Group will take into consideration reasonable estimations of future cash flows, changes in the overall economic environment, and effects of changes in related business regulations. The carrying amount of inventory was considered significant, and the evaluation of inventory's net realizable value is subject to management's judgment and has a significant level of uncertainty, which will impact the consolidated financial statements. Consequently, the valuation of inventory has been identified as a key audit matter.

We focused on the valuation of inventory at the balance sheets date, understood and assessed the reasonableness of management's assumptions made regarding the valuation as well as the methodology used in estimating the net realizable value of inventory. To test the accuracy of the valuation of inventory by management, we sampled the estimated selling price made by management while taking into consideration the market value less the estimated costs of completion and the estimated costs necessary to make the respective sales. We inspected the latest selling price and performed recalculations to verify the reasonableness of the valuation of inventory.

Refer to Notes 4, 5 and 11 to the consolidated financial statements for the details about the valuation of inventory.

Other Matter

We have also audited the parent company only financial statements of Sinyi Realty Inc. as of and for the years ended December 31, 2016 and 2015 on which we have issued an unmodified opinion.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Consolidated Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers, and IFRS, IAS, IFRIC and SIC endorsed and issued into effect by the ROC Financial Supervisory Commission, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of the consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the consolidated financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Group's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Group or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance, including the audit committee, are responsible for overseeing the Group's financial reporting process.

Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditors' report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the auditing standards generally accepted in ROC will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these consolidated financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with the auditing standards generally accepted in ROC, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

1. Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
2. Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Group's internal control.
3. Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
4. Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Group's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditors' report to the related disclosures in the consolidated financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditors' report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Group to cease to continue as a going concern.
5. Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the consolidated financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the consolidated financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
6. Obtain sufficient and appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of entities or business activities within the Group to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision, and performance of the group audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2016 and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditors' report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

The engagement partners on the audit resulting in this independent auditors' report are Wen-Yea Shyu and Kwan-Chung Lai.

Note 2: The amendment to IFRS 2 applies to share-based payment transactions with grant dates on or after July 1, 2014; the amendment to IFRS 3 applies to business combinations with acquisition dates on or after July 1, 2014; the amendment to IFRS 13 is effective immediately; the remaining amendments are effective for annual periods beginning on or after July 1, 2014.

Note 3: The amendment to IFRS 5 is applied prospectively to changes in a method of disposal that occurs in annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2016; the remaining amendments are effective for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2016.

The initial application in 2017 of the above IFRSs and related amendments to the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers would not have any material impact on the Group’s accounting policies, except for the following:

Amendments to the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers

The amendments include additions of several accounting items and requirements for disclosures of impairment of non-financial assets as a consequence of the IFRSs endorsed by the FSC for application starting from 2017. In addition, as a result of the post implementation review of IFRSs in Taiwan, the amendments also include emphasis on certain recognition and measurement considerations and add requirements for disclosures of related party transactions and goodwill.

The amendments stipulate that other companies or institutions, of which the chairman of the board of directors or president serves as the chairman of the board of directors or the president of the Group or is the spouse or second immediate family of the chairman of the board of directors or president of the Group, are deemed to have a substantive related party relationship, unless it can be demonstrated that no control, joint control, or significant influence exists. Furthermore, the amendments require the disclosure of the names of the related parties and the relationships with whom the Group has significant transactions. If the transactions or balance with a specific related party is 10% or more of the Group’s respective total transactions or balance, such transactions should be separately disclosed by the name of each related party.

The amendments also require additional disclosure if there is a significant difference between the actual operation after a business combination and the expected benefit on the acquisition date.

The disclosures of related party transactions and impairment of goodwill will be enhanced when the above amendments are retrospectively applied in 2017.

Except for the above impacts, as of the date the consolidated financial statements were authorized for issue, the Group continues assessing other possible impacts that application of the aforementioned amendments and the related amendments to the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers will have on the Group's financial position and financial performance and will disclose these other impacts when the assessment is completed.

b. New IFRSs in issue but not yet endorsed by the FSC

The Group has not applied the following IFRSs issued by the IASB but not yet endorsed by the FSC.

The FSC announced that IFRS 9 and IFRS 15 will take effect starting January 1, 2018. As of the date the consolidated financial statements were authorized for issue, the FSC has not announced the effective dates of other new IFRSs.

Note 1: Unless stated otherwise, the above New IFRSs are effective for annual periods beginning on or after their respective effective dates.

Note 2: The amendment to IFRS 12 is retrospectively applied for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2017; the amendment to IAS 28 is retrospectively applied for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2018.

The initial application of the above New IFRSs, whenever applied, would not have any material impact on the Group's accounting policies, except for the following:

1) IFRS 9 "Financial Instruments"

Recognition and measurement of financial assets

With regards to financial assets, all recognized financial assets that are within the scope of IAS 39 "Financial Instruments: Recognition and Measurement" are subsequently measured at amortized cost or fair value. Under IFRS 9, the requirement for the classification of financial assets is stated below.

For the Group's debt instruments that have contractual cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding, their classification and measurement are as follows:

- a) For debt instruments, if they are held within a business model whose objective is to collect the contractual cash flows, the financial assets are measured at amortized cost and are assessed for impairment continuously with impairment loss recognized in profit or loss, if any. Interest revenue is recognized in profit or loss by using the effective interest method;
- b) For debt instruments, if they are held within a business model whose objective is achieved by both the collecting of contractual cash flows and the selling of financial assets, the financial assets are measured at fair value through other comprehensive income (FVTOCI) and are assessed for impairment. Interest revenue is recognized in profit or loss by using the effective interest method, and other gains or losses shall be recognized in other comprehensive income, except for impairment gains or losses and foreign exchange gains and losses. When the debt instruments are derecognized or reclassified, the cumulative gain or loss previously recognized in other comprehensive income is reclassified from equity to profit or loss.

Except for the above, all other financial assets are measured at fair value through profit or loss. However, the Group may make an irrevocable election to present subsequent changes in the fair value of an equity investment (that is not held for trading) in other comprehensive income, with only dividend income generally recognized in profit or loss. No subsequent impairment assessment is required, and the cumulative gain or loss previously recognized in other comprehensive income cannot be reclassified from equity to profit or loss.

Impairment of financial assets

IFRS 9 requires impairment loss on financial assets to be recognized by using the expected credit loss model. The credit loss allowance is required for financial assets measured at amortized cost, financial assets mandatorily measured at FVTOCI, lease receivables, contract assets arising from IFRS 15 "Revenue from Contracts with Customers", certain written loan commitments and financial guarantee contracts. A loss allowance for the 12-month expected credit losses is required for a financial asset if its credit risk has not increased significantly since initial recognition. A loss allowance for full lifetime expected credit losses is required for a financial asset if its credit risk has increased significantly since initial recognition and is not low. However, a loss allowance for full lifetime expected credit losses is required for trade receivables that do not constitute a financing transaction.

For purchased or originated credit-impaired financial assets, the Group takes into account the expected credit losses on initial recognition in calculating the credit-adjusted effective interest rate. Subsequently, any changes in expected losses are recognized as a loss allowance with a corresponding gain or loss recognized in profit or loss.

Transition

Financial instruments that have been derecognized prior to the effective date of IFRS 9 cannot be reversed to apply IFRS 9 when it becomes effective. Under IFRS 9, the requirements for classification, measurement and impairment of financial assets are applied retrospectively with the difference between the previous carrying amount and the carrying amount at the date of initial application recognized in the current period, and restatement of prior periods is not required. The requirements for general hedge accounting shall be applied prospectively, and the accounting for hedging options shall be applied retrospectively.

2) IFRS 15 “Revenue from Contracts with Customers” and the related amendment

IFRS 15 establishes principles for recognizing revenue that apply to all contracts with customers, and will supersede IAS 18 “Revenue”, IAS 11 “Construction Contracts” and a number of revenue-related interpretations from January 1, 2018.

When applying IFRS 15, an entity shall recognize revenue by applying the following steps:

- Identify the contract with the customer;
- Identify the performance obligations in the contract;
- Determine the transaction price;
- Allocate the transaction price to the performance obligations in the contract; and
- Recognize revenue when the entity satisfies a performance obligation.

Incremental costs of obtaining a contract will be recognized as an asset to the extent the Group expects to recover those costs. Such asset will be amortized on a basis that is consistent with the transfer to the customer of the goods or services to which the asset relates. This will lead to the later recognition of charges for certain customer-obtaining costs.

When IFRS 15 and the related amendment are effective, an entity may elect to apply this Standard either retrospectively to each prior reporting period presented or retrospectively with the cumulative effect of initially applying this Standard recognized at the date of initial application.

3) IFRS 16 “Leases”

IFRS 16 sets out the accounting standards for leases that will supersede IAS 17 and a number of related interpretations.

Under IFRS 16, if the Group is a lessee, it shall recognize right-of-use assets and lease liabilities for all leases on the consolidated balance sheets except for low-value and short-term leases. The Group may elect to apply the accounting method similar to the accounting for operating lease under IAS 17 to the low-value and short-term leases. On the consolidated statements of comprehensive income, the Group should present the depreciation expense charged on the right-of-use asset separately from the interest expense accrued on the lease liability; interest is computed by using the effective interest method. On the consolidated statements of cash flows, cash payments for the principal portion of the lease liability are classified within financing activities; cash payments for the interest portion are classified within operating activities.

The application of IFRS 16 is not expected to have a material impact on the accounting of the Group as lessor.

When IFRS 16 becomes effective, the Group may elect to apply this Standard either retrospectively to each prior reporting period presented or retrospectively with the cumulative effect of the initial application of this Standard recognized at the date of initial application.

4) Amendments to IAS 40 “Transfers of Investment Property”

The amendments clarify that the Group should transfer to, or from, investment property when, and only when, the property meets, or ceases to meet, the definition of investment property and there is evidence of the change in use. In isolation, a change in management’s intentions for the use of a property does not provide evidence of a change in use. The amendments also clarify that the evidence of the change in use is not limited to those illustrated in IAS 40.

The Group may elect to apply the amendments prospectively and reclassify the property as required to reflect the conditions that exist at the date of initial application. The Group is also required to disclose the reclassified amounts and such amounts should be included in the reconciliation of the carrying amount of investment property. Alternatively, the Group may elect to apply the amendments retrospectively if, and only if, that is possible without the use of hindsight.

5) IFRIC 22 “Foreign Currency Transactions and Advance Consideration”

IAS 21 stipulated that a foreign currency transaction shall be recorded on initial recognition in the functional currency by applying to the foreign currency amount the spot exchange rate between the functional currency and the foreign currency at the date of the transaction. IFRIC 22 further explains that the date of the transaction is the date on which an entity recognizes a non-monetary asset or non-monetary liability from payment or receipt of advance consideration. If there are multiple payments or receipts in advance, the entity shall determine the date of the transaction for each payment or receipt of advance consideration.

The Group shall apply IFRIC 22 either retrospectively or prospectively to all assets, expenses and income in the scope of the Interpretation initially recognized on or after (a) the beginning of the reporting period in which the entity first applies IFRIC 22, or (b) the beginning of a prior reporting period presented as comparative information in the financial statements of the reporting period in which the entity first applies IFRIC 22.

Except for the above impact, as of the date the consolidated financial statements were authorized for issue, the Group is continuously assessing the possible impact that the application of other standards and interpretations will have on the Group’s financial position and financial performance, and will disclose the relevant impact when the assessment is completed.

4. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

a. Statement of compliance

The consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers and IFRSs as endorsed and issued into effect by the FSC.

b. Basis of preparation

The consolidated financial statements have been prepared on the historical cost basis except for financial instruments which are measured at fair value.

The fair value measurements are grouped into Levels 1 to 3 based on the degree to which the fair value measurement inputs are observable and the significance of the inputs to the fair value measurement in its entirety, which are described as follows:

- 1) Level 1 inputs are quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities;

- 2) Level 2 inputs are inputs other than quoted prices included within Level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly (i.e. as prices) or indirectly (i.e. derived from prices); and
 - 3) Level 3 inputs are unobservable inputs for the asset or liability.
- c. Classification of current and non-current assets and liabilities

Current assets include:

- 1) Assets held primarily for the purpose of trading;
- 2) Assets expected to be realized within twelve months after the reporting period; and
- 3) Cash and cash equivalents unless the asset is restricted from being exchanged or used to settle a liability for at least twelve months after the reporting period.

Current liabilities include:

- 1) Liabilities held primarily for the purpose of trading;
- 2) Liabilities due to be settled within twelve months after the reporting period, even if an agreement to refinance, or to reschedule payments, on a long-term basis is completed after the reporting period and before the consolidated financial statements are authorized for issue; and
- 3) Liabilities for which the Group does not have an unconditional right to defer settlement for at least twelve months after the reporting period. Terms of a liability that could, at the option of the counterparty, result in its settlement by the issue of equity instruments do not affect its classification.

Assets and liabilities that are not classified as current are classified as non-current.

The Group engages in the construction business, which has an operating cycle of over one year; the normal operating cycle of over one year is observed when considering the classification of the Group's construction-related assets and liabilities.

d. Basis of consolidation

The consolidated financial statements incorporate the financial statements of the Company and the entities controlled by the Company (i.e. its subsidiaries).

Income and expenses of subsidiaries acquired or disposed of during the period are included in the consolidated statement of profit or loss and other comprehensive income from the effective date of acquisition up to the effective date of disposal, as appropriate.

When necessary, adjustments are made to the financial statements of subsidiaries to bring their accounting policies into line with those used by the Company.

All intra-group transactions, balances, income and expenses are eliminated in full upon consolidation. Total comprehensive income of subsidiaries is attributed to the owners of the Company and to the non-controlling interests even if this results in the non-controlling interests having a deficit balance.

Changes in the Group's ownership interests in subsidiaries that do not result in the Group losing control over the subsidiaries are accounted for as equity transactions. The carrying amounts of the Group's interests and the non-controlling interests are adjusted to reflect the changes in their relative interests in the subsidiaries. Any difference between the amount by which the non-controlling interests are adjusted and the fair value of the consideration paid or received is recognized directly in equity and attributed to the owners of the Company.

See Note 13, Tables 7 and 8 following the Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements for the detailed information of subsidiaries (including the percentage of ownership and main business).

e. Business combinations

Acquisitions of businesses are accounted for using the acquisition method. Acquisition-related costs are generally recognized in profit or loss as incurred.

Goodwill is measured as the excess of the sum of the consideration transferred and the fair value of the acquirer's previously held equity interest in the acquiree over the net of the acquisition-date amounts of the identifiable assets acquired and the liabilities assumed.

f. Foreign currencies

In preparing the financial statements of each individual group entity, transactions in currencies other than the entity's functional currency (foreign currencies) are recognized at the rates of exchange prevailing at the dates of the transactions.

At the end of each reporting period, monetary items denominated in foreign currencies are retranslated at the rates prevailing at that date. Exchange differences on monetary items arising from settlement or translation are recognized in profit or loss in the period in which they arise.

Non-monetary items measured at fair value that are denominated in foreign currencies are retranslated at the rates prevailing at the date when the fair value was determined. Exchange differences arising on the retranslation of non-monetary items are included in profit or loss for the period except for exchange differences arising from the retranslation of non-monetary items in respect of which gains and losses are recognized directly in other comprehensive income, in which case, the exchange differences are also recognized directly in other comprehensive income.

Non-monetary items that are measured at historical cost in a foreign currency are not retranslated.

For the purpose of presenting consolidated financial statements, the functional currencies of the Company and the group entities (including subsidiaries and associates) are translated into the presentation currency – the New Taiwan dollars as follows: Assets and liabilities are translated at the exchange rates prevailing at the end of the reporting period; income and expense items are translated at the average exchange rates for the period. The resulting currency translation differences are recognized in other comprehensive income (attributed to the owners of the Company and non-controlling interests as appropriate).

On the disposal of a foreign operation (i.e. a disposal of the Company's entire interest in a foreign operation, or a disposal involving loss of control over a subsidiary that includes a foreign operation, or a partial disposal of an interest in a joint arrangement or an associate that includes a foreign operation of which the retained interest becomes a financial asset), all of the exchange differences accumulated in equity in respect of that operation attributable to the owners of the Company are reclassified to profit or loss.

In relation to a partial disposal of a subsidiary that does not result in the Company losing control over the subsidiary, the proportionate share of accumulated exchange differences (is re-attributed to non-controlling interests of the subsidiary and/is included in the calculation of equity transactions but) is not recognized in profit or loss. For all other partial disposals, the proportionate share of the accumulated exchange differences recognized in other comprehensive income is reclassified to profit or loss.

g. Inventories

Inventories consist of properties under development, undeveloped properties and merchandise. Inventories are stated at the lower of cost or net realizable value. Inventory write-downs are made by item, except where it may be appropriate to group similar or related items. Net realizable value is the estimated selling price of inventories less all estimated costs of completion and costs necessary to make the sale.

The properties to be developed refer to the land use rights which will be reclassified as construction in process at the start of the construction of the properties.

Before acquiring land use right and before completing the construction, the interest incurred on land payment and the actual construction cost are capitalized as cost of land use right and as development costs, respectively.

h. Investments in associates

An associate is an entity over which the Group has significant influence and that is not a subsidiary.

The Group uses the equity method to account for its investments in associates.

Under the equity method, investments in an associate is initially recognized at cost and adjusted thereafter to recognize the Group's share of the profit or loss and other comprehensive income of the associate and joint venture. The Group also recognizes the changes in the Group's share of equity of associates attributable to the Group.

Any excess of the cost of acquisition over the Group's share of the net fair value of the identifiable assets and liabilities of an associate at the date of acquisition is recognized as goodwill, which is included within the carrying amount of the investment and is not amortized. Any excess of the Group's share of the net fair value of the identifiable assets and liabilities over the cost of acquisition, after reassessment, is recognized immediately in profit or loss.

When the Group subscribes for additional new shares of the associate and joint venture at a percentage different from its existing ownership percentage, the resulting carrying amount of the investment differs from the amount of the Group's proportionate interest in the associate and joint venture. The Group records such a difference as an adjustment to investments with the corresponding amount charged or credited to capital surplus - changes in the Group's share of equity of associates and joint ventures. If the Group's ownership interest is reduced due to the additional subscription of the new shares of associate and joint venture, the proportionate amount of the gains or losses previously recognized in other comprehensive income in relation to that associate and joint venture is reclassified to profit or loss on the same basis as would be required if the investee had directly disposed of the related assets or liabilities. When the adjustment should be debited to capital surplus, but the capital surplus recognized from investments accounted for by the equity method is insufficient, the shortage is debited to retained earnings.

i. Property, plant and equipment

Property, plant and equipment are stated at cost, less recognized accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment loss.

Property, plant and equipment in the course of construction are carried at cost, less any recognized impairment loss. Cost includes professional fees and borrowing costs eligible for capitalization. Such assets are depreciated and classified to the appropriate categories of property, plant and equipment when completed and ready for intended use.

Depreciation of property, plant and equipment is recognized using the straight-line method. Each significant part is depreciated separately. If the lease term is shorter than the useful lives, assets are depreciated over the lease term. The estimated useful lives, residual values and depreciation method are reviewed at the end of each reporting period, with the effect of any changes in estimate accounted for on a prospective basis.

On derecognition of an item of property, plant and equipment, the difference between the sales proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset is recognized in profit or loss.

j. Investment properties

Investment properties are properties held to earn rentals and/or for capital appreciation. Investment properties also include land held for a currently undetermined future use.

Investment properties are measured initially at cost, including transaction costs. Subsequent to initial recognition, investment properties are measured at cost less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment loss. Depreciation is recognized using the straight-line method.

On derecognition of an investment property, the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset is included in profit or loss.

k. Goodwill

Goodwill arising from the acquisition of a business is carried at cost as established at the date of acquisition of the business less accumulated impairment loss.

For the purposes of impairment testing, goodwill is allocated to each of the Group's cash-generating units or groups of cash-generating units (referred to as cash-generating units) that is expected to benefit from the synergies of the combination.

A cash-generating unit to which goodwill has been allocated is tested for impairment annually, or more frequently when there is an indication that the unit may be impaired, by comparing its carrying amount, including the attributed goodwill, with its recoverable amount. If the goodwill allocated to a cash-generating unit was acquired in a business combination during the current annual period, that unit shall be tested for impairment before the end of the current annual period. If the recoverable amount of the cash-generating unit is less than its carrying amount, the impairment loss is allocated first to reduce the carrying amount of any goodwill allocated to the unit and then to the other assets of the unit pro rata based on the carrying amount of each asset in the unit. Any impairment loss is recognized directly in profit or loss. An impairment loss recognized for goodwill is not reversed in subsequent periods.

If goodwill has been allocated to a cash-generating unit and the entity disposes of an operation within that unit, the goodwill associated with the operation disposed of is included in the carrying amount of the operation when determining the gain or loss on disposal.

l. Intangible assets

1) Intangible assets acquired separately

Intangible assets with finite useful lives that are acquired separately are initially measured at cost and subsequently measured at cost less accumulated amortization and accumulated impairment loss. Amortization is recognized on a straight-line basis. The estimated useful life, residual value, and amortization method are reviewed at the end of each reporting period, with the effect of any changes in estimate accounted for on a prospective basis. Intangible assets with indefinite useful lives that are acquired separately are measured at cost less accumulated impairment loss.

2) Intangible assets acquired in a business combination

Intangible assets acquired in a business combination and recognized separately from goodwill are initially recognized at their fair value at the acquisition date (which is regarded as their cost). Subsequent to initial recognition, they are measured on the same basis as intangible assets that are acquired separately.

3) Derecognition of intangible assets

On derecognition of an intangible asset, the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset is recognized in profit or loss.

m. Impairment of tangible and intangible assets other than goodwill

At the end of each reporting period, the Group reviews the carrying amounts of its tangible and intangible assets, excluding goodwill, to determine whether there is any indication that those assets have suffered an impairment loss. If any such indication exists, the recoverable amount of the asset is estimated in order to determine the extent of the impairment loss. When it is not possible to estimate the recoverable amount of an individual asset, the Group estimates the recoverable amount of the cash-generating unit to which the asset belongs. Corporate assets are allocated to the individual cash-generating units on a reasonable and consistent basis of allocation.

Intangible assets with indefinite useful lives and intangible assets not yet available for use are tested for impairment at least annually, and whenever there is an indication that the asset may be impaired.

Recoverable amount is the higher of fair value less costs to sell and value in use. If the recoverable amount of an asset or cash-generating unit is estimated to be less than its carrying amount, the carrying amount of the asset or cash-generating unit is reduced to its recoverable amount, with the resulting impairment loss recognized in profit or loss.

When an impairment loss is subsequently reversed, the carrying amount of the asset or cash-generating unit is increased to the revised estimate of its recoverable amount, but only to the extent of the carrying amount that would have been determined had no impairment loss been recognized for the asset or cash-generating unit in prior years. A reversal of an impairment loss is recognized in profit or loss.

n. Financial instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are recognized when a group entity becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instruments.

Financial assets and financial liabilities are initially measured at fair value. Transaction costs that are directly attributable to the acquisition or issue of financial assets and financial liabilities (other than financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss) are added to or deducted from the fair value of the financial assets or financial liabilities, as appropriate, on initial recognition. Transaction costs directly attributable to the acquisition of financial assets or financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are recognized immediately in profit or loss.

1) Financial assets

All regular way purchases or sales of financial assets are recognized and derecognized on a trade date basis.

a) Measurement category

Financial assets are classified into the following categories: Financial assets at fair value through profit or loss, available-for-sale financial assets, and loans and receivables.

i. Financial assets at fair value through profit or loss

Financial assets are classified as at fair value through profit or loss when the financial asset is either held for trading or it is designated as at fair value through profit or loss.

Financial assets at fair value through profit or loss are stated at fair value, with any gains or losses arising on remeasurement recognized in profit or loss.

Investments in equity instruments under financial assets at fair value through profit or loss that do not have a quoted market price in an active market and whose fair value cannot be reliably measured and derivatives that are linked to and must be settled by delivery of such unquoted equity instruments are subsequently measured at cost less any identified impairment loss at the end of each reporting period and are presented in a separate line item as financial assets carried at cost. If, in a subsequent period, the fair value of the financial assets can be reliably measured, the financial assets are remeasured at fair value. The difference between the carrying amount and the fair value is recognized in profit or loss.

ii. Available-for-sale financial assets

Available-for-sale financial assets are non-derivatives that are either designated as available-for-sale or are not classified as loans and receivables, held-to-maturity investments or financial assets at fair value through profit or loss.

Available-for-sale financial assets are measured at fair value. Changes in the carrying amount of available-for-sale monetary financial assets relating to changes in foreign currency exchange rates, interest income calculated using the effective interest method and dividends on available-for-sale equity investments are recognized in profit or loss. Other changes in the carrying amount of available-for-sale financial assets are recognized in other comprehensive income and will be reclassified to profit or loss when the investment is disposed of or is determined to be impaired.

Dividends on available-for-sale equity instruments are recognized in profit or loss when the Group's right to receive the dividends is established.

Available-for-sale equity investments that do not have a quoted market price in an active market and whose fair value cannot be reliably measured and derivatives that are linked to and must be settled by delivery of such unquoted equity investments are measured at cost less any identified impairment loss at the end of each reporting period and are presented in a separate line item as financial assets carried at cost. If, in a subsequent period, the fair value of the financial assets can be reliably measured, the financial assets are remeasured at fair value. The difference between carrying amount and fair value is recognized in other comprehensive income on financial assets. Any impairment losses are recognized in profit and loss.

iii. Loans and receivables

Loans and receivables (including trade receivables, cash and cash equivalent, other receivables and other financial asset - current are measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method, less any impairment, except for short-term receivables when the effect of discounting is immaterial.

Cash equivalent includes time deposits with original maturities within three months from the date of acquisition, highly liquid, readily convertible to a known amount of cash and be subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value. These cash equivalents are held for the purpose of meeting short-term cash commitments.

b) Impairment of financial assets

Financial assets, other than those at fair value through profit or loss, are assessed for indicators of impairment at the end of each reporting period. Financial assets are considered to be impaired when there is objective evidence that, as a result of one or more events that occurred after the initial recognition of the financial asset, the estimated future cash flows of the investment have been affected.

For financial assets carried at amortized cost, such as trade receivables and other receivables are assessed for impairment on a collective basis even if they were assessed not to be impaired individually. Objective evidence of impairment for a portfolio of receivables could include the Group's past experience of collecting payments, as well as observable changes in national or local economic conditions that correlate with default on receivables.

For financial assets carried at amortized cost, the amount of the impairment loss recognized is the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the present value of estimated future cash flows, discounted at the financial asset's original effective interest rate.

For financial assets measured at amortized cost, if, in a subsequent period, the amount of the impairment loss decreases and the decrease can be related objectively to an event occurring after the impairment was recognized, the previously recognized impairment loss is reversed through profit or loss to the extent that the carrying amount of the investment at the date the impairment is reversed does not exceed what the amortized cost would have been had the impairment not been recognized.

For available-for-sale equity investments, a significant or prolonged decline in the fair value of the security below its cost is considered to be objective evidence of impairment.

For all other financial assets, objective evidence of impairment could include significant financial difficulty of the issuer or counterparty, breach of contract, such as a default or delinquency in interest or principal payments, it becoming probable that the borrower will enter bankruptcy or financial re-organization, or the disappearance of an active market for that financial asset because of financial difficulties.

When an available-for-sale financial asset is considered to be impaired, cumulative gains or losses previously recognized in other comprehensive income are reclassified to profit or loss in the period.

In respect of available-for-sale equity securities, impairment loss previously recognized in profit or loss are not reversed through profit or loss. Any increase in fair value subsequent to an impairment loss is recognized in other comprehensive income. In respect of available-for-sale debt securities, the impairment loss is subsequently reversed through profit or loss if an increase in the fair value of the investment can be objectively related to an event occurring after the recognition of the impairment loss.

For financial assets that are carried at cost, the amount of the impairment loss is measured as the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the present value of the estimated future cash flows discounted at the current market rate of return for a similar financial asset. Such impairment loss will not be reversed in subsequent periods.

The carrying amount of the financial asset is reduced by the impairment loss directly for all financial assets with the exception of trade receivables and other receivables where the carrying amount is reduced through the use of an allowance account. When a trade receivable and other receivables are considered uncollectible, it is written off against the allowance account. Subsequent recoveries of amounts previously written off are credited against the allowance account. Changes in the carrying amount of the allowance account are recognized in profit or loss except for uncollectible trade receivables and other receivables that are written off against the allowance account.

c) Derecognition of financial assets

The Group derecognizes a financial asset only when the contractual rights to the cash flows from the asset expire, or when it transfers the financial asset and substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of the asset to another party.

On derecognition of a financial asset in its entirety, the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the sum of the consideration received and receivable and the cumulative gain or loss that had been recognized in other comprehensive income is recognized in profit or loss.

2) Financial liabilities

a) Subsequent measurement

All the financial liabilities are measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method.

b) Derecognition of financial liabilities

The difference between the carrying amount of the financial liability derecognized and the consideration paid, including any non-cash assets transferred or liabilities assumed, is recognized in profit or loss.

o. Provisions

Provisions are recognized when the Group has a present obligation (legal or constructive) as a result of a past event, it is probable that the Group will be required to settle the obligation, and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation.

Provisions are measured at the best estimate of the consideration required to settle the present obligation at the end of the reporting period, taking into account the risks and uncertainties surrounding the obligation. When a provision is measured using the cash flows estimated to settle the present obligation, its carrying amount is the present value of those cash flows (where the effect of the time value of money is material).

When some or all of the economic benefits required to settle a provision are expected to be recovered from a third party, a receivable is recognized as an asset if it is virtually certain that reimbursement will be received and the amount of the receivable can be measured reliably.

Provisions for service revenue discount are measured and recognized at the end of the reporting period based on the actual experience and possibility of discount occurrence.

p. Revenue recognition

Revenue is measured at the fair value of the consideration received or receivable. Revenue is reduced for estimated customer rebates and other similar allowances.

1) Rendering of services

Service revenue from real-estate brokerage business is recognized when services are provided.

Revenue from the rendering of services is recognized when all the following conditions are satisfied:

- a) The amount of revenue can be measured reliably;
- b) It is probable that the economic benefits associated with the transaction will flow to the Company;
- c) The degree of completion of transaction can be measured reliably at the end of the reporting period; and
- d) The costs incurred or to be incurred in respect of the transaction can be measured reliably.

2) Sale of goods

Revenue from the sale of goods is recognized when the goods are delivered and titles have passed, at which time all the following conditions are satisfied:

- a) The Group has transferred to the buyer the significant risks and rewards of ownership of the goods;
- b) The Group retains neither continuing managerial involvement to the degree usually associated with ownership nor effective control over the goods sold;
- c) The amount of revenue can be measured reliably;
- d) It is probable that the economic benefits associated with the transaction will flow to the Group; and
- e) The costs incurred or to be incurred in respect of the transaction can be measured reliably.

Revenue from the sale of properties is recognized when construction is complete, rewards of ownership of the properties are transferred to buyers, and collectability of the related receivables is reasonably assured. Deposits in and installment payments from sales of properties are recorded in the consolidated balance sheets under current liabilities.

3) Dividend and interest income

Dividend income from investments is recognized when the shareholder's right to receive payment has been established provided that it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the Company and the amount of income can be measured reliably.

Interest income from a financial asset is recognized when it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the Company and the amount of income can be measured reliably. Interest income is accrued on a time basis, by reference to the principal outstanding and at the effective interest rate applicable.

q. Leasing

Leases are classified as finance leases whenever the terms of the lease transfer substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership to the lessee. All other leases are classified as operating leases.

All of the Company's lease contracts are operating leases. Rental income and expense from operating leases are recognized as rental revenue and operating expense, respectively, on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

r. Borrowing costs

Borrowing costs directly attributable to the acquisition, construction or production of qualifying assets are added to the cost of those assets, until such time as the assets are substantially ready for their intended use or sale.

Investment income earned on the temporary investment of specific borrowings pending their expenditure on qualifying assets is deducted from the borrowing costs eligible for capitalization.

Other than stated above, all other borrowing costs are recognized in profit or loss in the period in which they are incurred.

s. Employee benefits

1) Short-term employee benefits

Liabilities recognized in respect of short-term employee benefits are measured at the undiscounted amount of the benefits expected to be paid in exchange for the related service.

2) Retirement benefits

Payments to defined contribution retirement benefit plans are recognized as an expense when employees have rendered service entitling them to the contributions.

Defined benefit costs (including service cost, net interest and remeasurement) under the defined benefit retirement benefit plans are determined using the projected unit credit method. Service cost and net interest on the net defined benefit liability (asset) are recognized as employee benefits expense in the period they occur. Remeasurement (comprising actuarial gains and losses, effect of changes to the asset ceiling and return on plan assets excluding interest) is recognized in other comprehensive income in the period in which they occur. Remeasurement recognized in other comprehensive income is reflected immediately in retained earnings and will not be reclassified to profit or loss.

Net defined benefit liability (asset) represents the actual deficit (surplus) in the Group's defined benefit plan. Any surplus resulting from this calculation is limited to the present value of any refunds from the plans or reductions in future contributions to the plans.

3) Other long-term employee benefits

Other long-term employee benefits are accounted for in the same way as the accounting required for defined benefit plan except that remeasurement is recognized in profit or loss.

t. Taxation

Income tax expense represents the sum of the tax currently payable and deferred tax.

1) Current tax

According to the Income Tax Law, an additional tax at 10% of unappropriated earnings is provided for as income tax in the year the shareholders approve to retain the earnings.

Adjustments of prior years' tax liabilities are added to or deducted from the current year's tax provision.

2) Deferred tax

Deferred tax is recognized on temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities in the consolidated financial statements and the corresponding tax bases used in the computation of taxable profit. Deferred tax liabilities are generally recognized for all taxable temporary differences. Deferred tax assets are generally recognized for all deductible temporary differences, unused loss carry forward and unused tax credits for purchases of machinery, equipment and technology, research and development expenditures, and personnel training expenditures to the extent that it is probable that taxable profits will be available against which those deductible temporary differences can be utilized. Such deferred tax assets and liabilities are not recognized if the temporary difference arises from the initial recognition of other assets and liabilities in a transaction that affects neither the taxable profit nor the accounting profit.

Deferred tax liabilities are recognized for taxable temporary differences associated with investments in subsidiaries and associates, except where the Company is able to control the reversal of the temporary difference and it is probable that the temporary difference will not reverse in the foreseeable future. Deferred tax assets arising from deductible temporary differences associated with such investments and interests are only recognized to the extent that it is probable that there will be sufficient taxable profits against which to utilize the benefits of the temporary differences and they are expected to reverse in the foreseeable future.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at the end of each reporting period and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profits will be available to allow all or part of the asset to be recovered. A previously unrecognized deferred tax asset is also reviewed at the end of each reporting period and recognized to the extent that it has become probable that future taxable profit will allow the deferred tax asset to be recovered.

Deferred tax liabilities and assets are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply in the period in which the liability is settled or the asset realized, based on tax rates (and tax laws) that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the end of the reporting period. The measurement of deferred tax liabilities and assets reflects the tax consequences that would follow from the manner in which the Company expects, at the end of the reporting period, to recover or settle the carrying amount of its assets and liabilities.

3) Current and deferred tax for the year

Current and deferred tax are recognized in profit or loss, except when they relate to items that are recognized in other comprehensive income or directly in equity, in which case, the current and deferred tax are also recognized in other comprehensive income or directly in equity respectively. Where current tax or deferred tax arises from the initial accounting for a business combination, the tax effect is included in the accounting for the business combination.

5. CRITICAL ACCOUNTING JUDGMENTS AND KEY SOURCES OF ESTIMATION UNCERTAINTY

In the application of the Group's accounting policies, management is required to make judgments, estimates and assumptions about the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources. The estimates and associated assumptions are based on historical experience and other factors that are considered relevant. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

The estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognized in the period in which the estimate is revised if the revision affects only that period or in the period of the revision and future periods if the revision affects both current and future periods.

a. Estimated impairment of trade receivables

When there is objective evidence of impairment loss, the Group takes into consideration the estimation of future cash flows. The amount of the impairment loss is measured as the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the present value of estimated future cash flows (excluding future credit losses that have not been incurred) discounted at the financial asset's original effective interest rate. Where the actual future cash flows are less than expected, a material impairment loss may arise.

b. Impairment of tangible and intangible assets other than goodwill

The Group measures the useful life of individual assets and the probable future economic benefits in a specific asset group, which depends on subjective judgment, asset characteristics and industry, during the impairment testing process. Any change in accounting estimates due to economic circumstances and business strategies might cause material impairment in the future.

c. Provisions

Provisions for service revenue discount are measured and recognized at the end of reporting period based on actual experience and possibility of discount occurrence. Provisions for operating loss are measured and recognized on the basis of evaluation of the escrow service and brokerage service provided, historical experience and pertinent factors.

d. Evaluation of performance bonus payables

Revenue from the rendering of services is recognized when all the conditions (see Note 4) are satisfied. Performance bonus payables are recognized considering whether the criteria of sales performance reached and the performance standards under the bonus rules met. The Group will regularly review the rationality of the evaluation of performance bonus payables.

e. Recognition and measurement of defined benefit plan

Net defined benefit liabilities (assets) and the resulting defined benefit costs under defined benefit pension plan are calculated using the Projected Unit Credit Method. Actuarial assumptions comprise the discount rate, rate of employee turnover, and future salary increase, etc. Changes in economic circumstances and market conditions will affect these assumptions and may have a material impact on the amount of the expense and the liability.

f. Write-down of inventory

Inventories are stated at the lower of cost or net realizable value. Net realizable value of inventory is the estimated selling price made by the Group taking into consideration market value less the estimated costs of completion and the estimated costs necessary to make the sale. In the valuation process, the Group also makes reference to an independent valuation based on a market value assessment. If market condition changes, the Group will change the estimate of net realizable value of inventory accordingly, that may result in an increase or decrease in value of inventories.

6. CASH AND CASH EQUIVALENTS

	December 31
	2016	2015

	$ 3,512,457	$ 3,437,772

The interest rates of cash in bank at the end of the reporting period were as follows:

	December 31
	2016	2015
Interest rates range	0%-3.80%	0%-4.10%

As of December 31, 2016 and 2015, the carrying amounts of time deposits with original maturities more than three months were $108,470 thousand and $401,695 thousand, respectively, which were classified as other financial assets - current (Note 12).

Overseas unlisted ordinary shares	156,296	168,693
	$ 207,335	$ 252,322

Management believed that the fair value of the above unlisted equity investments held by the Group cannot be reliably measured due to the wide range of reasonable fair value estimates; therefore, they were measured at cost less impairment at the end of reporting period.

During the years ended December 31, 2016 and 2015, impairment losses that resulted from the permanent decline in the carrying value of investments were $0 thousand and $3,662 thousand, respectively.

a. Trade receivables

The average credit period for rendering of services was 30 to 60 days. No interest was charged on trade receivables. The provision of allowance for trade receivables from real estate brokerage service revenue was estimated based on historical experience. Allowance for impairment loss was recognized against trade receivables based on aging analysis, historical experience and an analysis of clients' current financial position. In determining the recoverability of a trade receivable, the Group considered any change in the credit quality of the trade receivable since the date credit was initially granted to the end of the reporting period.

The concentration risk of credit was limited due to the fact that the customer base was large and customers were unrelated.

For some trade receivables (see below for aging analysis) that were past due at the end of the reporting period, the Group did not recognize an allowance for impairment loss because there was no significant change in credit quality and the amounts were considered recoverable.

Aging analysis of receivables was as follows:

	December 31
	2016	2015
0-60 days	$ 662,460	$ 592,384
61-90 days	52,589	32,641
91-180 days	64,687	21,589
181-360 days	16,063	25,142
Over 360 days	20,375	25,645
	$ 816,174	$ 697,401

The above analysis was based on the billing date.

Aging analysis of receivables that were past due but not impaired was as follows:

	December 31
	2016	2015
61-90 days	$ 11,261	$ 13,455
91-180 days	11,924	3,491

Over 360 days	2,126	15,025
	$ 27,225	$ 39,801

The above analysis was based on the billing date.

Movements of the allowance for impairment loss recognized on trade receivables and other receivables were as follows:

	2016		2015
	Trade Receivables	Other Receivables	Trade Receivables	Other Receivables
Balance at January 1	$ 12,844	$ 2,848	$ 28,262	$ 3,271

25. RETIREMENT BENEFIT PLANS

- a. Defined contribution plans

The pension plan under the Labor Pension Act (the "LPA") is a defined contribution plan. Based on the LPA, the Company, An-Sin, An-Shin, Global, Sinyi Development, Jui-Inn, Heng-Yi, Yowoo Technology and Tokyo Sinyi make monthly contributions to employees' individual pension accounts at 6% of monthly salaries and wages.

The employees of the Group's subsidiaries in other countries are members of a state-managed retirement benefit plan operated by local government. The subsidiary is required to contribute amounts calculated at a specified percentage of payroll costs to the retirement benefit scheme to fund the benefits. The only obligation of the Group with respect to the retirement benefit plan is to make the specified contributions to the fund.

Sinyi Limited, Sinyi International, Forever Success, Inane, Ke Wei HK, Max Success, Sinyi Development, Sinyi Estate, Sin Chiun, Hong Kong Real Estate, Hong Kong Sinyi Estate, Sinyi Culture, Da-Chia Construction and Sinyi Real Estate have no full-time employees. Thus, there are no related pension obligations or pension costs.

b. Defined benefit plans

The defined benefit plans adopted by the Company and An-Sin in accordance with the Labor Standards Law are operated by the government. Pension benefits are calculated on the basis of the length of service and average monthly salaries of the six months before retirement. The Company and An-Sin contribute amounts equal to 2% of total monthly salaries and wages to a pension fund administered by the pension fund monitoring committee. Pension contributions are deposited in the Bank of Taiwan in the committee's name. Before the end of each year, the Group assesses the balance in the pension fund. If the amount of the balance in the pension fund is inadequate to pay retirement benefits for employees who conform to retirement requirements in the next year, the Group is required to fund the difference in one appropriation that should be made before the end of March of the next year. The pension fund is managed by the Bureau of Labor Funds, Ministry of Labor ("the Bureau"); the Group has no right to influence the investment policy and strategy.

The amounts included in the consolidated balance sheets in respect of the Group's defined benefit plans were as follows:

An analysis by function of the amounts recognized in profit or loss in respect of the defined benefit plans is as follows:

	Years Ended December 31
	2016	2015
Operating costs	$ 3,329	$ 2,905
Operating expenses	384	404
	$ 3,713	$ 3,309

Through the defined benefit plans under the Labor Standards Law, the Group is exposed to the following risks:

- 1) Investment risk: The plan assets are invested in domestic and foreign equity and debt securities, bank deposits, etc. The investment is conducted at the discretion of the Bureau or under the mandated management. However, in accordance with relevant regulations, the return generated by plan assets should not be below the interest rate for a 2-year time deposit with local banks.
- 2) Interest risk: A decrease in the government or corporate bond interest rate will increase the present value of the defined benefit obligation; however, this will be partially offset by an increase in the return on the plan's debt investments.
- 3) Salary risk: The present value of the defined benefit obligation is calculated by reference to the future salaries of plan participants. As such, an increase in the salary of the plan participants will increase the present value of the defined benefit obligation.

The actuarial valuations of the present value of the defined benefit obligation were carried out by qualified actuaries. The significant assumptions used for the purposes of the actuarial valuations were as follows:

	December 31
	2016	2015
Discount rates	1.125%-1.375%	1.625%
Expected rates of salary increase	2.00%-3.00%	2.00%-3.00%

If possible reasonable change in each of the significant actuarial assumptions will occur and all other assumptions will remain constant, the present value of the defined benefit obligation would increase (decrease) as follows:

	December 31
	2016	2015
Discount rates
0.25% increase	$ (18,950)	$ (17,679)
0.25% decrease	$ 19,794	$ 18,483
Expected rates of salary increase
0.25% increase	$ 19,126	$ 17,893
0.25% decrease	$ (18,412)	$ (17,209)

The sensitivity analysis presented above may not be representative of the actual change in the present value of the defined benefit obligation as it is unlikely that the change in assumptions would occur in isolation of one another as some of the assumptions may be correlated.

	December 31
	2016	2015
The expected contributions to the plan for the next year	$ 9,252	$ 9,102
The average duration of the defined benefit obligation	13.3 years	13.7 years - 14.1 years

The creditable ratios for distribution of earnings of 2016 and 2015 were 23.47% (estimated ratio) and 23.97%, respectively.

Under the Income Tax Law amended and promulgated by Presidential Decree Hua-tzung Yi No. 10300085101, for distribution of earning generated after January 1, 1998, the imputation credits allocated to ROC resident shareholders of the Company will be reduced by 50% in comparison with that described in the previous paragraph, effective January 1, 2015.

Under the Income Tax Law, for distribution of earnings generated after January 1, 1998, the imputation credits allocated to ROC resident shareholders of the Company was calculated based on the creditable ratio as of the date of dividend distribution. The actual imputation credits allocated to shareholders of the Company was based on the balance of the Imputation Credit Accounts (ICA) as of the date of dividend distribution. Therefore, the expected creditable ratio for the 2016 earnings may differ from the actual creditable ratio to be used in allocating imputation credits to the shareholders.

The number of shares is estimated by dividing the entire amount of the bonus by the closing price of the shares at the balance sheet date. Financial Risk Management Objectives and Policies

The Group's major financial instruments included equity, mutual funds, trade receivables, other payables, bonds payable and borrowings. The Group's Corporate Treasury function provides services to the business and manages the financial risks relating to the operations of the Group through internal risk reports which analyze exposures by degree and magnitude of risks. These risks include market risk (including currency risk and interest rate risk), credit risk and liquidity risk. The Group seeks to ensure sufficient funding readily available when needed with the objective to reduce the potentially adverse effects the market uncertainties may have on its financial performance.

The plans for material treasury activities are reviewed by Audit Committees and/or Board of Directors in accordance with procedures required by relevant regulations or internal controls. During the implementation of such plans, Corporate Treasury function must comply with certain treasury procedures that provide guiding principles for overall financial risk management and segregation of duties. Compliance with policies and exposure limits is reviewed by the internal auditors on a continuous basis.

a. Market risk

The Group's activities exposed it primarily to the financial risks of changes in foreign currency exchange rates (see (1) below) and interest rates (see (2) below).

1) Foreign currency risk

Most of the Group's operating activities are in Taiwan, which is denominated in New Taiwan dollars. Therefore, the operating activities in Taiwan are not exposed to foreign currency risk. The Group took foreign operations as strategic investments and did not hedge the risk.

For the carrying amounts of the Group's foreign currency denominated monetary assets and monetary liabilities at the end of the reporting period, refer to Note 38.

Foreign currency sensitivity analysis

The following table details the Group's sensitivity to a 1% increase and decrease in the New Taiwan dollars ("NTD", the functional currency) against the relevant foreign currencies. A positive number below indicates an increase in profit before income tax or equity where the NTD strengthens 1% against the relevant currency. For a 1% weakening of the NTD against the relevant currency, the balances below would be negative if the other factors remain unchanged.

Profit or loss	4	-	14,679	2,109	121	8,176

2) Interest rate risk

The Group is exposed to interest rate risk on investments and borrowings; interest rates could be fixed or floating. The investments and part of borrowings are fixed-interest rates and measured at amortized cost, and changes in interest will not affect future cash flows. Another part of borrowings are floating-interest rates, and changes in interest will affect future cash flows, but will not affect fair value.

The carrying amounts of the Group's financial assets and financial liabilities with exposure to interest rates at the end of reporting period were as follows:

	December 31
	2016	2015
Fair value interest rate risk
Financial assets	$ 1,558,049	$ 2,464,504
Financial liabilities	3,384,450	3,437,463
Cash flow interest rate risk
Financial assets	2,896,336	748,127
Financial liabilities	648,110	2,167,221

Interest rate sensitivity analysis

The Group was exposed to cash flow interest rate risk in relation to floating rate liabilities, and the short-term and long-term borrowings will be affected by the changes in market interest rate accordingly. If the market interest rate increased by 1%, the Group's cash outflow will increase by $6,481 thousand.

b. Credit risk

Credit risk refers to the risk that counterparty will default on its contractual obligations resulting in financial loss to the Group. The Group is exposed to credit risk from operating activities, primarily trade receivables, and from investing activities, primarily the fixed-income investments and other financial instruments.

Business related credit risk

The Group is mainly engaged in the operation of real-estate brokerage business and the customers of the Group are the people who buy house and people who sell house. The revenue of agency service is also received through the housing performance guarantee, so the concentration credit risk of trade receivable is not material.

Financial credit risk

The credit risk of bank deposits, fixed-income investments and other financial instruments are regularly controlled and monitored by the Group's Corporate Treasury function. The counterparties to the foregoing financial instruments are reputable financial institutions and business organizations. Management does not expect the Group's exposure to default by those parties to be material.

c. Liquidity risk

The Group manages liquidity risk by monitoring and maintaining a level of cash and cash equivalents deemed adequate to finance the Group's operations and mitigate the effects of fluctuations in cash flows. In addition, management monitors the utilization of bank borrowings and ensures compliance with loan covenants. The Group has sufficient working capital to pay all debts; thus, there is no liquidity risk.

The Group relies on bank borrowings as a significant source of liquidity. As of December 31, 2016 and 2015, the Group had available unutilized bank loan facilities as follows:

On the basis of past experience and consultations with legal counsel, management of the Group has measured the possible effects of the contingent lawsuits on its financial condition in brokerage and escrow business.
- b. Guarantee notes submitted as guarantees for real-estate brokerage business amounted to $5,000 thousand.
- c. The Group has endorsed Shanghai Sinyi Real Estate and Sinyi Estate in obtaining financing limit of $4,765,850 thousand. Refer to Note 39, Table 2 for the details.
- d. As of December 31, 2016, the Group had signed construction contracts but not yet paid for $2,377,055 thousand.
- e. Shanghai Real Estate, property developer in mainland China, sold real estate and guaranteed the mortgage bank loans of some of its customers (including natural persons and juridical persons); the guarantee amounted to $2,586,494 thousand as of December 31, 2016. The amount of mortgage loan was remitted to Shanghai Real Estate for payment of the property sold. If a customer breached a mortgage contract, Shanghai Real Estate will return to the banks only the amount of mortgage received. Therefore, Shanghai Real Estate is not exposed to risk of material loss from the guarantee. The guarantee is just a selling feature in the real estate development industry in China and it does not bear the economic substance and risk of ordinary endorsement. In addition, according to the Q&A No. 35 of the "Regulations Governing Loaning of Funds and Making of Endorsements/Guarantees by Public Companies" (the Regulations) announced on December 26, 2012 by the SFB, the above guarantee provided by Shanghai Real Estate to its customers is similar to an escrow, instead of endorsement as defined in the Regulations.

37. SIGNIFICANT FRANCHISE CONTRACTS

Sinyi Limited entered into a sub-franchise agreement with Cendant Global Services B.V. ("GLOBAL") and Coldwell Banker Real Estate Corporation ("Coldwell"). Sinyi Limited obtained from the counterparty a license granting the right to use the plans, manuals, system and forms developed by Coldwell and the exclusive right to itself sublicense and/or to sub-sublicense other franchisees and territorial sub-franchisors in China, Hong Kong and Macau. The term of this contract is for forty years from October 12, 1999 and is automatically renewed for another period of forty years to October 11, 2079 unless the contract parties agree to terminate the contract in three months prior to the expiration of the contract. Thereafter, because Sinyi Limited transferred this agreement right to Ke Wei Shanghai on August 1, 1990 and GLOBAL was renamed to Realogy Corporation ("Realogy") due to its organizational adjustment, Ke Wei Shanghai and Realogy entered into a supplemental sub-franchise agreement for reflecting the necessary amendments in 2008.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

The Board of Directors and Shareholders
Sinyi Realty Inc.

We have audited the accompanying parent company only financial statements of Sinyi Realty Inc. (the "Company"), which comprise the parent company only balance sheets as of December 31, 2016 and 2015, and the parent company only statements of comprehensive income, changes in equity and cash flows for the years then ended, and the notes to parent company only the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

In our opinion, the accompanying parent company only financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the parent company only financial position of the Company as of December 31, 2016 and 2015, and its parent company only financial performance and its parent company only cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audits in accordance with the Regulations Governing Auditing and Attestation of Financial Statements by Certified Public Accountants and auditing standards generally accepted in Taiwan, the Republic of China ("ROC"). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Parent Company Only Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Company in accordance with The Norm of Professional Ethics for Certified Public Accountant of the ROC, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the parent company only financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2016. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the parent company only financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Key audit matters for the Company's parent company only financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2016 are stated as follows:

Service income earned from real-estate brokering

The Company's revenue mainly comes from service income. Refer to Note 4 to the accompanying parent company only financial statements for the details of the accounting policies of revenue recognition. Revenue from the rendering of services is recognized when all the conditions stipulated in the accounting policies are satisfied. When all the conditions are satisfied, the Company's accounting system will calculate service income automatically. Since the service income was computed by the system and the amount is significant to the parent company only financial statement, service income is identified as a key audit matter.

The Company's personnel will fill in the transaction form when real estate contracts or lease contracts have been signed by both counterparties. After being reviewed by the competent supervisor, the transaction form will be delivered to the Company's personnel to create an item file in the system. The system will calculate the service income by item files on a daily basis and generate an entry by batch.

We understood and tested the internal control for recognition of service income. We selected service income samples, which were computed by the system, and cross-checked whether the samples and contracts are the same. In order to verify accuracy of service income in the system, we recomputed service income and verified whether there was any significant difference in the amount. We also confirmed the dates on the contracts to make sure whether the recognition timing of service income is reasonable.

Accrual of performance bonus payables

The Company is mainly engaged in the operation of a real-estate brokerage business. The Company designed a bonus scheme in order to stimulate employee retention. As of December 31, 2016, the carrying amounts of performance bonus payables (including non-current liabilities) were NT$832,115 thousand, accounting for nearly 15% of the total liability. Because the amounts of performance bonus payables and non-current liabilities were considered significant to the parent company only financial statements, it has been identified as a key audit matter.

We focused on the adequacy of performance bonus payables at the balance sheet date. As stated in the preceding paragraph, we understood and tested the internal control for the performance bonus recognition. As for the evaluation of the accrual of performance bonus payables by management, we sampled from the major bonus records and understood the calculation criteria for the relevant bonuses awarded. We confirmed the basis of the calculation for each sample to verify whether they followed the Company's bonus scheme. We performed recalculations to test the accuracy of the performance bonus payables, and we assessed the reasonableness by reviewing the payments in the subsequent period.

Refer to Notes 5 and 18 to the parent company only financial statements for the details of the accrual of performance bonus payables.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Parent Company Only Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the parent company only financial statements in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of parent company only financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the parent company only financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance, including the audit committee, are responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Parent Company Only Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the parent company only financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditors' report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the auditing standards generally accepted in ROC will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these parent company only financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with the auditing standards generally accepted in ROC, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

1. Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the parent company only financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
2. Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.
3. Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.

4. Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditors' report to the related disclosures in the parent company only financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditors' report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
5. Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the parent company only financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the parent company only financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
6. Obtain sufficient and appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of entities or business activities within the Company to express an opinion on the parent company only financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision, and performance of the Company audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the parent company only financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2016 and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditors' report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

The engagement partners on the audit resulting in this independent auditors' report are Wen-Yea Shyu and Kwan-Chung Lai

The initial application in 2017 of the above IFRSs and related amendments to the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers would not have any material impact on the Company’s accounting policies, except for the following:

Amendments to the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers

The amendments include additions of several accounting items and requirements for disclosures of impairment of non-financial assets as a consequence of the IFRSs endorsed by the FSC for application starting from 2017. In addition, as a result of the post implementation review of IFRSs in Taiwan, the amendments also include emphasis on certain recognition and measurement considerations and add requirements for disclosures of related party transactions and goodwill.

The amendments stipulate that other companies or institutions, of which the chairman of the board of directors or president serves as the chairman of the board of directors or the president of the Company or is the spouse or second immediate family of the chairman of the board of directors or president of the Company, are deemed to have a substantive related party relationship, unless it can be demonstrated that no control, joint control, or significant influence exists. Furthermore, the amendments require the disclosure of the names of the related parties and the relationships with whom the Company has significant transactions. If the transactions or balance with a specific related party is 10% or more of the Company’s respective total transactions or balance, such transactions should be separately disclosed by the name of each related party.

The amendments also require additional disclosure if there is a significant difference between the actual operation after a business combination and the expected benefit on the acquisition date.

The disclosures of related party transactions and impairment of goodwill will be enhanced when the above amendments are retrospectively applied in 2017.

Except for the above impacts, as of the date the parent company only financial statements were authorized for issue, the Company continues assessing other possible impacts that application of the aforementioned amendments and the related amendments to the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers will have on the Company's financial position and financial performance, and will disclose these other impacts when the assessment is completed.

b. New IFRSs in issue but not yet endorsed by the FSC

The Company has not applied the following IFRSs issued by the IASB but not yet endorsed by the FSC.

The FSC announced that IFRS 9 and IFRS 15 will take effect starting January 1, 2018. As of the date the parent company only financial statements were authorized for issue, the FSC has not announced the effective dates of other new IFRSs.

Note 2: The amendment to IFRS 12 is retrospectively applied for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2017; the amendment to IAS 28 is retrospectively applied for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2018.

The initial application of the above New IFRSs, whenever applied, would not have any material impact on the Company's accounting policies, except for the following:

1) IFRS 9 "Financial Instruments"

Recognition and measurement of financial assets

With regards to financial assets, all recognized financial assets that are within the scope of IAS 39 "Financial Instruments: Recognition and Measurement" are subsequently measured at amortized cost or fair value. Under IFRS 9, the requirement for the classification of financial assets is stated below.

For the Company's debt instruments that have contractual cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding, their classification and measurement are as follows:

- a) For debt instruments, if they are held within a business model whose objective is to collect the contractual cash flows, the financial assets are measured at amortized cost and are assessed for impairment continuously with impairment loss recognized in profit or loss, if any. Interest revenue is recognized in profit or loss by using the effective interest method;
- b) For debt instruments, if they are held within a business model whose objective is achieved by both the collecting of contractual cash flows and the selling of financial assets, the financial assets are measured at fair value through other comprehensive income (FVTOCI) and are assessed for impairment. Interest revenue is recognized in profit or loss by using the effective interest method, and other gains or losses shall be recognized in other comprehensive income, except for impairment gains or losses and foreign exchange gains and losses. When the debt instruments are derecognized or reclassified, the cumulative gain or loss previously recognized in other comprehensive income is reclassified from equity to profit or loss.

Except for the above, all other financial assets are measured at fair value through profit or loss. However, the Company may make an irrevocable election to present subsequent changes in the fair value of an equity investment (that is not held for trading) in other comprehensive income, with only dividend income generally recognized in profit or loss. No subsequent impairment assessment is required, and the cumulative gain or loss previously recognized in other comprehensive income cannot be reclassified from equity to profit or loss.

Impairment of financial assets

IFRS 9 requires impairment loss on financial assets to be recognized by using the expected credit loss model. The credit loss allowance is required for financial assets measured at amortized cost, financial assets mandatorily measured at FVTOCI, lease receivables, contract assets arising from IFRS 15 "Revenue from Contracts with Customers", certain written loan commitments and financial guarantee contracts. A loss allowance for the 12-month expected credit losses is required for a financial asset if its credit risk has not increased significantly since initial recognition. A loss allowance for full lifetime expected credit losses is required for a financial asset if its credit risk has increased significantly since initial recognition and is not low. However, a loss allowance for full lifetime expected credit losses is required for trade receivables that do not constitute a financing transaction.

For purchased or originated credit-impaired financial assets, the Company takes into account the expected credit losses on initial recognition in calculating the credit-adjusted effective interest rate. Subsequently, any changes in expected losses are recognized as a loss allowance with a corresponding gain or loss recognized in profit or loss.

Transition

Financial instruments that have been derecognized prior to the effective date of IFRS 9 cannot be reversed to apply IFRS 9 when it becomes effective. Under IFRS 9, the requirements for classification, measurement and impairment of financial assets are applied retrospectively with the difference between the previous carrying amount and the carrying amount at the date of initial application recognized in the current period, and restatement of prior periods is not required. The requirements for general hedge accounting shall be applied prospectively, and the accounting for hedging options shall be applied retrospectively.

2) IFRS 15 “Revenue from Contracts with Customers” and the related amendment

IFRS 15 establishes principles for recognizing revenue that apply to all contracts with customers, and will supersede IAS 18 “Revenue”, IAS 11 “Construction Contracts” and a number of revenue-related interpretations from January 1, 2018.

When applying IFRS 15, an entity shall recognize revenue by applying the following steps:

- Identify the contract with the customer;
- Identify the performance obligations in the contract;
- Determine the transaction price;
- Allocate the transaction price to the performance obligations in the contract; and
- Recognize revenue when the entity satisfies a performance obligation.

Incremental costs of obtaining a contract will be recognized as an asset to the extent the Company expects to recover those costs. Such asset will be amortized on a basis that is consistent with the transfer to the customer of the goods or services to which the asset relates. This will lead to the later recognition of charges for certain customer-obtaining costs.

When IFRS 15 and the related amendment are effective, an entity may elect to apply this Standard either retrospectively to each prior reporting period presented or retrospectively with the cumulative effect of initially applying this Standard recognized at the date of initial application.

3) IFRS 16 “Leases”

IFRS 16 sets out the accounting standards for leases that will supersede IAS 17 and a number of related interpretations.

Under IFRS 16, if the Company is a lessee, it shall recognize right-of-use assets and lease liabilities for all leases on the balance sheets except for low-value and short-term leases. The Company may elect to apply the accounting method similar to the accounting for operating lease under IAS 17 to the low-value and short-term leases. On the statements of comprehensive income, the Company should present the depreciation expense charged on the right-of-use asset separately from the interest expense accrued on the lease liability; interest is computed by using the effective interest method. On the statements of cash flows, cash payments for the principal portion of the lease liability are classified within financing activities; cash payments for the interest portion are classified within operating activities.

The application of IFRS 16 is not expected to have a material impact on the accounting of the Company as lessor.

When IFRS 16 becomes effective, the Company may elect to apply this Standard either retrospectively to each prior reporting period presented or retrospectively with the cumulative effect of the initial application of this Standard recognized at the date of initial application.

4) Amendments to IAS 40 “Transfers of Investment Property”

The amendments clarify that the Company should transfer to, or from, investment property when, and only when, the property meets, or ceases to meet, the definition of investment property and there is evidence of the change in use. In isolation, a change in management’s intentions for the use of a property does not provide evidence of a change in use. The amendments also clarify that the evidence of the change in use is not limited to those illustrated in IAS 40.

The Company may elect to apply the amendments prospectively and reclassify the property as required to reflect the conditions that exist at the date of initial application. The Company is also required to disclose the reclassified amounts and such amounts should be included in the reconciliation of the carrying amount of investment property. Alternatively, the Company may elect to apply the amendments retrospectively if, and only if, that is possible without the use of hindsight.

5) IFRIC 22 “Foreign Currency Transactions and Advance Consideration”

IAS 21 stipulated that a foreign currency transaction shall be recorded on initial recognition in the functional currency by applying to the foreign currency amount the spot exchange rate between the functional currency and the foreign currency at the date of the transaction. IFRIC 22 further explains that the date of the transaction is the date on which an entity recognizes a non-monetary asset or non-monetary liability from payment or receipt of advance consideration. If there are multiple payments or receipts in advance, the entity shall determine the date of the transaction for each payment or receipt of advance consideration.

The Company shall apply IFRIC 22 either retrospectively or prospectively to all assets, expenses and income in the scope of the Interpretation initially recognized on or after (a) the beginning of the reporting period in which the entity first applies IFRIC 22, or (b) the beginning of a prior reporting period presented as comparative information in the financial statements of the reporting period in which the entity first applies IFRIC 22.

Except for the above impact, as of the date the parent company only financial statements were authorized for issue, the Company is continuously assessing the possible impact that the application of other standards and interpretations will have on the Company’s financial position and financial performance, and will disclose the relevant impact when the assessment is completed.

4. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

a. Statement of compliance

The parent company only financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers.

b. Basis of preparation

The parent company only financial statements have been prepared on the historical cost basis except for financial instruments that are measured at fair value.

The fair value measurements are grouped into Levels 1 to 3 based on the degree to which the fair value measurement inputs are observable and the significance of the inputs to the fair value measurement in its entirety, which are described as follows:

- 1) Level 1 inputs are quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities;

- 2) Level 2 inputs are inputs other than quoted prices included within Level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly (i.e. as prices) or indirectly (i.e. derived from prices); and
- 3) Level 3 inputs are unobservable inputs for the asset or liability.

When preparing its parent company only financial statements, the Company used equity method to account for its investment in subsidiaries and associates. In order for the amounts of the net profit for the year, other comprehensive income for the year and total equity in the parent company only financial statements to be the same with the amounts attributable to the owners of the Company in its financial statements, adjustments arising from the differences in accounting treatment between parent company only basis and consolidated basis are made to investments accounted for by equity method, share of profit or loss of subsidiaries, associates and joint ventures, share of other comprehensive income of subsidiaries, associates and joint ventures and related equity items, as appropriate, in the parent company only financial statements.

c. Classification of current and non-current assets and liabilities

Current assets include:

- 1) Assets held primarily for the purpose of trading;
- 2) Assets expected to be realized within twelve months after the reporting period; and
- 3) Cash and cash equivalents unless the asset is restricted from being exchanged or used to settle a liability for at least twelve months after the reporting period.

Current liabilities include:

- 1) Liabilities held primarily for the purpose of trading;
- 2) Liabilities due to be settled within twelve months after the reporting period, even if an agreement to refinance, or to reschedule payments, on a long-term basis is completed after the reporting period and before the financial statements are authorized for issue; and
- 3) Liabilities for which the Company does not have an unconditional right to defer settlement for at least twelve months after the reporting period. Terms of a liability that could, at the option of the counterparty, result in its settlement by the issue of equity instruments do not affect its classification.

Assets and liabilities that are not classified as current are classified as non-current.

d. Business combination

Acquisitions of businesses are accounted for using the acquisition method. Acquisition-related costs are generally recognized in profit or loss as incurred.

Goodwill is measured as the excess of the sum of the consideration transferred and the fair value of the acquirer's previously held equity interest in the acquire over the net of the acquisition-date amounts of the identifiable assets acquired and the liabilities assumed.

e. Foreign currencies

In preparing the parent company only financial statements of the Company, transactions in currencies other than the Company's functional currency (foreign currencies) are recognized at the rates of exchange prevailing at the dates of the transactions.

At the end of each reporting period, monetary items denominated in foreign currencies are retranslated at the rates prevailing at that date.

Exchange differences on monetary items arising from settlement or translation are recognized in profit or loss in the period.

Non-monetary items measured at fair value that are denominated in foreign currencies are retranslated at the rates prevailing at the date when the fair value was determined. Exchange differences arising on the retranslation of non-monetary items are included in profit or loss for the period except for exchange differences arising from the retranslation of non-monetary items in respect of which gains and losses are recognized directly in other comprehensive income, in which case, the exchange differences are also recognized directly in other comprehensive income.

Non-monetary items that are measured at historical cost in a foreign currency are not retranslated.

For the purposes of presenting parent company only financial statements, the assets and liabilities of the Company's foreign operations (including of the subsidiaries and associates operating in other countries or currencies used are different with the Company) are translated into the New Taiwan dollars using exchange rates prevailing at the end of each reporting period. Income and expense items are translated at the average exchange rates for the period. Exchange differences arising are recognized in other comprehensive income.

On the disposal of a foreign operation (i.e. a disposal of the Company's entire interest in a foreign operation, or a disposal involving loss of control over a subsidiary that includes a foreign operation, or a partial disposal of an interest in a joint arrangement or an associate that includes a foreign operation of which the retained interest becomes a financial asset), all of the exchange differences accumulated in equity in respect of that operation attributable to the owners of the Company are reclassified to profit or loss.

In relation to a partial disposal of a subsidiary that does not result in the Company losing control over the subsidiary, the proportionate share of accumulated exchange differences is included in the calculation of equity transactions but is not recognized in profit or loss. For all other partial disposals, the proportionate share of the accumulated exchange differences recognized in other comprehensive income is reclassified to profit or loss.

f. Investments accounted for using equity method

Investments in subsidiaries and associates are accounted for by the equity method.

1) Investment in subsidiaries

Subsidiaries are the entities controlled by the Company.

The Company uses the equity method to account for its investments in subsidiaries.

Under the equity method, the investment is initially recognized at cost and the carrying amount is increased or decreased to recognize the Company's share of the profit or loss and other comprehensive income of the subsidiary after the date of acquisition. Besides, the Company also recognizes the Company's share of the change in other equity of the subsidiary.

Changes in the Company's ownership interests in subsidiaries that do not result in the Company's loss of control over the subsidiaries are accounted for as equity transactions. Any difference between the carrying amount of the investment and the fair value of the consideration paid or received is recognized directly in equity.

When the Company's share of losses of a subsidiary equals or exceeds its interest in that subsidiary (which includes any carrying amount of the investment in subsidiary accounted for by the equity method and long-term interests that, in substance, form part of the Company's net investment in the subsidiary), the Company continues recognizing its share of further losses.

The acquisition cost in excess of the acquisition-date fair value of the identifiable net assets acquired is recognized as goodwill. Goodwill is not amortized. The acquisition-date fair value of the net identifiable assets acquired in excess of the acquisition cost is recognized immediately in profit or loss.

The Company assesses its investment for any impairment by comparing the carrying amount with the estimated recoverable amount as assessed based on the financial statements of the invested company as a whole. Impairment loss is recognized when the carrying amount exceeds the recoverable amount. If the recoverable amount of the investment subsequently increases, the Company recognizes reversal of the impairment loss; the adjusted post-reversal carrying amount should not exceed the carrying amount that would have been recognized (net of amortization or depreciation) had no impairment loss been recognized in prior years. An impairment loss recognized on goodwill cannot be reversed in a subsequent period.

When the Company ceases to have control over a subsidiary, any retained investment is measured at fair value at that date and the difference between the previous carrying amount of the subsidiary attributable to the retained interest and its fair value is included in the determination of the gain or loss. Furthermore, the Company accounts for all amounts previously recognized in other comprehensive income in relation to that subsidiary on the same basis as would be required if the Company had directly disposed of the related assets or liabilities.

Profits and losses from downstream transactions with a subsidiary are eliminated in full. Profits and losses from upstream transactions with a subsidiary and sidestream transactions between subsidiaries are recognized in the Company's financial statements only to the extent of interests in the subsidiary that are not related to the Company.

2) Investment in associates

An associate is an entity over which the Company has significant influence and that is not a subsidiary.

The results and assets and liabilities of associates are incorporated in these financial statements using the equity method of accounting. Under the equity method, an investment in an associate is initially recognized at cost and adjusted thereafter to recognize the Company's share of the profit or loss and other comprehensive income of the associate.

When the Company's subscribes for additional new shares of the associate at a percentage different from its existing ownership percentage, the resulting carrying amount of the investment differs from the amount of the Company's proportionate interest in the associate. The Company's records such a difference as an adjustment to investments with the corresponding amount charged or credited to capital surplus. If the Company's ownership interest is reduced due to the additional subscription of the new shares of associate, the proportionate amount of the gains or losses previously recognized in other comprehensive income in relation to that associate is reclassified to profit or loss on the same basis as would be required if the investee had directly disposed of the related assets or liabilities. When the adjustment should be debited to capital surplus, but the capital surplus recognized from investments accounted for by the equity method is insufficient, the shortage is debited to retained earnings.

g. Property, plant and equipment

Property, plant and equipment are stated at cost, less recognized accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment loss.

Property, plant and equipment in the course of construction are carried at cost, less any recognized impairment loss. Cost includes professional fees and borrowing costs eligible for capitalization. Such assets are depreciated and classified to the appropriate categories of property, plant and equipment when completed and ready for intended use.

Depreciation of property, plant and equipment is recognized using the straight-line method. Each significant part is depreciated separately. If the lease term is shorter than the useful lives, assets are depreciated over the lease term. The estimated useful lives, residual values and depreciation method are reviewed at the end of each reporting period, with the effect of any changes in estimate accounted for on a prospective basis.

On derecognition of an item of property, plant and equipment, the difference between the sales proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset is recognized in profit or loss.

h. Investment properties

Investment properties are properties held to earn rentals and/or for capital appreciation. Investment properties also include land held for a currently undetermined future use.

Investment properties are measured initially at cost, including transaction costs. Subsequent to initial recognition, investment properties are measured at cost less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment loss. Depreciation is recognized using the straight-line method.

On derecognition of an investment property, the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset is included in profit or loss.

i. Goodwill

Goodwill arising from the acquisition of a business is carried at cost as established at the date of acquisition of the business less accumulated impairment loss.

For the purposes of impairment testing, goodwill is allocated to each of the Company's cash-generating units or groups of cash-generating units (referred to as cash-generating units) that is expected to benefit from the synergies of the combination.

A cash-generating unit to which goodwill has been allocated is tested for impairment annually, or more frequently when there is an indication that the unit may be impaired, by comparing its carrying amount, including the allocated goodwill, with its recoverable amount. If the goodwill allocated to a cash-generating unit was acquired in a business combination during the current annual period, that unit shall be tested for impairment before the end of the current annual period. If the recoverable amount of the cash-generating unit is less than its carrying amount, the impairment loss is allocated first to reduce the carrying amount of any goodwill allocated to the unit and then to the other assets of the unit pro rata based on the carrying amount of each asset in the unit. Any impairment loss is recognized directly in profit or loss. An impairment loss recognized on goodwill is not reversed in subsequent periods.

If goodwill has been allocated to a cash-generating unit and the Company disposes of an operation within that unit, the goodwill associated with the operation disposed of is included in the carrying amount of the operation when determining the gain or loss on disposal.

j. Intangible assets

1) Intangible assets acquired separately

Intangible assets with finite useful lives that are acquired separately are initially measured at cost and subsequently measured at cost less accumulated amortization and accumulated impairment loss. Amortization is recognized on a straight-line basis. The estimated useful life, residual value, and amortization method are reviewed at the end of each reporting period, with the effect of any changes in estimate accounted for on a prospective basis. Intangible assets with indefinite useful lives that are acquired separately are measured at cost less accumulated impairment loss.

2) Intangible assets acquired in a business combination

Intangible assets acquired in a business combination and recognized separately from goodwill are initially recognized at their fair value at the acquisition date (which is regarded as their cost). Subsequent to initial recognition, they are measured on the same basis as intangible assets that are acquired separately.

3) Derecognition of intangible assets

On derecognition of an intangible asset, the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset is recognized in profit or loss.

k. Impairment of tangible and intangible assets other than goodwill

At the end of each reporting period, the Company reviews the carrying amounts of its tangible and intangible assets, excluding goodwill, to determine whether there is any indication that those assets have suffered an impairment loss. If any such indication exists, the recoverable amount of the asset is estimated in order to determine the extent of the impairment loss. When it is not possible to estimate the recoverable amount of an individual asset, the Company estimates the recoverable amount of the cash-generating unit to which the asset belongs. Corporate assets are allocated to the individual cash-generating units on a reasonable and consistent basis of allocation.

Intangible assets with indefinite useful lives and intangible assets not yet available for use are tested for impairment at least annually, and whenever there is an indication that the asset may be impaired.

Recoverable amount is the higher of fair value less costs to sell and value in use. If the recoverable amount of an asset or cash-generating unit is estimated to be less than its carrying amount, the carrying amount of the asset or cash-generating unit is reduced to its recoverable amount, with the resulting impairment loss recognized in profit or loss.

When an impairment loss is subsequently reversed, the carrying amount of the asset or cash-generating unit is increased to the revised estimate of its recoverable amount, but only to the extent of the carrying amount that would have been determined had no impairment loss been recognized for the asset or cash-generating unit in prior years. A reversal of an impairment loss is recognized in profit or loss.

l. Financial instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are recognized when a group entity becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instruments.

Financial assets and financial liabilities are initially measured at fair value. Transaction costs that are directly attributable to the acquisition or issue of financial assets and financial liabilities (other than financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss) are added to or deducted from the fair value of the financial assets or financial liabilities, as appropriate, on initial recognition. Transaction costs directly attributable to the acquisition of financial assets or financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are recognized immediately in profit or loss.

1) Financial assets

All regular way purchases or sales of financial assets are recognized and derecognized on a trade date basis.

a) Measurement category

Financial assets are classified into the following categories: Financial assets at fair value through profit or loss, available-for-sale financial assets, and loans and receivables.

i. Financial assets at fair value through profit or loss

Financial assets are classified as at fair value through profit or loss when the financial asset is either held for trading or it is designated as at fair value through profit or loss.

Financial assets at fair value through profit or loss are stated at fair value, with any gains or losses arising on remeasurement recognized in profit or loss.

Investments in equity instruments under financial assets at fair value through profit or loss that do not have a quoted market price in an active market and whose fair value cannot be reliably measured and derivatives that are linked to and must be settled by delivery of such unquoted equity instruments are subsequently measured at cost less any identified impairment loss at the end of each reporting period and are presented in a separate line item as financial assets carried at cost. If, in a subsequent period, the fair value of the financial assets can be reliably measured, the financial assets are remeasured at fair value. The difference between the carrying amount and the fair value is recognized in profit or loss.

ii. Available-for-sale financial assets

Available-for-sale financial assets are non-derivatives that are either designated as available-for-sale or are not classified as loans and receivables, held-to-maturity investments or financial assets at fair value through profit or loss.

Available-for-sale financial assets are measured at fair value. Changes in the carrying amount of available-for-sale monetary financial assets relating to changes in foreign currency exchange rates, interest income calculated using the effective interest method and dividends on available-for-sale equity investments are recognized in profit or loss. Other changes in the carrying amount of available-for-sale financial assets are recognized in other comprehensive income and will be reclassified to profit or loss when the investment is disposed of or is determined to be impaired.

Dividends on available-for-sale equity instruments are recognized in profit or loss when the Company's right to receive the dividends is established.

Available-for-sale equity investments that do not have a quoted market price in an active market and whose fair value cannot be reliably measured and derivatives that are linked to and must be settled by delivery of such unquoted equity investments are measured at cost less any identified impairment loss at the end of each reporting period and are presented in a separate line item as financial assets carried at cost. If, in a subsequent period, the fair value of the financial assets can be reliably measured, the financial assets are remeasured at fair value. The difference between carrying amount and fair value is recognized in profit or loss or other comprehensive income on financial assets. Any impairment losses are recognized in profit and loss.

iii. Loans and receivables

Loans and receivables (including trade receivables, cash and cash equivalent, other receivables and other financial assets - current) are measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method, less any impairment, except for short-term receivables when the effect of discounting is immaterial.

Cash equivalent includes time deposits with original maturities within three months from the date of acquisition, highly liquid, readily convertible to a known amount of cash and be subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value. These cash equivalents are held for the purpose of meeting short-term cash commitments.

b) Impairment of financial assets

Financial assets, other than those at fair value through profit or loss, are assessed for indicators of impairment at the end of each reporting period. Financial assets are considered to be impaired when there is objective evidence that, as a result of one or more events that occurred after the initial recognition of the financial asset, the estimated future cash flows of the investment have been affected.

For financial assets carried at amortized cost, such as trade receivables and other receivables assets are assessed for impairment on a collective basis even if they were assessed not to be impaired individually. Objective evidence of impairment for a portfolio of receivables could include the Company's past experience of collecting payments, as well as observable changes in national or local economic conditions that correlate with default on receivables, and other situation.

For financial assets carried at amortized cost, the amount of the impairment loss recognized is the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the present value of estimated future cash flows, discounted at the financial asset's original effective interest rate.

For financial assets measured at amortized cost, if, in a subsequent period, the amount of the impairment loss decreases and the decrease can be related objectively to an event occurring after the impairment was recognized, the previously recognized impairment loss is reversed through profit or loss to the extent that the carrying amount of the investment at the date the impairment is reversed does not exceed what the amortized cost would have been had the impairment not been recognized.

For available-for-sale equity investments, a significant or prolonged decline in the fair value of the security below its cost is considered to be objective evidence of impairment.

For all other financial assets, objective evidence of impairment could include significant financial difficulty of the issuer or counterparty, breach of contract, such as a default or delinquency in interest or principal payments, it becoming probable that the borrower will enter bankruptcy or financial re-organization, or the disappearance of an active market for that financial asset because of financial difficulties.

When an available-for-sale financial asset is considered to be impaired, cumulative gains or losses previously recognized in other comprehensive income are reclassified to profit or loss in the period.

In respect of available-for-sale equity securities, impairment loss previously recognized in profit or loss are not reversed through profit or loss. Any increase in fair value subsequent to an impairment loss is recognized in other comprehensive income. In respect of available-for-sale debt securities, the impairment loss is subsequently reversed through profit or loss if an increase in the fair value of the investment can be objectively related to an event occurring after the recognition of the impairment loss.

For financial assets that are carried at cost, the amount of the impairment loss is measured as the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the present value of the estimated future cash flows discounted at the current market rate of return for a similar financial asset. Such impairment loss will not be reversed in subsequent periods.

The carrying amount of the financial asset is reduced by the impairment loss directly for all financial assets with the exception of trade receivables and other receivables where the carrying amount is reduced through the use of an allowance account. When a trade receivable and other receivables are considered uncollectible, it is written off against the allowance account. Subsequent recoveries of amounts previously written off are credited against the allowance account. Changes in the carrying amount of the allowance account are recognized in profit or loss except for uncollectible trade receivables and other receivables that are written off against the allowance account.

c) Derecognition of financial assets

The Company derecognizes a financial asset only when the contractual rights to the cash flows from the asset expire, or when it transfers the financial asset and substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of the asset to another party.

On derecognition of a financial asset in its entirety, the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the sum of the consideration received and receivable and the cumulative gain or loss that had been recognized in other comprehensive income is recognized in profit or loss.

2) Financial liabilities

a) Subsequent measurement

All the financial liabilities are measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method.

b) Derecognition of financial liabilities

The difference between the carrying amount of the financial liability derecognized and the consideration paid, including any non-cash assets transferred or liabilities assumed, is recognized in profit or loss.

m. Provisions

Provisions are recognized when the Company has a present obligation (legal or constructive) as a result of a past event, it is probable that the Company will be required to settle the obligation, and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation.

Provisions are measured at the best estimate of the consideration required to settle the present obligation at the end of the reporting period, taking into account the risks and uncertainties surrounding the obligation. When a provision is measured using the cash flows estimated to settle the present obligation, its carrying amount is the present value of those cash flows (where the effect of the time value of money is material).

When some or all of the economic benefits required to settle a provision are expected to be recovered from a third party, a receivable is recognized as an asset if it is virtually certain that reimbursement will be received and the amount of the receivable can be measured reliably.

Provisions for service revenue discount are measured and recognized at the end of the reporting period based on the actual experience and possibility of discount occurrence.

n. Revenue recognition

Revenue is measured at the fair value of the consideration received or receivable. Revenue is reduced for estimated customer rebates and other similar allowances.

1) Rendering of services

Service revenue from real-estate brokerage business is recognized when services are provided.

Revenue from the rendering of services is recognized when all the following conditions are satisfied:

- a) The amount of revenue can be measured reliably;
- b) It is probable that the economic benefits associated with the transaction will flow to the Company;
- c) The degree of completion of transaction can be measured reliably at the end of the reporting period; and
- d) The costs incurred or to be incurred in respect of the transaction can be measured reliably.

2) Dividend and interest income

Dividend income from investments is recognized when the shareholder's right to receive payment has been established provided that it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the Company and the amount of income can be measured reliably.

Interest income from a financial asset is recognized when it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the Company and the amount of income can be measured reliably. Interest income is accrued on a time basis, by reference to the principal outstanding and at the effective interest rate applicable.

o. Leasing

Leases are classified as finance leases whenever the terms of the lease transfer substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership to the lessee. All other leases are classified as operating leases.

All of the Company's lease contracts are operating leases. Rental income and expense from operating leases are recognized as rental revenue and operating expense, respectively, on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

p. Borrowing costs

Borrowing costs directly attributable to the acquisition, construction or production of qualifying assets are added to the cost of those assets, until such time as the assets are substantially ready for their intended use or sale.

Investment income earned on the temporary investment of specific borrowings pending their expenditure on qualifying assets is deducted from the borrowing costs eligible for capitalization.

Other than stated above, all other borrowing costs are recognized in profit or loss in the period in which they are incurred.

q. Employee benefits

1) Short-term employee benefits

Liabilities recognized in respect of short-term employee benefits are measured at the undiscounted amount of the benefits expected to be paid in exchange for the related service.

2) Retirement benefits

Payments to defined contribution retirement benefit plans are recognized as an expense when employees have rendered service entitling them to the contributions.

Defined benefit costs (including service cost, net interest and remeasurement) under the defined benefit retirement benefit plans are determined using the projected unit credit method. Service cost and net interest on the net defined benefit liability (asset) are recognized as employee benefits expense in the period they occur. Remeasurement (comprising actuarial gains and losses, effect of changes to the asset ceiling and return on plan assets excluding interest) is recognized in other comprehensive income in the period in which they occur. Remeasurement recognized in other comprehensive income is reflected immediately in retained earnings and will not be reclassified to profit or loss.

Net defined benefit liability (asset) represents the actual deficit (surplus) in the Company's defined benefit plan. Any surplus resulting from this calculation is limited to the present value of any refunds from the plans or reductions in future contributions to the plans.

3) Other long-term employee benefits

Other long-term employee benefits are accounted for in the same way as the accounting required for defined benefit plan except that remeasurement is recognized in profit or loss.

r. Taxation

Income tax expense represents the sum of the tax currently payable and deferred tax.

1) Current tax

According to the Income Tax Law, an additional tax at 10% of unappropriated earnings is provided for as income tax in the year the shareholders approve to retain the earnings.

Adjustments of prior years' tax liabilities are added to or deducted from the current year's tax provision.

2) Deferred tax

Deferred tax is recognized on temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities in the financial statements and the corresponding tax bases used in the computation of taxable profit. Deferred tax liabilities are generally recognized for all taxable temporary differences. Deferred tax assets are generally recognized for all deductible temporary differences, unused loss carry forward and unused tax credits for purchases of machinery, equipment and technology, research and development expenditures, and personnel training expenditures to the extent that it is probable that taxable profits will be available against which those deductible temporary differences can be utilized. Such deferred tax assets and liabilities are not recognized if the temporary difference arises from the initial recognition of other assets and liabilities in a transaction that affects neither the taxable profit nor the accounting profit.

Deferred tax liabilities are recognized for taxable temporary differences associated with investments in subsidiaries and associates, except where the Company is able to control the reversal of the temporary difference and it is probable that the temporary difference will not reverse in the foreseeable future. Deferred tax assets arising from deductible temporary differences associated with such investments and interests are only recognized to the extent that it is probable that there will be sufficient taxable profits against which to utilize the benefits of the temporary differences and they are expected to reverse in the foreseeable future.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at the end of each reporting period and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profits will be available to allow all or part of the asset to be recovered. A previously unrecognized deferred tax asset is also reviewed at the end of each reporting period and recognized to the extent that it has become probable that future taxable profit will allow the deferred tax asset to be recovered.

Deferred tax liabilities and assets are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply in the period in which the liability is settled or the asset realized, based on tax rates (and tax laws) that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the end of the reporting period. The measurement of deferred tax liabilities and assets reflects the tax consequences that would follow from the manner in which the Company expects, at the end of the reporting period, to recover or settle the carrying amount of its assets and liabilities.

3) Current and deferred tax for the year

Current and deferred tax are recognized in profit or loss, except when they relate to items that are recognized in other comprehensive income or directly in equity, in which case, the current and deferred tax are also recognized in other comprehensive income or directly in equity respectively. Where current tax or deferred tax arises from the initial accounting for a business combination, the tax effect is included in the accounting for the business combination.

5. CRITICAL ACCOUNTING JUDGEMENTS AND KEY SOURCES OF ESTIMATION UNCERTAINTY

In the application of the Company's accounting policies, management is required to make judgments, estimates and assumptions about the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources. The estimates and associated assumptions are based on historical experience and other factors that are considered relevant. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

The estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognized in the period in which the estimate is revised if the revision affects only that period or in the period of the revision and future periods if the revision affects both current and future periods.

a. Estimated impairment of trade receivables

When there is objective evidence of impairment loss, the Company takes into consideration the estimation of future cash flows. The amount of the impairment loss is measured as the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the present value of estimated future cash flows (excluding future credit losses that have not been incurred) discounted at the financial asset's original effective interest rate. Where the actual future cash flows are less than expected, a material impairment loss may arise.

b. Impairment of tangible and intangible assets other than goodwill

The Company measures the useful life of individual assets and the probable future economic benefits in a specific asset group, which depends on subjective judgment, asset characteristics and industry, during the impairment testing process. Any change in accounting estimates due to economic circumstances and business strategies might cause material impairment in the future.

c. Provisions

Provisions for service revenue discount are measured and recognized at the end of reporting period based on actual experience and possibility of discount occurrence.

d. Evaluation of performance bonus payables

Revenue from the rendering of services is recognized when all the conditions (see Note 4) are satisfied. Performance bonus payables are recognized considering whether the criteria of sales performance reached and the performance standards under the bonus rules met. The Company will regularly review the rationality of the evaluation of performance bonus payables.

e. Recognition and measurement of defined benefit plan

Net defined benefit liabilities (assets) and the resulting defined benefit costs under defined benefit pension plan are calculated using the Projected Unit Credit Method. Actuarial assumptions comprise the discount rate, rate of employee turnover, and future salary increase, etc. Changes in economic circumstances and market conditions will affect these assumptions and may have a material impact on the amount of the expense and the liability.

6. CASH AND CASH EQUIVALENTS

	December 31
	2016	2015
Cash on hand	$ 15,764	$ 12,690
Checking accounts and demand deposits	573,495	327,720

	$ 1,998,262	$ 1,035,714

The interest rates of cash in bank at the end of the reporting period were as follows:

	December 31
	2016	2015
Interest rates range	0%-3.8%	0%-4.1%

As of December 31, 2016 and 2015, the carrying amounts of time deposits with original maturities more than three months were $0 thousand and $229,775 thousand, respectively, which were classified as other financial assets - current (Note 10).

7. AVAILABLE-FOR-SALE FINANCIAL ASSETS - CURRENT

Foreign unlisted ordinary shares	4,874	4,874
	$ 55,913	$ 88,503

Management believed that the fair value of the above unlisted equity investments held by the Company cannot be reliably measured due to the wide range of reasonable fair value estimates; therefore, they were measured at cost less impairment at the end of reporting period.

During the years ended December 31, 2016 and 2015, impairment losses that resulted from the decline in the carrying value of investments were $0 thousand and $3,662 thousand, respectively.

	$ 42,058	$ 50,698

a. Trade receivables

The average credit period for rendering of services was 30 to 60 days. No interest was charged on trade receivables. The provision of allowance for trade receivables from real estate brokerage service revenue was estimated based on historical experience. Allowance for impairment loss was recognized against trade receivables based on aging analysis, historical experience and an analysis of clients' current financial position. In determining the recoverability of a trade receivable, the Company considered any change in the credit quality of the trade receivable since the date credit was initially granted to the end of the reporting period.

The concentration risk of credit was limited due to the fact that the customer base was large and customers were unrelated.

For some of the trade receivables (see below for aging analysis) that were past due at the end of the reporting period, the Company did not recognize an allowance for impairment loss because there was no significant change in credit quality and the amounts were considered recoverable.

Aging analysis of receivables was as follows:

	December 31
	2016	2015
0-60 days	$ 344,234	$ 223,935
61-90 days	32,928	22,940
91-180 days	28,122	12,425

Over 360 days	7,483	21,948
	$ 421,752	$ 292,711

The above aging schedule was based on the billing date.

The aging of receivables that were past due but not impaired was as follows:

	December 31
	2016	2015
61-90 days	$ 11,261	$ 13,415
91-180 days	11,713	2,517
181-360 days	1,880	7,830
Over 360 days	2,055	14,620
	$ 26,909	$ 38,382

The above aging schedule was based on the billing date.

Movements of the allowance for impairment loss recognized on trade receivables and other receivables were as follows:

	2016		2015
	Trade Receivables	Other Receivables	Trade Receivables	Other Receivables
Balance at January 1	$ 4,835	$ 2,848	$ 22,677	$ 3,271

b. Other receivables

- 1) Receivables from disposal of investment and interest receivable as of December 31, 2016 were due to the Company's disposal of financial assets measured at cost from the Company's exercising the option to sell back the shares under the agreement of the share transaction.
- 2) Other receivables were the payment on behalf of others and rental receivable.

20. RETIREMENT BENEFIT PLANS

a. Defined contribution plan

The Company adopted a pension plan under the Labor Pension Act (the “LPA”), which is a state-managed defined contribution plan. Under the LPA, an entity makes monthly contributions to employees’ individual pension accounts at 6% of monthly salaries and wages.

b. Defined benefit plan

The defined benefit plan adopted by the Company in accordance with the Labor Standards Law is operated by the government. Pension benefits are calculated on the basis of the length of service and average monthly salaries of the six months before retirement. The Company contributes amounts equal to 2% of total monthly salaries and wages to a pension fund administered by the pension fund monitoring committee. Pension contributions are deposited in the Bank of Taiwan in the committee’s name. Before the end of each year, the Company assesses the balance in the pension fund. If the amount of the balance in the pension fund is inadequate to pay retirement benefits for employees who conform to retirement requirements in the next year, the Company is required to fund the difference in one appropriation that should be made before the end of March of the next year. The pension fund is managed by the Bureau of Labor Funds, Ministry of Labor (“the Bureau”); the Company has no right to influence the investment policy and strategy.

Balance at December 31, 2016	$ 569,479	$ (529,690)	$ 39,789 (Concluded)

An analysis by function of the amounts recognized in profit or loss in respect of the defined benefit plan is as follows:

	Years Ended December 31
	2016	2015
Operating costs	$ 3,329	$ 2,833
Operating expenses	323	402
	$ 3,652	$ 3,235

Through the defined benefit plan under the Labor Standards Law, the Company is exposed to the following risks:

- 1) Investment risk: The plan assets are invested in domestic and foreign equity and debt securities, bank deposits, etc. The investment is conducted at the discretion of the Bureau or under the mandated management. However, in accordance with relevant regulations, the return generated by plan assets should not be below the interest rate for a 2-year time deposit with local banks.
- 2) Interest risk: A decrease in the government or corporate bond interest rate will increase the present value of the defined benefit obligation; however, this will be partially offset by an increase in the return on the plan's debt investments.
- 3) Salary risk: The present value of the defined benefit obligation is calculated by reference to the future salaries of plan participants. As such, an increase in the salary of the plan participants will increase the present value of the defined benefit obligation.

The actuarial valuations of the present value of the defined benefit obligation were carried out by qualified actuaries. The significant assumptions used for the purposes of the actuarial valuations were as follows:

	December 31
	2016	2015
Discount rates	1.375%	1.625%
Expected rates of salary increase	3.000%	3.000%

If possible reasonable change in each of the significant actuarial assumptions will occur and all other assumptions will remain constant, the present value of the defined benefit obligation would increase (decrease) as follows:

	December 31
	2016	2015
Discount rates
0.25% increase	$(18,602)	$(17,318)
0.25% decrease	$ 19,431	$ 18,106

0.25% decrease	$(18,072)	$(16,853)

The sensitivity analysis presented above may not be representative of the actual change in the present value of the defined benefit obligation as it is unlikely that the change in assumptions would occur in isolation of one another as some of the assumptions may be correlated.

- b. Under the dividend policy as set forth in the amended Articles, where the Company has earning upon settlement for a fiscal year, after taxes are paid by law and accumulated deficits are set off, ten percent shall be appropriated as legal earning reserves; however, if the amount of the legal earning reserves has attained the amount of paid-in capital of the Company, no further appropriation shall be made. The remainder shall be appropriated or reversed as special earning reserves. If there still has balance, considering together with accumulated undistributed earnings, the board of directors shall prepare the proposal for earning distribution, which shall be submitted to the shareholders' meeting for a resolution of distribution of dividends and bonuses to shareholders. In distributing dividends and bonuses to shareholders, the distribution may be made by stocks or cash, of which cash dividends may not be less than 10% of total amount of dividends.
- d. Appropriation of earnings to legal reserve shall be made until the legal reserve equals the Company's paid-in capital. Legal reserve may be used to offset deficit. If the Company has no deficit and the legal reserve has exceeded 25% of the Company's paid-in capital, the excess may be transferred to capital or distributed in cash.
- e. Except for non-ROC resident shareholders, all shareholders receiving dividends are allowed a tax credit equal to their proportionate share of the income tax paid by the Company.

The creditable ratios for distribution of earnings of 2016 and 2015 were 23.47% (estimated ratio) and 23.97%, respectively.

Under the Income Tax Law amended and promulgated by Presidential Decree Hua-tzung Yi No. 10300085101, for distribution of earning generated after January 1, 1998, the imputation credits allocated to ROC resident shareholders of the Company will be reduced by 50% in comparison with that described in the previous paragraph, effective January 1, 2015.

Under the Income Tax Law, for distribution of earnings generated after January 1, 1998, the imputation credits allocated to ROC resident shareholders of the Company was calculated based on the creditable ratio as of the date of dividend distribution. The actual imputation credits allocated to shareholders of the Company was based on the balance of the Imputation Credit Accounts (ICA) as of the date of dividend distribution. Therefore, the expected creditable ratio for the 2016 earnings may differ from the actual creditable ratio to be used in allocating imputation credits to the shareholders.

Income Tax Assessments

The Company's tax returns through 2014 have been assessed by the tax authorities. However, the Company disagreed with the tax authorities' assessment of its 2011 to 2014 tax return. The Company had applied to Ministry of Finance for administrative remedies procedures as for 2011 and 2012 tax returns and prepaid half of its 2011 and 2012 assessed additional taxes. The Company applied for a re-examination of its 2013 and 2014 tax returns with the tax collection authorities.

Employees' compensation	321	270
Weighted average number of ordinary shares used in the computation of diluted earnings per share	632,161	632,110

Since the Company is allowed to settle the compensation to employees by cash or shares, the Company presumed that the entire amount of the compensation will be settled in shares and the resulting potential shares are included in the weighted average number of outstanding shares used in the calculation of diluted earnings per share, as the shares have a dilutive effect. The number of shares is estimated by dividing the entire amount of the bonus by the closing price of the shares at the balance sheet date. The dilutive effect of the potential shares is included in the calculation of diluted earnings per share until the shareholders resolve the number of shares to be distributed to employees at their meeting in the following year.

Financial Risk Management Objectives and Policies

The Company's major financial instruments included equity, mutual funds, trade receivables, other payables, bonds payables and borrowings. The Company's Corporate Treasury function provides services to the business and manages the financial risks relating to the operations of the Company through internal risk reports which analyze exposures by degree and magnitude of risks. These risks include market risk (including currency risk and interest rate risk), credit risk and liquidity risk. The Company seeks to ensure sufficient funding readily available when needed with the objective to reduce the potentially adverse effects the market uncertainties may have on its financial performance.

The plans for material treasury activities are reviewed by Audit Committees and/or Board of Directors in accordance with procedures required by relevant regulations or internal controls. During the implementation of such plans, Corporate Treasury function must comply with certain treasury procedures that provide guiding principles for overall financial risk management and segregation of duties. Compliance with policies and exposure limits is reviewed by the internal auditors on a continuous basis.

a. Market risk

The Company's activities exposed it primarily to the financial risks of changes in foreign currency exchange rates and interest rates.

1) Foreign currency exchange

Most of the Company's operating activities are in Taiwan, which is denominated in New Taiwan dollars. Therefore, the operating activities in Taiwan are not exposed to foreign currency risk. The Company took foreign operations as strategic investments and did not hedge the risk.

For the carrying amounts of the Company's foreign currency denominated monetary assets and monetary liabilities at the end of the reporting period, refer to Note 32.

Foreign currency sensitivity analysis

The following table details the Company's sensitivity to a 1% increase and decrease in the New Taiwan dollars ("NTD", the functional currency) against the relevant foreign currencies. A positive number below indicates an increase in profit before income tax or equity where the NTD strengthens 1% against the relevant currency. For a 1% weakening of the NTD against the relevant currency, the balances below would be negative if the other factors remain unchanged.

	Years Ended December 31
	2016		2015
	RMB	USD	RMB	USD
Equity	$ -	$ 57,757	$ -	$ 63,453
Profit or loss	4	14,112	2,109	7,589

2) Interest rate risk

The Company is exposed to interest rate risk on investments and borrowings; interest rates could be fixed or floating. The investments and part of borrowings are fixed-interest rates and measured at amortized cost, and changes in interest will not affect future cash flows. Another part of borrowings are floating-interest rates, and changes in interest will affect future cash flows, but will not affect fair value.

The carrying amounts of the Company's financial assets and financial liabilities with exposure to interest rates at the end of reporting period were as follows:

	December 31
	2016	2015
Fair value interest rate risk
Financial assets	$ 1,409,003	$ 925,079
Financial liabilities	3,350,000	3,400,000
Cash flow interest rate risk
Financial assets	5,000	45,360
Financial liabilities	300,000	200,000

Interest rate sensitivity analysis

The Company was exposed to cash flow interest rate risk in relation to floating rate liabilities, and the short-term and long-term borrowings will be affected by the changes in market interest rate accordingly. If the market interest rate increased by 1%, the Company's cash outflow will increase by $3,000 thousand.

b. Credit risk

Credit risk refers to the risk that counterparty will default on its contractual obligations resulting in financial loss to the Company. The Company is exposed to credit risk from operating activities, primarily trade receivables, and from investing activities, primarily the fixed-income investments and other financial instruments.

Business related credit risk

The Company is mainly engaged in the operation of real-estate brokerage business and the customers of the Company are the people who buy and sell the houses. The revenue from agency service is also received through the housing performance guarantee, so the concentration credit risk of trade receivable is immaterial.

Financial credit risk

The credit risk of bank deposits, fixed-income investments and other financial instruments are regularly controlled and monitored by the Company's Corporate Treasury function. The counterparties to the foregoing financial instruments are reputable financial institutions and business organizations. Management does not expect the Company's exposure to default by those parties to be material.

c. Liquidity risk

The Company manages liquidity risk by monitoring and maintaining certain level of cash and cash equivalents deemed adequate to finance the Company's operations and mitigate the effects of fluctuations in cash flows. In addition, management monitors the utilization of bank borrowings and ensures compliance with loan covenants. The Company has sufficient working capital to pay all debts; thus, there is no liquidity risk.

The Company relies on bank borrowings as a significant source of liquidity. As of December 31, 2016 and 2015, the Company had available unutilized bank loan facilities as follows:

The increase of NT$ 162 million in the current financial assets with change in fair value recognized as profits and losses mainly because of the purchase of money market funds by subsidiaries Sinyi Development Inc., An-Sin Real Estate Management Ltd. and An-Shin Real Estate Management Ltd.. Other receivables increased by NT$ 247 million, mainly as a result of the sale of office buildings in Beijing by our subsidiary Shanghai Sinyi Real Estate Inc. Other current assets increased by NT$ 468 million, mainly because of the prepaid taxes made by our subsidiary Sinyi Real Estate (Shanghai) Limited for sale of off-plan project. The inventory increased by NT$ 1,436 million, mainly because of the continued investment by our subsidiary Sinyi Real Estate (Shanghai) in project development. The non-current liabilities dropped by NT$ 1,868 million, mainly as a result of the repayment of long-term bank borrowings by NT$ 1,709 million with the deposits received by Sinyi Real Estate (Shanghai) Limited for the sale of off-plan project. Description 5. Other equity was reduced by NT$ 356 million, largely because of foreign exchange rate fluctuations and hence the translation loss of NT$ 416 million for overseas operations. (III) Potential impact upon the future financial standing and the countermeasures

Both the years 2015 and 2016 saw the number of property transfers (excluding first-time registrations) below the 200,000 marks in Taiwan due to the government's control and unfavourable external factors over recent years. The number of registration declined by 19% and 25.8%, respectively, year-over-year in 2015 and 2016, and the trading volume shrank dramatically. Whilst our competitors are downsizing or exiting the market, we have been effectively integrating our sales offices with an innovative and flexible approach in marketing for all the properties, and developing a new channel for customers to choose brand new or pre-owned properties. We are also committed to service quality improvement and cost control and management. In 2016, our revenue only dropped slightly by 0.27% from 2015 but our operating net profit increased by as much as 34.1%. In 2017, as the government is no longer regulating the housing market and the adverse and uncertain factors are expected to disappear, the property market should return to its fundamental level with a limited increase in trading volumes. Our company will leverage the aforesaid advantages and boost our competitiveness. We will continue to attract and retain talents with good benefits and healthy systems, in order to constantly innovate and improve our services, increase the revenue contribution per employee and expand our market share.

In China, the government has been seeking to cool down the real estate market and curb the rapid increase of housing prices over recent years. The local governments have been imposing limits on purchases in both the land market and the market for new developments and second-hand properties. There is strict control and audit on the legitimacy of the capital sources for the bidding of development sites. The government also regulates the mortgage market by making borrowing more difficult. In sum, both the supply side and the demand side are monitored. The inventory of land has been under controlled and no land has been released recently. The trading volumes declined massively as a result. Our team in Shanghai focuses on project developments. We believe that policy control is a short-term suppressant of market activities and the prices are expected to grow steadily due to pent-up demand. Our development team is constantly monitoring the delivery of "Sinyi Jiating" and watching closely market changes and policy adjustments going forward. We wish to stay on top of potential sites for project developments so that we can acquire the land in a favourable price when the opportunity arises. In 2017, we will slow down our expansion for the brokerage business, as a response to the shrinking trading volume of pre-owned properties. We will focus on converting new recruits into permanent employees, reduce the turnover of our personal and increase the revenue contribution per employee or per business office, in order to counterbalance the market uncertainties.

III. Analyses on cash flow

Year	2016	2015	Increase/decrease ratio%
Cash flow ratio%	28.7%	29.9%	(4.0)
Cash Flow Adequacy Ratio%	45.3%	34.7%	30.5
Cash reinvestment ratio%	18.1%	6.5%	178.5
Remarks on the increase/decrease ratio :
Cash flow ratio decreased compared with previous year. The main reason is that unearned revenue of the subsidiary, Sinyi Real Estate (Shanghai) Ltd., increases about NT$4,825 millions for the project "Sinyi Jiating" in 2016, resulting in the increase of current liabilities by NT$4,899 millions. Cash flow adequacy ratio and cash reinvestment ratio raised because the increase of 2016 profit and unearned revenue from subsidiary, resulting in the increase of operating cashflow.

Then Company recognized loss on investment in Sinyi International Limited by NT$51,582 thousand mainly due to the following reasons:

- (1) The unearned revenue would be recognized as revenue only when the houses of the construction project owned by Sinyi Real Estate (Shanghai) Limited, the investee indirectly owned by Sinyi International Limited, were delivered. However, the administrative and selling expenses were recognized during the construction period, resulting in net loss of 62,172 thousand of Sinyi Real Estate (Shanghai) Limited. The amount of loss would be expected to reduce and Sinyi Real Estate (Shanghai) Limited would show a turn from loss to profit after the houses were delivered from March in 2017.

(II) Analyses on the evaluation of risk issues:

1. The impact incurred by change in interest rate, exchange rate, inflation upon the Company's profit and/or loss and the future countermeasures:

Descriptions	2016 (Expressed in Thousands of New Taiwan Dollars, %)
Interest income/expenditure, net	3,887
Gain in foreign exchange, net	9,647
Ratio of net interest income/expenditure to operating	0.05%
Ratio of net interest expenditure to net profit before tax	0.36%
Ratio of gain in foreign exchange to operating revenue	0.13%
Ratio of gain in foreign exchange to net profit before tax	0.89%

(1) Interest rate risks:

The term "interest rate risks" as set forth herein denotes the potential risks to be incurred by a change in the fair value of the financial instruments and in cash flow in the interest rate in the market. Here at Sinyi and its subsidiaries, the major interest related risks come primarily in the investment and loans with fixed and floating interest rates.

A. The impact upon Sinyi and its subsidiaries in the profit and/or loss:

Our exposure to the financial assets and the financial liabilities with fair value associated with interest rate risks at the end of 2016 was NT$ 1,588,049 thousand and NT$ 3,384,450 thousand, respectively, in terms of book value. The financial assets and the financial liabilities whose cash flows are subject to interest rate risks stood at NT$ 2,896,336 thousand and NT$ 648,110 thousand, respectively. Our investment gains and certain borrowings are at fixed interest rates and measured with amortization so the change in interest rate does not affect future cash flows. However, some of our borrowings are at floating rates so the change in interest rates affects the future cash flows and the effective rates for both short-term and long-term loans. We estimate an increase of the market interest rate by 1% will increase our cash outflow by NT$ 6,481 thousand in 2016. The Federal Reserve System (the Fed) in the U.S. raised the key interest rates by 0.25 percentage point on March 15, 2017 as anticipated. The market observers expect the Fed to increase the interest rates by another 0.5% percentage point by the end of 2017. However, whether Taiwan will follow suit will depend on the fluctuation in the consumer price index. It is believed that any interest rate hike, if at all, by the Central Bank of the Republic of China (Taiwan) will not be as significant as in the U.S. In sum, the interest rates in Taiwan are likely to stay at a relatively low level and unlikely to materially affect the real estate transactions. Hence, the fluctuation in interest rates should not significantly influence the profit and loss of our company.

B. Future countermeasures:

Currently, the prime rates in major financial institutions in Taiwan are still low. That said, we require significant capital to fund our developments. To ensure the safety and the liquidity of our funds, we maintain a portion of our capital for day-to-day operations and prioritize the repayment of our bank loans. Any idle capital at the subsidiaries will be invested in short-term deposits and capital guarantee financial products with higher interest rates. We shall closely watch the interest rate trends and flexibly adjust the deposit and loan durations in real time. Besides, where Sinyi remains at secured and stable business and financial standing and maintains very sound interest rate with banks, we shall evaluate the rationality of interest rates in the markets in an attempt to win the optimal possible level of interest rates in the markets.

- (2) Exchange rates: Our company and subsidiaries are engaged in the development and brokerage of real estates in the domestic market. There are no needs to export products or import raw materials. Whilst the development business run by our subsidiaries import certain building and decorative materials, the import value is a small portion of the total costs. Hence, exchange rates do not have a major impact on the profit and loss of our company or our subsidiaries. In the end of 2016, the net exchange loss of foreign currency of the consolidated account of the Company is NT$9,647 thousand, accounting 0.89% of pre-tax net income. When the exchange rate fluctuates 1%, it has the impact of 2016 equity or 2016 profit as below lists:

Expressed in thousand dollars	Renminbi (RMB)	Japanese yen	U. S. Dollars
Impact of equity	$36,168	$2,060	$572
Impact of profit	4	-	14,679

- (3) Inflation: The Company primarily engages in brokerage sales of real estate. Some of our subsidiaries engage in construction & development business. In case of a raise in commodity prices or inflation, the prices of real estate would relatively secure in preserving the values and appreciation. To put it in more understandable terms, a raise in commodity prices or inflation would stimulate a demand for real estate purchase and would function as a positive stimulus to Sinyi business.
2. Major causes leading to profit and/or loss in high risk, high leverage investment, loaning capitals to others, endorsements/guarantees and the policies in derivative financial instruments and the countermeasures thereof:
- (1) High risk, high leverage investment: Sinyi does not engage in derivative financial instruments or high risk, high leverage investment.
- (2) Loans granted to others:
- A. As the Shanghai Pilot Free Trade Zone has opened the capital pool for two-directional conversion of Renminbi, our company intends to lend to our 100% owned subsidiary Hua Yun Renovation (Shanghai) Co., Ltd. a total of RMB 1 million as the working capital for all our subsidiaries in China. By the end of 2016, this credit facility has not been drawn down at all. As this is a small amount and it is the lending/borrowing between the parent and the subsidiary, it has very limited impact on our financials.
- B. To flexibly utilize the funding between the parent and the subsidiaries and reduce the total cost of capital, our company lent our 100% subsidiary Kunshan Ding Xian Trading Co., Ltd. By RMB 80 million for working capital. By the end of 2016, the subsidiary has drawn down RMB 1 million of this credit facility. As this is a small amount and it is the lending/borrowing between the parent and the subsidiary, it has very limited impact on our financials.
- C. To flexibly utilize the funding between the parent and the subsidiaries, to enhance the efficiency of capital utilization for the group and to hedge currency risks in a timely basis, our company borrowed RMB 31.5 million from our 100% subsidiary Sinyi Real Estate (Shanghai) Limited (hereinafter referred to as Sinyi Real Estate (Shanghai)) in order to activate the financing channel with our companies outside China. By the end of 2016, this credit facility has not been drawn down at all. As this is the lending/borrowing between the parent and the subsidiary, it has very limited impact on our financials.
- D. To fund the working capital of our 100% owned subsidiary, Shanghai Sinyi Real Estate Inc. (hereinafter referred to as Shanghai Sinyi), Sinyi Real Estate (Shanghai) offered a credit facility of RMB 40 million. By the end of 2016, this credit facility had been completely drawn down. In January 2017, Shanghai Sinyi has repaid the amount in full. This lending/borrowing was between two 100% owned subsidiaries. As it reduced the interest burden of Shanghai Sinyi, it reduced the cost of capital and created value to shareholder's equity.

(3) Endorsements/guarantees rendered to others:

- A. To fund the real estate development in China, our company previously had a credit facility extended by financial institutions for NT$ 4,535 million. This credit facility was then shared with our 100% subsidiary Sinyi Estate Ltd. (Samoa) (hereinafter referred to as Sinyi Estate) and we provide guarantee and endorsement for Sinyi Estate at the same amount. By the end of 2016, the balance for the used endorsement and guarantee was NT$ 0. The endorsement and guarantee can effectively reduce the borrowing cost for our subsidiary and create value for our shareholders.
 - B. To fund the working capital of Shanghai Sinyi, our company issued a letter of guarantee for RMB 50 million to the lending financial institution with our Renminbi deposits of the same amount. By the end of 2016, the balance for the used endorsement and guarantee was RMB 0. The total amount of the endorsement and guarantee made in 2016 was within the limit. Meanwhile, the endorsement and guarantee from the parent company to our subsidiary have a limited impact on our financials.
3. The research & development programs and the research & development costs to be budgeted: In all years in the past, Sinyi has invested huge amounts of human resource and costs for research & development. Thanks to such research & development efforts, we have launched updated and upgraded services and systems to satisfy the public consumer needs. With the particular attributes in business undertaking, the real estate brokerage services and development rendered by Sinyi have been intangible services, not in the attribute like investment in general research & development in general manufacturing and production industries.
4. The impact from a potential change in major policies and laws at home and abroad upon the financial standing and the countermeasures: The entire Sinyi teammates are closely watchful of the changes or updates in policies and laws that are relevant to the Company's business and financial standing. Over recent years, the Taiwanese government has been controlling and regulating the real estate market. These measures such as the levy of special cargo and the service taxes (a.k.a. luxury taxes), the mark-up of residence taxes for high-end properties (a.k.a. luxury housing taxes) and the adjustment to property taxes (for those with an inventory of properties) have material and adverse effects on the housing market. As a result of the joint taxation of housing and land effectively on January 1, 2016, the number of property ownership transfers (excluding the first-time registrations) was only 123,000, the record low over the past decade. However, with all the negative factors running their course and the uncertainties gradually disappearing, the buyers and the general public are becoming rational, and the trading volume has been picking up steadily. To respond to market changes, we will take a cautious attitude in the establishment of new offices and continue to consolidate the existing offices by integration or relocation. The purpose is to seek steady growth by increasing the service capacity per employee and per office. We also tighten our control over service quality and cost, in order to grow our market share and enhance operating performances. In China, all the Tier 1 cities (i.e. Beijing, Shanghai, Guangdong and Shenzhen) witnessed rapid rises of property prices over recent years. Therefore, the impact of the government's efforts in China to curb the overheating of the market is a lot more significant than that in Taiwan. The controlling measures include but not limited to restrictions on purchases, loan-to-value ratios of mortgages, and caps on housing prices. In Shanghai, the monthly transaction of second-hand housing properties per month dropped from 56,000 in August to 13,000 in December, 2016, as a result of policy effects and market anticipations. Given the greater impact of purchase restrictions and caps on loan-to-value ratios on the demand for upsizing and upgrades, the market in 2017 is expected to be dominated by first-time buyers. This means the trading volumes will be hampered in the near term. Therefore, we will slow down the pace of expansions in 2017, and strive to improve productivity per office and recruit and retain talents, in order to enhance the operational efficiency and reduce losses. Meanwhile, our development business in China has been affected by the policy control over the supply of land (as far as our second project is concerned) and the strict (as never seen before) review of development funding. This is why we have not secured any appropriate site so far. Our subsidiary Sinyi Real Estate (Shanghai) will continue to watch closely the market changes and land policies, in order to respond accordingly.

5. The impact from a change in technology and businesses upon the financial standing and the countermeasures: The growing penetration of mobile devices and the increasing application of Big Data have profound influence on the real estate brokerage industry. The marketing channel has been shifting from bricks and mortars and traditional media such as newspapers, TV and radio programs to social media and online marketing. We constantly invest in manpower and resources in the research and analysis of marketing with technology and the betterment viewing experiences for customers. We hope to control costs and offer better services to make life easier for consumers. In addition to the continued improvement of engineering and construction knowhow, our development business seeks to create a warm and comfortable living environment with apps and applications for homes and IoTs connecting community residents throughout different blocks.
6. The impact from the change in corporate image upon the management over business risks and the countermeasures: We have received many awards over the years, for our long-standing efforts in corporate social responsibility and support to pro bono activities. In 2016, we were listed by the Taiwan Institute for Sustainable Energy as one of the “top ten role models for corporate sustainability”. We won one of the “Top 50 Most Sustainable Corporate Awards”, “Annual Best CSR Report Award”, “Talent Development Award” and “Social Inclusion Award”. We also received from Enterprise Asia the “Asia Corporate Social Responsibility Award 2016”. We were awarded for “Excellence in Corporate Social Responsibility 2016” by the Common Wealth Magazine for ten years running. For the second consecutive year, we were rated by the Taiwan Stock Exchange as the top 5% of the listed companies for best corporate governance. Our subsidiary Sinyi Real Estate (Shanghai) received from Jiading District, Shanghai City Government “2016 Excellence for Participation in Social Developments”. Shanghai Sinyi was rated as the “top 30 best employers in Shanghai in 2016”, and won “China Best Employer Award” for four years running. Suzhou Sinyi received a number of awards such as the “top 10 best employers in Suzhou in 2016”. We have made every endeavor to dedicate ourselves to the social responsibility. In the aspect of management over crisis, we have set up the Anti-Crisis Task Force with flexible organization to promptly deal with a crisis, if any, from continuity and worsening.
7. The benefits anticipated from merger/acquisition (M&A), potential risks and countermeasures: We currently have not launched any plan in merger/acquisition (M&A).
8. The impact from plant expansion, potential risks and countermeasures: In the service business, we don't operate with a plant and plant expansion is not applicable to us. In the development of branch shops, we have upheld a prudential and secured policy, by leasing shops to expand our branches.

The impact from centralized input or output business performance, potential risks and countermeasures: We are completely free of such risks as our customers are just general public in the society. Our development team selects quality local constructors as subcontractors via a bidding process, in order to ensure the quality of engineering and construction. We maintain a relative list of preferred constructors and our own personnel onsite is responsible for the monitoring and supervision of the quality and progress of construction works.

9. The impact from huge transfer or conversion by directors and key shareholders holding over 10% of the total shares, potential risks and countermeasures: Our board members and major shareholders with over 10% holdings are all long term shareholders. In fact, our major shareholders are directly involved in our operations. By the end of 2016 and by the time the 2016 annual report is printed in 2017, there has been no transfer of any major stake or change of major shareholders. Therefore, there should not be any significant influence or risk associated with the transfer of major stakes or change of large shareholders. All our major subsidiaries are 100% owned by us and hence there is no transfer of significant shareholdings.
10. The impact from the change in managerial power, potential risks and countermeasures: In the long-run, our managerial power has been secured and stable in structure, and the risk from a change is minor.
11. For all litigious and non-litigious events, please expressly enumerate the involved facts, target amounts, starting dates of the litigation, major parties involved and the progress as of the printing date of this Annual Report for the cases where the Company, the Company's directors and supervisors, general manager, substantial responsible persons, key shareholders holding over 10% of the total outstanding shares and the auxiliary firms in the major litigious, non-litigious or administrative events the outcome of which might have a significant impact upon the shareholders' equity or stock prices: All major litigious, non-litigious or administrative events of the Company have been disclosed in the remarks or notes of financial statements, 2016.
12. Other major risks and countermeasures: Nil.

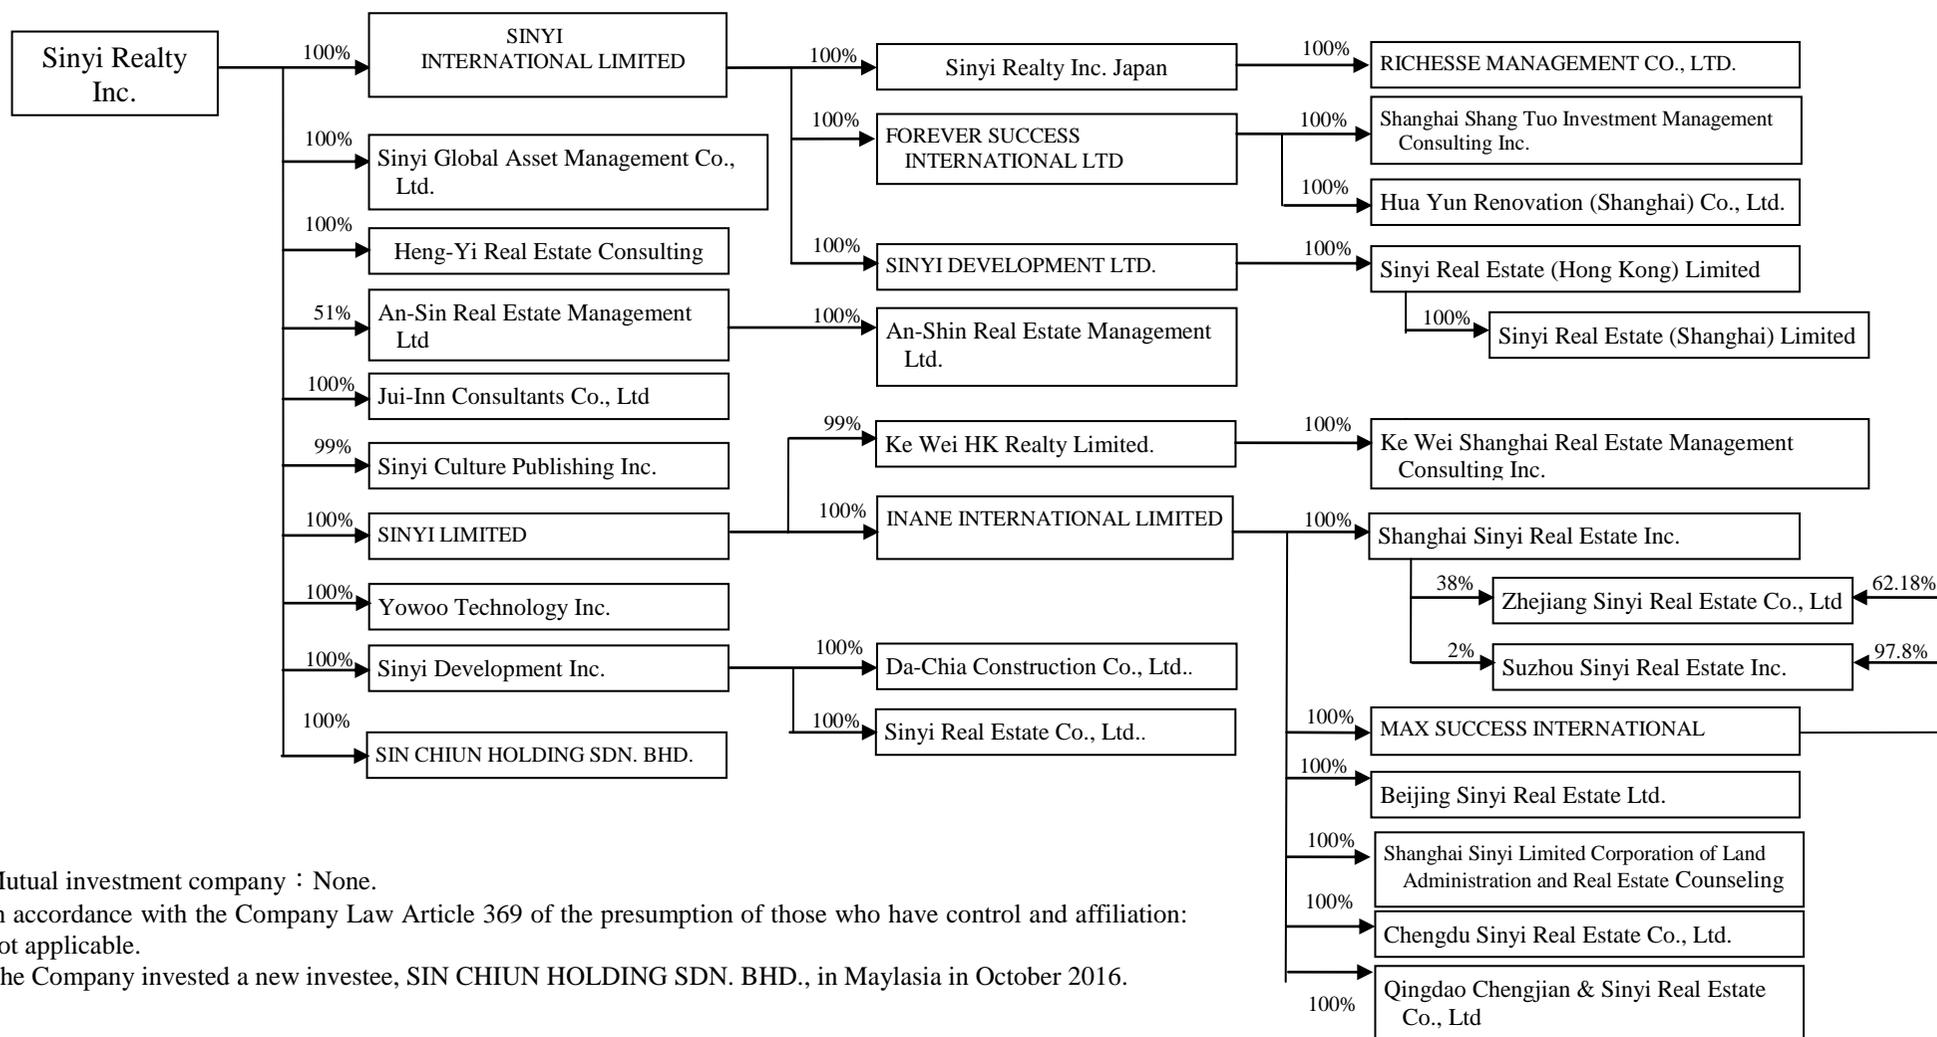

VII. Other significant events: Nil.
